

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be regular services at the church Sunday. The pastor Rev. A. J. Kearns, was in Central City from Tuesday to Thursday in attendance at the meeting of the Synod of Nebraska. The chief topic at the synod meetings was the New Era movement, which is similar to the "Men and Millions" movement of the Christian church and the Methodist Centenary campaign. Dr. John A. Marquis of New York, secretary of the home mission board, gave several lectures and led the discussion at conferences on the movement during the session.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The First Baptist church extends a most hearty welcome to the people of Alliance to attend services next Sunday. Sunday school at 10 a. m. and Superintendent Fuller would be glad to see you in one of the classes. Morning worship of the church at 11 o'clock. Junior and B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 p. m. Evening church service at 7:30; good music and topics of up-to-date importance will be discussed from the pulpit. A real live program for everybody and a "home-like" feeling about every service. Bring your friends.

ORRIN GOULD, Minister.

METHODIST CHURCH

The following new members were announced last Sunday, all having come by letter: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Acheson and their three children, Evangeline, Robert and Josephine, from the First Methodist church of Salem, Ore.; F. N. Cunningham from the Methodist church of Indianola, Ia.; Ivan Riffey from the Methodist church of Sawyer, Kas., and Mrs. W. J. Mahaffey from the Presbyterian church of South Dakota.

We find that our church is responding heartily to the new evangelistic program which the board of bishops adopted last spring. Following the intensive drive of the Centenary for $113,000,000 for missionary work, it is planned to make this year one of evangelism, with the goal set for one million souls added to the church. This will mean twice as many as have been added in the last ten years, or two hundred times as many as were added last year. The Methodist Episcopal church, in all parts of the world, numbers a little more than four million, so the gains this year must be 25 per cent of the total number. How shall this miraculous thing be accomplished? That is the question that will be discussed in the mid-week prayer services. Part of the question will also be taken up next Sunday morning in the theme, "A Flood Predicted."

Next Sunday evening the choir under the direction of Mrs. Dunning, and the junior chorus under the direction of Miss Williams, will give a program. It will be announced elsewhere in the paper. It will be the first program of each of the choirs as organized at present, and will be entertaining and profitable. The loose offering will be used as a choir fund.

Mrs. Drake's class of boys had the banner last Sunday for attendance. There were sixteen present. Only one was absent and one tardy. Fine! MEARL C. SMITH, Pastor.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Remember that next Lord's day is the time for the meetings to begin. Carl Knapp, the "little giant" preacher from Cozad, Neb., assisted by Mrs. Knapp, personal worker and leader of music, is here ready for the Sunday services with two of the greatest sermons. The evening services begin at 7:30 o'clock. Watch for the window cards and hand bills announcing the meetings.

The minister is home again after a two weeks' absence while attending the international convention at Cincinnati, Ohio. We are ready to resume our work as minister. Our desire is to put life, determination and the gospel into every service. We appreciate the services of those who took charge of the work during our absence. We are ready for a forward move. Will you help? Come to the church with a message and a welcome.

STEPHEN J. EPLER, Minister.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

The six-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur S. Wood of Antioch died Saturday of pneumonia. Funeral services were held Sunday.

George W. Ragan died October 17, 1919, at Hot Springs, S. D., at the federal home for old soldiers. Mr. Ragan was born January 16, 1839. He enlisted with company I, 19th Kentucky Volunteers, on September 21, 1861, and re-enlisted after three years' service on August 5, 1864, with company D of the 159th Indiana Volunteer Infantry, with which organization he served until the close of the civil war. He came to Alliance in an early day, moving here from North Loup. For a number of years he had been ruling elder in the Presbyterian church. He married Pauline Webster in 1901, and is survived by one daughter, Ruth Ragan. Funeral services were held from the Presbyterian church at 2 p. m., Monday, the members of the official board acting as pallbearers. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Funeral services for Jack Lister, who died Sunday morning, were held Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, and interment was in Letan cemetery. Mr. Lister came to this county in his youth, in 1888, homesteading and engaging in the live stock business on a large scale. He is survived by one son, James, who recently returned from service. A brother resides in California, and other relatives in Norfolk, England.

S. J. Dixon of Newcastle, Wyo., a stockman and rancher, died in Alliance last Saturday. The body was sent to Newcastle Sunday afternoon.

S. W. Townsend, manager for Nebraska for the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, spent a few days in the city the first of the week.

"Oh Daddy," the last musical comedy from the pen of Richard C. Maddox, comes to us with praise from the press of all cities where the comedy has been presented. Kilroy-Britton, its producers, are deserving of much commendation for the lavish manner in which they have equipped the play. The chorus possesses youth and charm and are adorned in gowns of every hue and color, designed by Lester of Chicago and New York. "Oh Daddy," which comes to the Imperial theater on Monday, October 27, is purely a laugh show, there being absolutely no attempt at anything serious or dramatic. Clarence Backus and Grace Manlove are the feature actors of the two hour and a half performance and they are ably assisted by a round dozen of the best singers, dancers, instrumentalists and like entertainers, carefully selected from the ranks of the better class musical comedies. The musical numbers are the whistleable kind and their rendering is made very forceful by an excellent singing chorus.

The coupon system of ordering typewriter ribbons is one of the great blessings that has been devised for the protection of the man or woman who operates a typewriter. Whenever your ribbon supply is in danger of running low, call phone No. 340—and we'll have a new one—and a fresh one—sent to you by parcel post. It is better to order them in lots of two or three, or even half a dozen, depending on the number of machines you have. We keep a stock of ribbons on hand for emergency use and can supply your rush orders at once, but when too large a stock is ordered they dry out and fail to give proper service and satisfaction. We buy them a gross or more at a time, but have them delivered in small quantities. When you get a ribbon from The Herald office you'll get one of the best makes—the L. C. Smith, a make everyone knows—and it will come to you in perfect condition. The price is one dollar for either one or two-color ribbons when purchased singly, but we have some attractive discounts when you buy two or more at one time. They are worth the money, and it will be a pleasure to supply your needs.

Permanence

is an important consideration in today's building plans. The prudent man who invests his earnings in a building of any sort, in view of the present market situation, must endeavor to get all the stability and lasting qualities that only the choicest grades of lumber will give him. He must calculate the life of his building materials, together with their comparative costs, if he hopes to build judiciously.

The City of Alliance is now experiencing an unprecedented growth in both its residence and business district. You may soon be figuring the respective values of the different Building Materials.

Our Advice and Estimates are all Cheerfully and Conscientiously Given.

We urge prospective buyers of Building Material to consider the problem from all its angles. Let us assist you in determining the best substance with which to erect your building—whatever its size or nature.

Making Use of Old-fashioned JEWELRY

Heirlooms locked up in the safety deposit vault, or kept constantly under lock and key, serve no useful purpose. Rarely seen, and seldom even thought of, they give little of the pleasure that the sentiment connected with them should give.

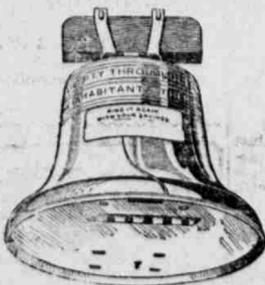

How much more sensible it is to have old jewelry remodeled or reconstructed. The same material is used in the new pieces. Nothing is lost in sentiment—much gained in practical use. Our repair department will be glad to give suggestions and designs for remaking your old jewelry, with an estimate of the cost. Consult us about this today.
