METHODIST CHURCH

The following new members were received into the church last Sunday morning, all by letter: Mrs. A. W. Newberg, Mrs. Elizabeth Howard, Thomas Howard, Miss Zelma Lockman and Miss Victoria Wilkinson.

We were pleased with an attendance of 212 in the Sunday school last week. Next Sunday is rally day, and the superintendent has asked for an attendance of 312. Let all the members work and this can be accomplished.

Next Sunday night will be observed as "Boys' Night." A chorus of boys in addition to the regular choir and orchestra will furnish several special selections. The boys are working to have a larger attendance than the girls can possibly have when we observe "Girls' Night" a little later. The pastor will speak on the subject, "A Boy's Religion."

We find that many people are appreciating the splendid orchestra which has so recently been organized. Much favorable comment has been heard on the selections given last Sunday night, particularly "The Lost Chord."

MEARL C. SMITH, Pastor.

Remember the folks who used to worry, in the days when the automobile industry was in its infancy, about how long it would be before the horse was supplanted. That was at one time a favorite subject for debate in country schools. The same old story, only with a great deal more conviction, was spread still farther when the tractor appeared and came into fairly general use. It has been predicted every year for the past decade that the time would come when horses would no longer be the chief mainstay of the farmer. Wise-acre would nod their heads and insist that automobiles and tractors couldn't work in the mud, and that there would always be need of some horses on the farms, but even they didn't doubt that the era of the horse was in its decline. When the war broke out, and buyers from this and foreign countries scoured the United States, paying unheard of prices for draft animals for the transportation service and artillery, there was another time of fretting about killing off all the horses needed on the farms, and again it was predicted that the horse was slated to go. But something has gone wrong with all these calculations. In spite of the fact that there are more automobiles and tractors in use than ever before, and despite the exportation of over a million horses during the war, figures supplied by the bureau of crop estimates of the department of agriculture show that there are now nearly a third of a million more horses and mules in this country than at the beginning of hostilities. It was expected, the bureau says, that the war would stampede the horse market and send prices high enough to draw from the farms an alarming number of much-needed work animals, but nothing of the sort occurred.

The privates didn't have all the grief during the late war. The officers were soaked good and plenty for every purchase they made, and even at times when they would have been glad to economize, the dignity of their position made it impossible. And, now that the war is over, the ex-officers of Uncle Sam's army are meeting with a flood of requests for contributions to this, that and the other thing, and all of them begin by reciting that they were just a little bit the pick of the flock, and therefore, being of a higher intelligence, ought to appreciate more the particular scheme that is being presented. One of the latest of these, according to an officer friend, is just a little bit the richest yet. In a letter mailed November 1 to a man living at Alliance, Neb., he is invited to join the proposed National Army and Navy club, to be located at New York City, and to forward a check for $10 initiation fee, for which he is to receive free the privileges of the club, still located in New York City, as far away as it could be, for the remainder of the year 1919. It is understood that he is to pay another $10 for this privilege during 1920, and so on for the remainder of his natural life, if he is foolish enough to do so. Not only this, but he is urged to constitute himself a membership committee of one, and rope all his friends in. It's a grand scheme—one that Barnum would have heartily favored—and will probably succeed for the same reason that Mr. Barnum did.

"HAS DONE ME A WORLD OF GOOD"

Fee Says It's Remarkable How Quickly Tanlac Has Made Him Feel Right Again

"My next door neighbor put me on to Tanlac and it certainly is remarkable how quickly it has gotten me to feeling right again," said James H. Fee, a well known carpenter employed at the Rock Island Railroad shops living at 1345 F avenue, East, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in conversation with a Tanlac representative recently.

"My stomach and kidneys have bothered me so much during the past three years," he explained, "that I often had to lay off from work, as I was in so much pain I could not get out of bed. Gas would form on my stomach after eating and cause such awful pain that I could hardly stand it, and while I tried many different medicines nothing did me any good."

"So I got a bottle of Tanlac, on the advice of my neighbor who had been greatly benefited by it, and soon after starting on it I began to straighten right up. I have taken three bottles now and am feeling like a new man. I have no more trouble with my stomach nor any more pains in my sides and back. It is without a doubt a great medicine for it has certainly done me a world of good. I talk so much about my wonderful improvement and what caused it that my friends often call me 'Tanlac.' I never fail to recommend it to anyone who is not feeling well. I could name several who have taken it on my sayso and they all tell me it has relieved them of their troubles, too."

A dull, dragging feeling of the body, a sluggish mind, dull memory, depression of spirits, nervousness, irritability, stomach trouble, indigestion, backache, headache and that tired feeling, are among the numerous symptoms of a condition from which a surprisingly large number of people suffer.

Tanlac proved of great benefit to Mr. Fee because it contains certain
