SWATTING STOCK SWINDLERS

Many Organizations Are Backing the Campaign of Protection to Holders of Government Securities

Business men's associations, women's federations, many labor unions and lodges in this district are backing the campaign of the savings division of the treasury department against pirates of promotion who are attempting to swindle investors into exchanging liberty bonds and war savings stamps for wildcat stocks. Official recognition of the existence of this evil has been expressed in Denver, Kansas City and other cities by the enactment of laws providing severe punishment for traffickers in these securities.

The business men's anti-stock swindling league has taken up the fight and is using every means available of combatting fraudulent promoters through education in safe investment. It is also announced that the associated advertising clubs of the world organized to promote honest advertising and to put an end to swindling and fake advertisements, has got into the game and is lending its advice and its influence in this work.

These associations and organizations take the position that continued exploitation by fraudulent stock promoters tends to impoverish the people, impair their buying power, and create a prejudice against all destroy their confidence in business who represent invested capital.

Frenzied figures. We'll say so.

Get What They Are Worth

There is no need of taking a short price on Furs these days. Muskrats, properly handled, will average from $1.80 to $2.10. They are worth money. Muskrats, caught this month, if well taken care of, will be worth $2.30, unless market changes. I will be at the Old Phillips Livery Barn (now owned by Smith and Brandell)

Every Saturday

It will be more convenient if you can arrange to bring your furs before 3 p. m.
