Entered at the post office at Alliance, Neb., for transmission through the mails as second class matter. Published Tuesday and Friday.

—E. M. Looney, field superintendent of the Wyoming-Northeastern Oil company, spent Sunday in Alliance with home folks. He reports the well of the company in the Mill creek oil field down to a depth of six hundred feet, with excellent prospects. The shortage of casing and drilling materials at the present time is causing all oil companies more or less inconvenience and delaying the work of drilling somewhat.

—E. W. Miller of Lusk, Wyo., was in the city Saturday and Sunday on business. Mr. Miller is one of the prominent Wyoming oil men and for a number of years held a prominent place with the Buck Creek Oil company, assisting in their development of the Lance creek oil field. Mr. Miller is interested at the present time in several enterprises connected with the oil business and expects to visit Alliance more or less during the coming summer.

—We grind our own lenses. Drake & Drake, Optometrists.

—Autoists traveling over the Potomac highway between Alliance and Antioch report that the larger portions of the road are in good condition. With the exception of about three miles out of the sixteen between the two cities, automobiles can travel very easily. A little dragging of the graded road as soon as the weather permits will put the road in excellent shape for traveling. Since the completion of the grade to Hoffland, it has been much easier to make the trip as the grade eliminates many of the hills and sandy spots which were encountered before the road was built.

—Call 100. Rough Dry 8c per lb. Alliance Steam Laundry.

—The National potash plant at Antioch is now in operation again, having been put in shape for making potash since being acquired by the Lincoln potash interests a few weeks ago. This makes all five of the large potash plants at Antioch now under operation and business is getting so heavy there that the Burlington railroad has installed a switch engine again.

—Call 100. Rough Dry 8c per lb. Alliance Steam Laundry.

—A girl clerk in the bureau of war risk insurance finds from the card index files of Uncle Sam's fighters that the name "Aloysius" is spelled in forty-nine different ways, and "Ignatz" in eighteen ways. Even the simple name "John" is spelled in twenty-four ways, as follows: John, Giovanni, Ian, Jac, Jack, Jackie, Jacques, Jan, Jans, Hans, Jean, Jno., Joahn, Jock, Johan, Johann, Johannes, Johni, Johnie, Johnnie, Johnny, Johny, Jon, Juan. Some of the Great White Father's Indian soldiers bore melodious, if complicated, descriptive names. A few among many: Harries-Cries-for-Rib, George Sleep-from-House, Benjamin Comes-out Bear, David Drops-at-a-Distance, Charles Owl Walks-in-the-House, Wash Day Clouds, Isaac His-Horse-Is-Fast. The town of Salmon, Idaho, furnishes a soldier with five given names: Harry Adolph Thomas Richard Eugene Bullock.

—For Sale—Nine room house. Best part of town. Modern. Priced right and good terms. See Nebraska Land Company.

—City Manager Smith Friday notified the contractor for the Lowry & Henry garage that permission must be obtained from the city council before a part of the present plans are carried out. The plans provide for several large cement pillars at the edge of the sidewalk, which will support a heavy roof, completely covering the sidewalk. This is said to be contrary to city ordinance, and unless permission is granted, other arrangements will have to be made.

—The sale of the T. M. Tully residence to Bert Poneth has been reported.

—Vitality borrowed from the eyes in early age will bankrupt the vision in later life. See Bauman and See Better.

—The blizzard promised by the Chicago branch of the Denver weather bureau for western Nebraska, due to reach here some time Monday night, failed to materialize. The only change in the weather was a severe drop in temperature.

—Do not measure eye comforts by dollars. Say, "I want my eyes properly fitted"; then see Bauman and See Better.

—William Bevington of the Forest Lumber company left on Monday of this week for Denver, where he will attend the lumbermen's convention meeting in that city this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lawrence of the Forest Lumber company are leaving this evening for Denver, where they will attend the national stock show. The expect to return Sunday.

On Sunday evening, January 18, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Stephen J. Epler, occurred the wedding of Miss Chloe Richards to Glen F. Wilt. Both the bride and groom are well known in this city. Miss Richards has been employed by a number of business firms of the city during the past few years. Mr. Wilt is employed in the trainmaster's office. Their many friends and acquaintances join in extending to them congratulations and best wishes.

—Glasses accurately fitted at reasonable prices. Drake & Drake. The Christian ladies' circle will meet with Mrs. Forest Lape at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

—Restaurant and cafe-dwellers of Alliance will welcome the announcement carried in this issue of The Herald of the opening of the Manewal Cafe at 107 Box Butte avenue. Mr. Maxwell has been in the same business in the city before and old friends and patrons are generous in their praise of the quality of his former establishment. The new cafe will serve regular meals and lunches at all hours of the twenty-four. Mr. Manewal will conduct a strictly union establishment and asks that union men give him a share of their patronage.

Do You Own Your Home

As this is "Own Your Home Day", wouldn't this be a good time to start making plans to build one.

Suppose you come in and talk it over with us, perhaps we can help you plan it, decide what kinds of material to use.

National Thrift Week

January 17, to January 24

We wish to co-operate in every way with the nation-wide movement of THRIFT-WEEK. We believe that everyone individually, and the American people as a whole, will be greatly benefitted by this effort to begin habits of economy and household organization in every home.

Let's Begin this Week--But Continue Throughout the Years to Come

We Want to Help You

You are urged to examine the Program for the remainder of the week, and determine where you can perfect the organization of your household. You are cordially invited to ask us for advise or assistance in regard to any of the ideas presented. A bank offers the most convenient means for putting these plans into practice.
