Luncheon was served at midnight, which consisted of sandwiches, pickles, several kinds of cake and coffee. After supper chocolates and cigars were passed. The Boodrys know how to do things right, not only in the building of a comfortable home, but in entertaining the people invited there. The occasion was one of the nicest affairs ever given in this community.

Hawaii now wants statehood, and if she will promise to do something about ukuleles and hula dancers, we see little in the way of granting her desire.

Announcement

"A Wise Man changes his mind, a Fool never."

During the fifteen and one-half years I have done business in this town I have thought best to do a partial credit business, but the change in conditions, the high cost of merchandise, has forced me to change my mind. I now know that it can't be done successfully without a larger working capital than I have. I can serve my patrons better, give them better merchandise for the same money or as good merchandise for less money on a cash basis, so I have decided that after May 1st I will extend no more credit. I shall always be grateful to my good stand-by credit customers and am sorry I can not continue to serve them as in the past, but conditions have forced me to this change to protect my own interests.

Good-bye Old Man Credit.

Pretty little Miss Cash, I extend to you a Mayday greeting, "Let's Go." Sincerely,

Roy Beckwith

Campaign Funds

Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, Answers Borah's Attack on Leonard Wood

"Those Americans who are contributing out of their means to Leonard Wood's campaign expenses, are contributing because they realize the vital need of their country to have at the nation's head, the highest type American procurable, a statesman instead of a politician, a tried and proved administrator instead of an experimenter, a man whose character and record prove he will administer office of president, for the whole people and not for any class or section or group of the people.

"That is why they are putting up the money necessary to present to all people of the United States, through frank publicity, the facts about Wood, the man, so that the people can intelligently judge him in this candidacy. I myself am giving considerable to Wood's campaign. Am giving my time, paying my own expenses, and have rather expensive newspaper, in whose columns I think, have given Wood $50,000 worth of free publicity in the last six months.

"I do not expect anything out of Wood, if elected president. If I had more money than I needed, would gladly give that money outright to spread the facts about Wood before my countrymen, because of what I believe to be the necessity of my country at this hour, the election of the best American as president.

"Senator Borah has wrong squint and is squint he did not possess in 1912. He and I both campaigned for Theodore Roosevelt then and every dollar expended on Roosevelt's campaign was contribution of friends who loved and trusted Theodore Roosevelt.

"What would you think of a man who would stand up and say that he contributed to the Roosevelt campaign funds because he expected to get something out of Roosevelt when elected? Such statement would be precisely as false and ridiculously made against Wood now as if made against Roosevelt then.

"It is not true, my friends, that there does not exist in American politics any higher expectations on the part of contributors to a campaign fund, than that they shall receive some consideration from a great man whose cause they helped in a great hour."—Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Votes for Favorite Son or Impossible Candidate is a Vote for Machine Politics.

"Just a word about this favorite son idea," said Wood. "I understand this is an election for national office and voters in each state are free to vote for whom they wish. They are not limited in choice necessarily to some one born, married or residing in their own state, or to some one who has gone to college in their state, or does business in their state.

"The favorite son plan is one which has always placed a limitation upon the choice of the people and played directly into the hands of the worst form of machine politics. It has often resulted in bringing about in different states what a distinguished political leader recently said would be done in the 1920 presidential nomination, namely, that about 2:11 o'clock in the morning the nomination would be settled by fifteen or twenty tired men sitting around a table in a smoke-filled room behind closed doors. We want no more of this kind of thing in this country. We want the will of the people as expressed at the polls embodied in the choice made at the convention."

"WE WANT WOOD"

Assemblyman Theodore Roosevelt, New York, Extols Nation's Choice for President.

"We are approaching the Election next Autumn of a Presidential Candidate. We of the Republican Party are going to be successful. Rarely if ever in history has the country been in a more critical condition, shaken by the strain and turmoil of a great war and debauched by eight years of the Wilson Administration. We are the prey of violent oscillations of thought.

"The trend given to our actions during the coming four years will shape our country for many decades in future. We need a man who will combine two principal characteristics. First, the fearless determination to preserve law and order and the ideals of this country, and second, the ability to conceive and put into operation the fundamentals of constructive, sane Liberalism.

"General Wood is this man. He is not a man whom we have to take on trust. He is a man with a record which is his Recommendation. He has handled most difficult Administrative work with consummate success as his record in Cuba and Philippines indicates. There he preserved order under trying circumstances with justice and wisdom in such a manner that that order did not collapse when he left but remained as a testimonial of his success there.

"He handled economics in such a fashion that general prosperity and fair dealings contributed to the good of all people concerned.

"Above all, General Wood is a big man. He is big enough to desire to have around him only the best men. He is not afraid that the work of a subordinate will overshadow his achievements. We want Wood at this time."

The Ford Touring Car is literally the pioneer for it has brought about the solution of the Good Roads problem, because three million or more in operation brought up to the millions of America the necessity of goods roads if quick transportation at low expense was to be enjoyed. The simplicity of the Ford car, its stability in construction, the famous heat-treated Vanadium steel with its marvelous strength and flexibility, the low cost of operation and maintenance, its ease in operation, all have made the Ford car the great favorite in every land in the world. It's the one car that always satisfies and serves. A utility beyond question that all can afford... Don't delay, because the demand is heavy all the time. Leave your order with
