METHODIST CHURCH

The sermon topic Sunday morning will be: "What the New Testament Teaches About Love." Owing to the poverty of our language, two different words having a different meaning are each translated "love" in our English bibles. This has caused much misunderstanding among Christian people, has been the cause of false theories of religion, and has been the making of many hypocrites who are honest in thinking they have "the love of God shed abroad in their hearts." The sermon will make it very plain what Christian love is, so that no one need be in doubt as to whether he has it or not.

There will be no evening service at the church, and all our congregation are invited to attend the union service in the high school auditorium where Rev. Mr. Epler of the Christian church will deliver the class sermon for the 1920 class of the Alliance high school.

COUNCIL TALKS OF A CITY MANAGER

(Continued from page 1) and an examining board, consisting of the superintendent of the light and water department and the chief of the fire department, will pass on the fitness of applicants before license is issued. The old ordinance set a license fee of $5, and during the past few years there has been a flood of "wildcat" electricians who came into the city, underbid the local contractors, do work in any sort of slipshod way they see fit and get out of town as soon as they get their money. Alliance electrical contracting firms asked for protection and they got it, although it will cost them $75 a year.

Councilman Harris couldn't see why these wildcaters would be any more likely to pay $75 a year than they were to pay $5, and the city's records, he said, failed to show any outside firms had taken out licenses. He thought that proper inspection was all that was necessary. Later he withdrew his objections, if they were objections, and the ordinance passed without a dissenting vote.

Need for Inspection.

E. G. Campbell, superintendent of the city light plant, declared that there were a lot of wiring jobs that never were inspected. The owners or renters of various buildings in the business district, he said, made repairs or changes at will, and sometimes they did the work themselves. He thought a license fee of $75 was not at all excessive, as somebody had to pay for the time spent in inspection, which took time and gasoline for the city's car.

Ben J. Sallows arose to remark that the $10 deposit fee required when meters were installed amounted to quite an inspection fee in itself. He said that he had five meters at his home and office, and that the $50 deposit required ought to pay for a lot of inspecting. City Clerk Kennedy reminded him that he didn't have a $10 deposit on all of those meters, and the discussion lagged.

F. M. Broome Heard From

City Attorney Metz read a communication from Frank M. Broome of Antioch, who, a short time ago, was discovered to have a deed to one of the lots on which the city hall is located. Mr. Broome wrote that he had been kept pretty busy since receiving Mr. Metz' letter, and that inasmuch as the title to that lot had stood in his name for a long time he rather thought that the matter could go over for a few weeks longer, after which he would do his best to come to Alliance and see about it.

Mr. Metz also read a letter from the attorney general of Nebraska, in answer to a question as to whether city taxes have to be collected thru the county treasurer. It seems that the county treasurer is designated by law to make collection, and his commission for the past year amounted to about 2.5 per cent of the total amount collected. Mr. Metz, in his letter, said that he believed that collection could be made through other sources at less expense, and inquired whether it would be legal to make other arrangements. The attorney general's opinion was to the effect that the statutes provided the method of collecting city taxes and the employment of other means would be illegal.

Fire Limits Prescribed.

The council passed an ordinance setting the fire limits for the city, and in the future, within a district taking in Box Butte avenue from First to Eighth, a half block east on Third, three blocks west on Third and a part of West Fourth, no buildings can be erected save of fireproof material. A section in another ordinance prohibiting the keeping of inflammable material within the fire limits of the city was repealed.

Councilman Harris brought up the question of the city's finances, a report from City Clerk Kennedy showing that some of the city's funds were getting low. The general fund wasn't as strong as it ought to be, and the bills for April would, when paid, leave the police fund in the hole. A motion was made and passed that $1,600 be transferred from the sewer maintenance fund.

The storm sewer fund is also low. At the last city election bonds to the amount of $10,000 were voted, and as these have not been sold, there was some question as to whether warrants could be issued against it. Inasmuch as it is only a matter of a short time until these are disposed of, as the interest rate is attractive, the council decided to go ahead and issue warrants against the new bonds, provided it becomes necessary.

TELL YOUR TROUBLES TO PRISCILLA DEAN

For some weeks The Herald has carried a series of beauty talks by Priscilla Dean, who is an artist in more than one way. Seldom if ever have we seen topics of that nature handled in a way that is interesting enough to make men folks read them, and time and again we have had to pry the printing office devil away with it, tell your troubles to Miss Dean is witty and cheerful, and entertaining—and above all—she knows her subject thoroughly.

Therefore we are glad to announce that Miss Dean has arranged to answer questions. If you are troubled with anything from liver spots to fallen arches with freckles that won't lie quite, or with hair that simply will persist in being stringy, no matter how hard you work with it, tell your troubles to Miss Dean. Send your letters to Priscilla and if you want a personal reply enclose a self addressed envelope with a two cent stamp thereon. If you want a reply in the columns of the Herald, it's not necessary to enclose anything. Sign your name if you like, or your initials. Miss Dean is hired to serve you—and she may be able to make you look good enough yet so that the manly brakeman on the next block will look back twice before turning the corner.

In the event that Herald readers should be consumed with curiosity as to the identity of our Priscilla, we'll say that she is a movie actress—a recent acquisition of the Universal Film crowd. Her chief production to date is "The Virgin of Stamboul," a serial that has anything beaten we ever glimpsed a chapter of. She looks even better than her picture shows her to be, and she knows whereof she writes.

ANOTHER OIL GUSHER IN THE OSAGE FIELD

New Well Brought in Last of Week on Section Twenty, One Mile East of Alliance Gusher.

According to reports reaching Alliance on Saturday, a second gusher has been brought in in the Osage field, located on section 20-46-63, one mile east of the gusher brought in on March 14 by the Alliance syndicate. While details reaching the city are meager, it is stated that the initial production is as good as that of the first gusher, estimated at one thousand barrels daily. The oil sand was reported reached at practically the same depth—1,300 feet.

The striking of oil in a second deep well proves, so the large operators say, the immense richness of the field. The first well was brought in on March 14, after over fifty shallow wells, ranging in depth from 300 to 600 feet, with production ranging from ten to fifty barrels, had been drilled. The shallow wells brought in their oil in a shale, while the deep wells are in an oil sand, said to be the Muddy sand.

The Wilson-Warren company of Omaha is reported to have found excellent oil showings at a depth of 230 feet in its test well on 35-46-63, near Pedro. The same company has spotted rigs on 26-46-63, 6-45-62 and 36-46-63. The Vindicator company reached oil at 500 feet in its well on 13-46-64.
