ALLIANCE BRIEFS

Alliance post of the American Legion is out for at least thirty new members—and will be willing to accept more applications if they are brought in. Thirty members will bring the post's membership well over the 200 mark. This is known as "Push Week" and there is little doubt that the legion will put its drive across. Applications can be made at room 9, Reddish block, where the adjutant has his headquarters.

Looking for fun for Saturday evening? Come to the Armory dance given by the Firemen. You'll find good music, good floors and a congenial crowd. After the show the dance begins.

The paving gang expects to begin grading not later than next Monday, providence and the weather permitting, of course. The first paving to be laid will be in the alley to the west of Box Butte avenue, but Box Butte itself will be taken care of next in order. The machinery has arrived, most of the men are on hand, and dirt will fly for the next several months. With the assurance of paving brick, Alliance has less cause to worry than most of the Nebraska cities who have planned paving for this season.

It has been discovered, during the survey for the paving, that a number of buildings on the alley to the west of Box Butte are out in the alley distances ranging from four to eleven inches. Fortunately, there are no brick or heavy structures that are off the lot lines, so that it will be no very difficult matter. Now that the alley is to be paved, the owners of such property have been ordered to remove all buildings from the alley, especially those which are over four inches beyond the line. This will be done the coming week in order to avoid delaying the paving force.

The Nebraska Land company has secured quarters in the First National Bank building and is moving into them. They expect to be in regular shape the first of the week.

The Mitchell service station is installing a visible gasoline filling station this week. This is the first of the kind to be installed in Alliance. The chief advantage of this device is that the customer can see that he is getting the gas he pays for—and we're going over to see how it works, as soon as they get it up.

At the meeting of the Rotary club Wednesday evening, the school bond election was discussed and the club voted unanimously to get back of the issue. The consensus of opinion, however, was that this is not an opportune time to begin active building operations, the argument being that if the town could wait until building costs came down, not only would a good deal of money be saved, but a better building could be procured. The club is against building a high school unless something is done toward erecting a ward school on the east side.

Some people's idea of the height of epulence is to be able to go where it is too hot in winter and where it is too cool in summer.

Predictions of price drops are great stuff. They cheer up the ultimate consumer without interfering with anybody's profits.

"When Will Prices Fall?"

If a volume of general free-for-all discussion could topple over towering prices, there is little doubt that the fall would be near at hand. Periodical publications of all types have most generously supplied causes for the present situation and the public talks glibly of curtailed production, labor unrest, over expansion of currency, profiteering and extravagance, but all the popular harangue so far has accomplished little in relieving the price situation. United States Commissioner of Labor statistics and official keepers of all records bearing on prices and costs are quoted as follows:

"I see no prospect of any considerable fall in prices for several years to come. It will be impossible for the governments of the world to pay off their debts very rapidly. Not until Europe has rehabilitated its industries may we expect to have our markets flooded with European goods."

That puts off the tumble in prices for several years. In the United States everything seems to tend toward higher prices. The continuing dissatisfaction of wage-earners, who cannot pay their way with old wages, increased three times since the war began; the walk-outs controlling travel, thereby increasing prices of transportation of merchandise; higher wages upon raw materials and the speculation in them before they reach the tailor or shoemaker—all these facts and others are still adding to the cost of everything. So with the situation before us this Store invites and urges you to take advantage of
