YOUNG CRAPSHOOTERS GIVEN $10 AND COSTS

Chief of Police Reed arrested two youthful craps shooters about 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, who were rolling the bones on the sidewalk right near the store owned and occupied by the honorable mayor. There wasn't very much money in the game, but it was lively for all of that—so lively that the participants didn't have time to make a run for it. Police Judge Roberts was induced to hold a night session of police court and assessed the pair $10 and costs each, and then suspended the fine during good behavior.

Willie Sneed, colored, was arrested by Chief of Police Reed, Wednesday night about 10:30. Sneed is charged with having broken into the home of Mr. Adams at 518 West Second street. A watch chain and pocketbook containing 15 or 20 cents were found in his possession belonging to Mr. Adams. Sneed was identified and his trial will be held this afternoon (Friday). A report was turned into police headquarters that some one was sleeping in the Colored church on West Second. Upon investigating Chief Reed found Sneed rolled up in a blanket and asleep on the pulpit. When he awoke and found a gun pointed at him he immediately got down on his knees and started praying in a loud tone asking not to be hurt.

Misses Mildred Hollinrake and Ellen Kendrick arrived Thursday for a few days visit with friends.

If the picture-goer insists upon sensation in his entertainment, it is but fair that now and again he should have an opportunity of seeing something different from the ordinary production. In its 10-episode photo-serial, "The Hand of Vengeance," which is shown at the Imperial every Sunday the Gaumont Company has produced something outstanding in the way of a photoplay. Ultus, the hero of this story, is not a criminal, though forced to use his wits against talented detectives in every reel. The methods he uses to outwit those who are hounding him are spectacular in the extreme.

The Alliance Candy Store serves the best and latest things in light refreshments. 44

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Case, who have been visiting friends here, left Tuesday for Denver.
