Good Lumber Means
Perfect Joints and Smooth Surface

Everyone has heard much talk in Lumber Company advertisements about the advantage to be gained by buying quality lumber.

But how many of the reading public has ever stopped long enough to picture to himself the ACTUAL DIFFERENCE IN RESULTS obtained?

Quality in Lumber simply means that every piece you get has been selected for its straightness, after it has been properly seasoned. This will invariably result in getting perfect joints and smooth surfaces on anything you have built.

Without Much Hand Work

You can see for yourself what this means in personal satisfaction for the "particular people," as well as the saving in expensive hand labor.

The Forest Lumber Company has the merited reputation among local contractors for selling selected stuff. Ask any of them.

We will be pleased to submit figures on anything you plan to build.
