THE REAL PRINTER

The Salina Sun says: "Some young fellow with a fair education, and ambition to acquire a good trade and at the same time brighten up his education, can find an opportunity at this office to learn the printer's trade."

Which is all very well, but does not promise much for results. The kind of a boy who makes a good printer is the sort that begins to loaf around the print shop on press days as soon as he starts to school. He is the boy who honored when he is told to bring a bucket of fresh water and he would trade his jack-knife and a tin whistle any day for the privilege of "kicking off" a hundred dodgers on the old fool press. Bye and bye, refusing to be chased off and stay chased, he is sweeping the floor of mornings and running errands, such as going to the store for a left handed monkey wrench or to the furniture store to ask for the return of the paper stretcher. Later he learns to recognize type lice and wash the rollers, sort p's and q's out of the hell box, and so progresses to the point where he is on the pay roll to the amount of $1 every Saturday afternoon and says "our paper" when speaking of the Weekly Gimlet. Such a boy is the only kind that ever grows up to be a real printer.—E. E. Kelly.

BLESSED IS HE

"Yes," said the philanthropic doctor, "I find more pleasure in giving than in receiving."

"I should think you would," gulped the patient as he swallowed the medicine with a wry face. "The stuff certainly tastes like hell."

There are some people in the world who will probably not stop to drop a tear over the famous Spanish torador who was killed in a bull fight after he had killed his fifth bull.
