COME OUT FINE IN MOVIE TEST

who admitted going six times a week, but four of them said they didn't miss a night. Eleven go one night in two weeks; five go only once a month; and five declared they did not attend the movies at all during the school year.

Most of the pupils favor the early evening show, 140 giving that answer. Only seventeen admitted going at the late show, and six attend the matinee performance.

The question as to the favorite kind of movie brought out a sufficient variety of replies to be classed under fifteen heads. Western stories led all the rest, and by a comfortable majority, just as they did in the grades. 65 pupils preferring this brand. Love stories were the next in line, 48 leaning in this direction. Northern stories had 19 admirers, and comics 16. Five preferred mystery stories; 10 wanted drama; ten others were adventure fans; one rather liked boarding school pictures; another preferred the exciting pictures; seven liked fiction, which is probably a nice way of referring to love stories; three frankly admitted they liked the emotional films; one declared herself as liking the kind with "human appeal" the best; one liked all kinds indiscriminately; two liked the current events better than the others; and two declared themselves as strong for moral productions. The last four were probably bluffing. Love stories were seen more often than any other kind, 38 saying they saw them more often than any other. Thirty-two rather believed they saw more western pictures than any other kind. Three have seen northern pictures oftener than other sorts; two said they thought the majority of the films they had seen were "intermingled with sin"; one had seen the emotional variety pretty often; one had seen adventure plays; four had seen fiction, and another movies from books, which may amount to the same thing; three thought comedies came a little less seldom than other kinds; and one thought there were more tragedies; two thought they had seen more factory stories; and four voted for the drama.

METHODIST CHURCH

Evangeline Acheson will lead the League Sunday night. Subject, "Modern Unrighteousness."

We are gratified that the able address of Judge Tash has been so favorably commended upon by both the press and by individuals who heard it. Speaking of the present age of lawlessness, the judge said that the only remedy was a return to the religious convictions of our fathers, who taught us that sin was a terrible thing and that the sinner would be severely punished. Well may Box Butte county be proud to have a man of this stripe in his important office.

The Married People's Bible class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Barker Wednesday and were organized. There was a large attendance. Games were played and refreshments were served. Mrs. Barker is the teacher.

SOCIETY

Alliance Typographical union No. 841 will entertain their members and the printing office employees at their first annual dinner, the date for which has been tentatively set for next Friday evening. Ben J. Sallows and Ed. M. Burr are the committee in charge of the arrangements. The Alliance Typographical union recently completed the first year of its existence.

The Monte Carlo whist party held at the pariah house Thursday afternoon by the ladies of St. Matthew Guild was a great success. About eighty-five guests were present, and a most enjoyable time is reported. Mrs. W. D. Rumer won first prize at cards, which were played after the two-course luncheon served at 1:30. Mrs. Sheridan won the free-for-all.

Miss Dorothy Hampton entertained her Sunday school class and teacher Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served and the evening spent informally in games and music. Those present were Misses Evangeline Acheson, Evaline Kuhn, Mildred Stolt, Ruth Donovan, Frances Grassman, Dorothy Hampton, Edna May Miller and Edna Benedict.

One of the best Elk dances ever given in the city took place Tuesday evening. Music was furnished by the orchestra from the Fern room, with the addition of a saxophone player from Sidney. A buffet luncheon of hot coffee and doughnuts was served during the evening.

Alliance post of the T. P. A. will hold a regular business meeting, banquet and entertainment in the Fern Room of the Alliance hotel this evening. The festivities will begin at 8 p. m. After the dinner and business session, cards will be the amusement.

The Married People's Bible class of the M. E. Sunday school were entertained at the home of the teacher, Mrs. E. C. Barker, Wednesday evening. Twenty-eight were present and a very pleasant time was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Smart will entertain the following guests at a 6 o'clock dinner Saturday evening: Dean and Mrs. J. J. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Carlson.

The Point of Rock Chapter of the D. A. R. will meet Saturday afternoon at three o'clock with Mrs. H. E. Reddish, 1016 Cheyenne.

The young people of the B. Y. P. U. will hold a social this evening at the home of Ralph M. Weidenhamer, 423 Platte avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Coleman of Bridgeport were here the first of the week visiting the parents of the latter, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ormsby.

Mrs. James Carmody left Wednesday for a few days' visit with her cousin at Bayard.

OBITUARY

Funeral services for S. T. Castle, of Edgemont, S. D., were held at the Miller undertaking parlors Thursday afternoon, February 3, 1921, conducted by Rev. Stephen J. Epler and interment made in Greenwood cemetery, where his wife is buried. The deceased was born in Quebec, Canada, March 18, 1833 and died at the home of his son at Edgemont, S. D., February 1, 1921. He came to Wisconsin at an early age and afterwards moved to western Nebraska where he resided for some time, and lived either at Edgemont, S. D., or Alliance, Neb., during the last fourteen years. His wife died here about two years ago. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. R. C. Nelson and Mrs. Bernice Meyers, of Alliance, and Mrs. R. M. Piper, of Havelock and two sons, P. L. Castle of Bingham, Neb. and H. G. Castle of Edgemont. All of the children were here for the funeral. The deceased also leaves twenty-one grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

SCOTTSBLUFF
KISSES PACKING PLANT GOOD-BYE

Mr. Plumble was not anxious to have the Alliance company dissolve. He appeared before the stockholders and in a two and a half hour speech, which covered the development of the packing industry from the days when the wild buffalo roamed the plains down to a few minutes before starting the speech, Plumble pleaded with the stockholders, first, to stick, and later to change the name of the company and remove to Scottsbluff. His efforts were not successful.

The next move was to go to Scottsbluff anyway. The following week the newspapers of that city carried the news that only about half of the stockholders had been in favor of dissolving the company, and that the Scottsbluff concern would have a start of about a hundred thousand dollars toward forming the new company. The Scottsbluff newspapers boasted that their city would make the concern go, no matter what luck it had in Alliance, because Scottsbluff was a better city than Alliance and their citizens more progressive.

Who Threw That Brick? --
Something seems to have happened, however. The Alliance newspapers chided the Scottsbluff newspapers for being so boastful, and then all was silence for several weeks. Now comes the decision of the chamber of commerce not to go ahead. No reason is assigned for the lack of faith, but the Scottsbluff News sheds a faint light on the problem:
"The project for securing a packing plant for Scottsbluff, considered following the dissolution of the Alliance Packing company, has been definitely abandoned for the present, by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce that has been investigating the matter."
"In making their announcement without comment upon the plan that was presented to Scottsbluff by R. E. Plumble who promoted the Alliance packing plant, the committee felt that it was leaving the situation in such a way that the proposition could be taken up and considered again at some future date, if it then becomes likely that the plant can be secured.

"It was understood that the original proposal of Mr. Plumble to Scottsbluff included an arrangement for the underwriting of a large part of the stock in the proposed company, by eastern financiers. Whether this could have been accomplished or not, is not known but the decision of the committee, after viewing every angle of the plan, was that the present was not the best time for launching such a project here."

ST. AGNES ACADEMY

A beautiful play showing scenes from the life of St. Agnes, taken from "Fabiola," was presented Sunday night at the academy by the Expression class.

The difficult roles of the early Christian period were admirably sustained by the students and especial mention should be made of the excellence of the work of Miss Zelma McKinney, as "Fabiola," Miss Lillian Berzina as "Syra," Miss Madge Dunn as "Fulvius" and Miss Dixie McManis as "Agness." The work throughout showed marked improvement. The following is the cast of characters:

- "Fabiola"—Miss Zelma McKinney.
- "Syra"—Miss Lillian Berzina.
- "Agnes"—Miss Dixie McManis.
- "Cecelia"—Miss Margaret Brennan.
- "Zilla"—Miss Dorothy Hand.
- "Euphrasynne"—Miss Helen Hand.
- "Claudia"—Miss Edna May Miller.
- "Perfect"—Miss Margaret Sixton.
- "Fulvius"—Miss Madge Dunn.
- "Arminius"—Miss Ruth Huff.
- "Catullus"—Miss France Katen.
