Herald Want Ads—1¢ a word.

The youth who has all the money he wants to gratify whatever whims or indulgences he may crave is as surely needed for the scrap pile as is an infant going to cut its fingers if handed an open razor. There is no more pitiful sight that of a callow youth with money-lined pockets surrounded by helpful spenders bent upon showing him how they can all have a good time on his cash. The male and the female, they flock to his standard, and the poor goof is made to believe that it is his personal popularity that attracts "friends." Such a young fellow is extremely fortunate if his associations do not lead him into acquaintanceship with lawless characters ready to teach him lawlessness. At the best, he is set into associations that set low standards for him.—Ex.

It may sound odd, but the fact can hardly be doubted that children do require to be taught to play, and that many parents are no more competent to teach them than they are to acquaint them with "many cheerful facts about the square of the hypotenuse," at a later stage in their children's development. If education is a "leading out" the process should begin early—not so much in the classroom as in the playground, or in the fields, or along the beach.—Ex.

Is the world growing worse? Nobody knows, because nobody can get a long enough period of time under his eyes to judge. If it is, what of it? Shall we let up on every effort, or is a special drive called for to head off its downward course? The truth is, it doesn't help us much to debate so big a question, says Milwaukee Journal. The real item is whether something that is under our very eyes is growing worse, or whether it could not grow better, if we got into the harness to see that it did get better. The world grows worse every time there is somebody who ought to care and doesn't care; it grows better every time somebody does something to clean up the dust in his corner.

Perhaps the most remarkable product of the melting pot is the Californian family of Ben Goon. Ben's father was a Chinese, his mother a Jap. Ben's wife had a Swedish father and a full-blooded Indian mother. He was born about sixty years ago in San Francisco, has a fair education, owns Liberty bonds and is a good American citizen. The surprising thing is that his two daughters of high school age look typically United States, just as if they came off a Smith, Jones or Brown genealogical tree, says Capper's Weekly. Is it the climate or what?

WEEKLY MARKETGRAM (U. S. Bureau of Markets)

Grain.
Although prices averaged higher during the week, the market trend was uncertain and sentiment mixed. Unfavorable crop and weather reports resulted in numerous upturns but lack of support invariably resulted in reaction. Principal bearish influence was passage of Tinchey bill by house of representatives; pit conditions also a factor. On the 18th market was lower but advanced later on account of bad crop reports from Kansas and Nebraska and reports of large export business. Country offerings corn more liberal with Illinois and Indiana marketing corn rather freely. In Chicago cash market No. 2 red winter wheat $1.55; No. 2 hard $1.55; No. 3 mixed corn 58c; No. 3 yellow corn 58c; No. 3 white oats 39c. For the week Chicago May wheat up 4 1/2 cents at $1.48 1/2; May corn down 1 1/2c at 59 1/2c; Chicago July wheat up 1 1/2c at $1.18 1/2; July corn down 2c at 61 1/2c. South Carolina No. 1 Irish cobbles $7.50-$7.75 per cloth top slat barrel New York. Texas sacked Bliss Triumphs down 75c per 100 pounds at middle-western cities at $3.75-$4. Virginia Klondike strawberries 20c-23c per quart New York.

Hay.

Spring bran quoted: Philadelphia, $25.25; Minneapolis, $16; Chicago, $19; hard winter bran: Kansas City, $17.50-soft winter bran: Cincinnati, $23; standard spring middling about $1 below spring bran. Buyers are buying little as prices continue downward. Closing prices, 92 score: New York 29c, Boston and Philadelphia 30c; Chicago 28 1/2c.

The ice supply promises to be sufficient for summer, and the ice men have decided that the price shall be sufficient also.
