OBITUARY

ORAH PEARL CLAYTON WRIGHT.

Orah Pearl Clayton Wright was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clayton, April 14, 1886 in Merriek county, Nebraska, near Central City. The next year her parents moved to Box Butte county, Nebraska, here she grew up getting her education in the Alliance schools, after which she taught school in Box Butte county. At the age of sixteen she accepted Christ as her Savior and united with the First Baptist church of Alliance, in which church she was unusually active filling several offices, especially in the Sunday school as secretary and teacher.

She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, Arthur G. Wright, her father, G. H. Clayton, her mother, Mrs. Emma Clayton, her two brothers, Wm. Clayton of Shepherd, Montana, Everett of Hemingford, and two sisters, Mrs. Harry Wilde and Mrs. Mary Cory both of Hemingford, and numberless friends as evidence by the hundred or more cars that stood around the church during the funeral services.

In her girlhood days she met, and later married Arthur G. Wright November 27, 1907, both being members of the same church in which they enthusiastically labored for their common Master.

She was known and much beloved for her untiring effort in the interest of her girl class in the Sunday school, her activities however extended to every department of the church she being a member of the choir and the various women societies. Her chief aim in life was to make her life count to the utmost for her Lord and church and humanity. The needy found her a bountiful friend, the discouraged a source of comfort, the indifferent a fountain of inspiration, the sorrowing ones, a balm to their souls; in truth it may be said of her as was of Enoch: "She walked with God, and she was not for God took her". Her departure while apparently premature—was only to her a nearer approach to her Master, the chariot of God swung so near that she left without any apparent change of experience. In all the social and other activities of her church and community she was a favorite especially among the young. She yearned to bring her pupils to accept Christ, and to this end she bent her best endeavor.

Last July she and her husband left Alliance and in September they settled in Denver to make it their home, their membership was transferred in order that she might better serve her Lord. A little over a week ago she underwent an operation of the abdomen and was getting along well until acute dilation of the heart developed resulting in her death, May 18 at 8:30 p. m. Before her operation she requested her mother to hold her hand until she safely passed over, her husband not arriving until a few minutes later. Her end was a fitting one to such a life—she has enjoyed the peace of God that passeth all understanding and her end was as if in a sweet peaceful sleep. Her life had been peaceful, peaceful in the home and circle of friends, her death was peaceful, truly it could be said of her—"Blessed are the peaceful, for they shall be called the children of God." She literally fell asleep in Jesus at the age of 35 years, 1 month and 4 days. In her community she had no enemy as far as known, she was universally loved and respected, the only thing the world could see in her was, "Her light shining and the good work which truly glorified her Father in Heaven." The services were held in the Baptist church, for which she had so faithfully labored, sermon by the pastor, B. J. Minor, he taking for a text Prov. 31: 10. "A worthy woman who can find her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband trusteth in her." An old settler said it was one of the largest funerals ever attended in Alliance.

With meat soaring in price there is ominous talk in the kitchen about restoring those notorious "cheaper cuts."

As silk shirts come within the reach of all nobody reaches for them.
