

ON THE ROAD WITH THE HERALD TRAVELER

The Lore brothers came here from Pawnee county thirty-five years ago and own twelve hundred and eighty acres and are renting nine hundred and sixty besides. They have eighty acres of wheat twenty of oats one hundred and six of corn, fifteen of millet and fifty of as good alfalfa as the writer has seen for a long time. They were stacking when we called on them. They also have twenty acres of spuds, one hundred head of cattle, seventy horses and two hundred hogs.

H. T. Tompkins has lived here for the last thirty years, having come to this county when five years old and says that this is good enough for him. He is operating thirty-three hundred and sixty acres, although not much of it is being farmed. He has seventy acres to corn and cuts about three hundred tons of hay and handles four hundred head of cattle. Herbert says he has been around this country a great deal and this is the best place for a poor man that he has found yet.

R. G. Green came here from Iowa last spring and owns four hundred and eighty acres of good land twelve miles and a half west of town. He has forty acres of wheat, thirty acres of oats, fifty-five acres of corn, fifteen acres of spuds and twelve acres of millet. R. G. likes this country much better than Iowa and thinks it is more healthy, and one can farm so much easier here. He says when the farmers here will farm as good as they do in Iowa they will have Iowa beat to death.

E. L. Marsh came here twenty-nine years ago from Webster county, and is operating three hundred and twenty acres of land. He has forty acres of corn, seventeen of spuds and ten of oats. E. L. says that this country is the best place for a man who wants to work to get a start in of any place he ever saw, for rent is cheap and land sells below its worth.

Philip Wills came here from South Dakota fourteen years ago, and owns our hundred acres of good land, with good improvements, and well stocked. He has forty head of fine white faced cattle, eleven good horses, and thirty-six good hogs. He likes this country fine but misses the German people, as the old folks cannot speak the English language. We had dinner with the old folks and was royally entertained. The farming operations are carried on by the you young men that are home. They have one hundred acres of wheat, twenty acres of oats, forty acres of corn, twelve acres of spuds and five acres of good alfalfa.

Ed. Schwaderer came here fourteen years ago from South Dakota, and is operating twelve hundred acres of land, and likes this country much better than South Dakota, and would not go back there to farm. Ed. says if a man cannot get a start here there is no use for him to try in any other place. He pins his faith to hogs and cattle, with spuds for a money crop. He has eighty acres of corn, fifteen acres of spuds, and thirty acres of alfalfa, and cut about two hundred tons of hay per year. Ed. has seventy-five head of nice Hereford cattle, eight head of good horses and seventy head of hogs. He has sixty head of the finest spring pigs that we have seen in a long time, without a run in the bunch. They are like peas in a pod.

I. E. Nussbaum came here from Lancaster county about twenty-one years ago and is operating one hundred and sixty acres to corn and potatoes, and has twenty acres of good alfalfa that he was cutting while we were there. We did not get to see Ira, but had a nice visit with the Mrs. The three children are having a siege of whooping cough but as we were immune, we were not scared.
