

Lloyd C. Thomas today entertained between trains Herbert J. States of Lander, Wyo., and A. L. Campbell of Lysite, Wyo., a prominent ranchman of that part of the country. The two men were on the way back to Lander, Wyo., after a trip to Omaha. The men met a number of Alliance people who are planning to inspect Wyoming homestead lands in the near future.

Mr. States is now associated with Mr. Thomas in locating homesteaders in central Wyoming. Both the Wyoming men are well known in Nebraska, especially in Lincoln, where Mr. States in days past made a name for himself in university athletics. Mr. States held a track sprinting record during his course at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Campbell is a graduate of the Michigan Agricultural college, and made first teams with the Aggies in football, baseball, track and basketball.

Mr. Campbell, who was agricultural agent for three years in Fremont county, Wyo., of which Lander is the county seat, spoke most enthusiastically of the opportunities for live wires in Wyoming. "All a young man or a young woman needs," he said, "is enough pep to enable him or her to 'rough it' for a few months or years. There is still plenty of desirable homestead land left, but you have to know where to find it."

Little Miss Gretchen Nieman entertained a number of her friends Wednesday evening the occasion being her fifth birthday. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations of the house. The guests were entertained by games, music, grab bag, a guessing contest which was won by Irene Epler and fancy dancing by Betty Harper, Fritzie Harris, Maxine Shafer, Ruth Mallory and Gretchen Nieman. After the dancing the guests were served to a dainty two course luncheon, the table decorations being center pieces of pink sweet peas and a birthday cake at either end with five candles on each. The lights were turned out after the candles were lighted. The Misses Ruth Reed, Maude Wilcox and Mrs. L. L. Smith assisted in serving. Those included on the guest list were Emoline Grassman, Dixon Grassman, Betty Harper, James Hunter, Irene Epler, Bruce Epler, Stephen Epler, Betty Sims, Mildred Dale, Marguerite Rickman, Maxine Shafer, Delbert Cole, Falba Cole, Emily Gladson, Alice Lucille O'Keefe, Fritzi Harris, Mary Ruth Reddish, William Threlkeld, Ruth Mallory, Virginia Lester, Mary Jane Bennett and Gretchen Nieman.

E. H. Potter of Lincoln, representing the Standard chautauqua system with headquarters in that city, has spent the past few days in Alliance, ascertaining public sentiment in the matter of a chautauqua for next year. He spoke before the Rotary club members Wednesday evening, and at the Lions club luncheon Thursday noon, explaining the various contracts written by the company. The town of Powell, Wyo., adopted the plan that has found most favor in the eyes of business men in that city. The business men in that city purchased the chautauqua outright and gave it as a free entertainment to the people of their town and country. Mr. Potter was busy seeking forty men who would guarantee the chautauqua to the extent of $10 apiece. If he finds them, Alliance will have a chautauqua next summer. Up to Thursday noon some twenty signatures had been secured, including those who signified their willingness to go on the guarantee during the session this summer.

LUBRICATION

There is only one thing that will prevent your new car from becoming old, and that is PROPER LUBRICATION.

You cannot be too careful nor you cannot lubricate too much, but the thing is LUBRICATE.

One of the reasons so many cars are not properly taken care of in this respect is, it's a dirty disagreeable job.

But there is one way to grease and oil your car, and do it RIGHT, and it makes the job pleasant, and you will have it done right when it is done.

Here is the tip. Al's Auto Service. This shop is for you to use. It's run on a basis so that it is cheaper for you to have Al properly lubricate your car, than it is for you to do it yourself.

Drive in between the Drake Hotel and the Elks Club, and LUBRICATE.
