Nebraska News Notes

FEDERAL BOOZE HOUND MISSED ALL THE FUN

OMAHA—Federal prohibition officers "followed their instructions" in not arresting New Year's eve celebrators at the Hotel Fontenelle, the Brandeis restaurant and Athletic club, when those celebrators tipped hip flasks with a whisky odor over their lips or cup, U. S. Rohrer, chief agent for Nebraska, declared the morning after the night before.

Rohrer was asked why his men made no arrests of people celebrating New Year's in the old-fashioned way. "Was anybody drinking?" Rohrer countered.

"They had bottles with liquor labels and the liquid smelled like liquor," he was reminded.

"That's just the point," Rohrer said. "Here in one of the newspapers it says there was a bottle on the table labeled 'Gordon Gin.' How were my men to know there was Gordon Gin in the bottle? Maybe it was only sugared water. There were a lot of people at New Year's parties who were going to have a lot of fun with Rohrer. They were going to pour tea from whisky flasks conspicuously, and when Rohrer arrested them they were going to have the laugh. But they didn't get the chance. I was at home and my men made no foolish arrests. It was a lot better to let a few people have their New Year's eve drinks than to make a laughing stock out of the federal prohibition service by arresting celebrators with cold tea."

DOES NOT APPROVE THE SPECIAL SESSION

LINCOLN—E. D. Beach, former chairman of the state republican committee, and on of the war horses in the proposed special session of the legislature as planned by Governor McKelvie. Discussing, in brief, his ideas, he says:

"If the republicans of Nebraska permit their representatives in the coming special session of the legislature, to pass a law putting a tax on gasoline, for the people to pay, or any additional tax on anything, they will have wiped out the last hope the party may have had for carrying a single county in the state election this year."

"Sammy R. McKelvie, now in the Governor's office, has led the last two legislatures around by the nose and in addition to jumping state expenses from $9,000,000 to $30,000,000, a biennium, the limit formerly placed on local taxation has either been raised or removed entirely.

"It is not expected that the governor, who has no sense of political decency or respect for the rights of others, will do anything to lessen the tax burden that he is largely responsible for. The 100,000 republicans who repudiated McKelvie in 1920 could easily be multiplied by two at this time, and if any more schemes are hatched out to increase taxes which are now in some cases confiscatory, the chances of a republican candidate this year will be about as good as the proverbial snow-ball in Hades."

HAVE NEW MALADY AT GRAND ISLAND

GRAND ISLAND—Five cases of a strange and new malady, of a mild and not serious nature have recently been treated at the St. Francis hospital in this city. They are called aporotrichosis and it is claimed that 123 cases in former German colonies in Africa and seventy-three cases in the United States comprise the number known to science. In 1893 the German health department appointed a commission of scientists to investigate a new disease, apparently of blood or tissue, appearing among the settlers of her African colonies. The scientists found that the disease started below the finger-nails, due to a scratch or thorn, an infection being thus carried to the lymphatic system, where, in about six weeks, small nodules, similar to buckshot, became visible, centralizing under the arilli, or covering of the fungus, due to the spore formation. In a research work by Dr. Schenck, Johns Hopkins university, the origin and development were more clearly outlined. All the five cases came from Greeley county and are attributed to contact with some dried vegetable matter.

There is a noticeable stillness this week specially in the still industry probably on account of the bad weather.

"The Stills"

On account of the disturbance that has recently occurred in the community some have decided to keep still that is not talk too much with their mouths, while still others, who are in the still business and have decided to keep still, so long as they can keep out of the still quiet places kept for people who still persist in keeping still even though they try to keep still about such said stills.

The trouble seems to be that the who try to keep it still by hiding it away, in such an upset condition that they can't keep still. It smells strong, it sounds so loud and draws together so that officers just drop in to see what the excitement is for fun and what everybody is so surprised and trouble ensues. Some funny stories are then told.

"Little drops of water
Little raisins too;
Little lots of things we'd like to tell
But Uncle Sam says it won't do."

Mrs. Newrich (to small son)

PAT'S PHILOSOPHY

Pat and Mike were working on the section. An extra freight train came unexpectedly around a curve. Mike jumped from the track, but Pat dropped his shovel and took to his heels in front of train. The engineer whistled, but Pat kept running and finally rolled off the rails just as the train was about to run him down. "Why didn't you get off the track, ye blamed fool?" demanded Mike. "Well, ye see," panted Pat, "It was better runnin' on the track."

A NEW FIRM

Virgil Lehr, now owner of the Fourth Street Market and H. Hirst, former owner, have entered into a partnership and will, about February 15, open a brand new

Cash and Carry Store

—CALLED—

"Box Butte Market"

the building formerly occupied by the Morgan Grocery Co.

By conducting the two stores, we will be able to buy our goods for less money and to handle some items for less money and to handle some items in carload lots. The same prices will be maintained at both stores as far as possible and the new store will be arranged the same as the Fourth Street Market, so any customer so desiring can wait upon themselves. The same policies, as in the past, will be carried out in each store. Cash for all we buy—Cash for all we sell—a large volume of business on a small margin of profit.

These stores will not be controlled by any organization nor wholesale house, but owned and conducted by Lehr and Hirst. We will try to give courteous treatment and the best of service to each and every customer and will be glad to have you visit our stores whether you buy or not.

In the meantime your patronage will be appreciated at the—

Fourth Street Market

Very respectfully,
VIRGIL LEHR,
H. HIRST.
