During the past few days the probate court has been one of the busiest departments of Judge Tash's activities. The wills of Mrs. Nellie Covalt and S. A. Miller have been filed for probate. Leonard Sampy, Hemingford pioneer, left no will and it will not be necessary to probate his estate. Before his death he made out deeds to ten quarter sections of land, seven in Box Butte county and three in Sioux, and left them with his banker, to be delivered at his death to his son, John Sampy of Hemingford.

A Real Japanese Missionary Will Be Here Next Sunday

Rev. Mearl C. Smith has received word that Rev. and Mrs. Saito Japanese workers in the Platte Valley will be in Alliance next Sunday morning, and Rev. Saito will speak at the Methodist church. He is a real Japanese but has been educated in American schools and is a graduate of Garrett Biblical Institute. It is said that he speaks English fluently. Mrs. Saito has recently come from Japan, and was educated in a Presbyterian Mission school there. She will appear in Japanese costume and will make a little "Thank you" speech in her own language after the collection. There are five hundred Japanese in the North Platte valley, and Rev. Saito has been appointed by the Missionary board of the Methodist church to work among them. He and his wife are making a tour of the churches in the conference. The meeting is public and everyone will be invited.
