American Legion Notes

"FACTS—NOT OPINIONS"

Loans, without security and at a low rate of interest, will be provided for the sick and wounded ex-service men by a big rotating fund, plans for which are being worked out by the American Legion. Ex-soldiers who do not need the ready cash from government compensation will be asked to contribute their bonus to the fund.

"Pay your poll tax and make no attempt to dodge jury duty," is the order sent out by the American Legion to its two million members, as a part of the year's Americanism program. "Unless our Legion members accept their full duties as citizens and make use of their franchise, they will be classified in the ranks of peace time slackers," says the national chairman of the Legion committee. "The ballot is the safe-guard of liberty. It is the most effective method of making our voices heard in the community."

To buy a doughnut or not buy a doughnut. That was the question. Whether 'twas nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of an outraged appetite, or to take up arms against a sea of trouble. William Rayman, of 225 N. W. 16 Ave., Miami, Fla., who had two cents remaining of a once respectable personal estate, gave the problem his serious attention and then, waiving the doughnut, bought a postage stamp instead. This he placed on a letter to John Thomas Taylor, vice-chairman of the American Legion's legislative committee at Washington.

"I have never known poverty before, but I know it now," he wrote. "It is so long since I have tasted fresh bread that I would not know what it tastes like." The case, according to Taylor, is typical of thousands of others of ex-service men who find themselves down and out, with no one to turn to for immediate assistance. Legion officials are making a neffort to see that the two cent stamp yields better returns than the doughnut. Rayman said that he had been employed in Chicago as a trainman before the war, but was unable to do this work now. He said he was an expert truck driver.

The famous surgeons, Drs. William and Charles Mayo, will treat former soldiers of the world war in a $200,000 hospital which the American Legion post of Minnesota will erect. Patients will be charged according to their ability to pay, as determined by Legion officials.

Plans have been worked out by the Nebraska American Legion whereby basketball teams representing the greater number of 320 posts in the state will contest for county congressional and state championships. The arrangements were made by the Legion athletic committee; Harry H. Ellis of Holdrege, Lum Doyle, state boxing commissioner, and Walter Raecke of Central City.

The tournament for the all-state American Legion title will be played on March 17 and 18, in some central town. Effort will then be made to match the Nebraska champions against the Legion winners in other states, and a try made to place the Cornhusker ex-service players on the top of the list.

The Nebraska Legion is also developing other sports among its members, notably wrestling and boxing. Amateur post champions are engaging representatives of other posts to determine the best of each class in the districts and state. Nebraska is given credit for being the first American Legion department to organize thoroughly for athletics.

The week beginning January 16 has been designated "Employment Week," by the Nebraska American Legion, through the chairman of its employment committee, Lester I. Dunn of Lincoln. During this time the 20,000 Legionnaires in the state are pledged to spend time and put hard work to secure a position for every ex-service man out of a job. It is estimated that there are over a thousand veterans of the World War in Nebraska who have been unable to find employment, with many of them in serious need.

Posts of the American Legion, members or friends of the organization, may win an official citation and letter of accommodation from the national commander, Hanford McNider, for noteworthy service to the Legion, in plans just announced. All Legion departments will keep a monthly list of posts or individuals who perform some outstanding piece of work which reflects credit upon the ex-service order, and they will receive a personal letter from the national commander.

With 10,754 posts in forty-eight states, five territorial possessions, and twenty foreign countries, the American Legion enters upon the year 1922. During the past twelve months, 776 posts were added to the organization, according to a report given out by the national adjutant.

The Legion is pushing its way into every corner of the earth. Eleven of the posts added during 1921 were outside of the boundaries of the United States. These were: Fort Gibbon, Tanana, Alaska; Andernach, Germany; Guatemala City, Guatemala; Luke Field, Hawaii; Escondido, Lower California, Mexico; San Juan, Porto Rico; Loanda, Angola, Potugese West Africa; Tela, Spanish Honduras; Maracaibo, Venezuela; Warsaw, Poland; and Constantinople, Turkey.

The greatest increase was noted through the middle west and southwest, statistics at national headquarters show. Texas led the list of new posts with 60, followed by Kansas with 57, and Ohio 55. The eight states in order were: Pennsylvania, Iowa and Mississippi (tied), Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Indiana, Nebraska, and Michigan.

"The Legion's growth during 1921 is remarkable in view of the deplorable unemployment among ex-service men," said Adjutant Bolles. "With the return to normal conditions we expect to double our membership."

President Harding has received the first consignment of cherries from the Argentine to arrive in the United States. They were brought from Rio de Janeiro by the steamship American Legion, which broke all records between that port and New York by a 10-day run.

Another fine thing about education is that it keeps the youngsters out of mischief and gives the mother a little peace at home.

Another reason why freckles win out in love affairs is, nobody doubts their genuineness, while calcimine gives itself away.

Agricultural College
Has Recipe for Making
Plain Pork Sausage

The following recipe is recommended by the Nebraska Agricultural college. It is considered essential that the meat be salted in the proportions indicated, but the seasoning may be varied to suit the taste.

4 lbs. lean pork trimmings.
5 level teaspoonfuls salt.
6 level teaspoonfuls powdered sage.
2 level teaspoonfuls white pepper.
1 level teaspoonful ground cloves.
1 level teaspoonful sugar.
1 level teaspoonful baking soda.
½ cup cold water.

The meat should be about one-fourth fat. As trimmed out by the average man, however, there will be enough fat without adding any extra.

Grind the trimmings. Spread out one-half the meat and sprinkle the seasoning on top. Place the other half of the meat above the seasoning; then grind again, thus thoroughly mixing the slices. Put the sausage in a pan and add the one-half cup of cold water. Mix the knead thoroughly with the hands until the sausage becomes very sticky and dough-like. The two grindings, the water and the kneading with the hands make it possible to slice the sausage and to fry it without having it crumble. Stuff in casing or muslin or pack tightly in a granite pan or fry it down for future use.

This recipe will give a well seasoned sausage. The sage may be reduced to suit the taste.

SERMONS IN STONES.

The pile of flints still to be broken was a very large one, thought the stone-breaker, as he gazed at it disconsolately between his bits at a large sandwich of bread and cheese. A minister came along and gave him a cheery "Good morning," remarking afterward that he had a deal of work to get through yet.

"Aye," said the eater, "them stones are like the Ten Commandments." "Why so?" inquired the genial parson.

"You can go on breaking 'em," came the reply, "but you can't never get rid of 'em."—Christian Evangelist.
