

The annual retreat for the students of St. Agnes academy was conducted last week by Rev. M. F. McNulty, S. J., of St. Ignace College, Chicago. The exercises were very well attended and each hour message found a responsive chord in the hearts of the retreatants.

"I were long to tell of all he told, Of love so warm and hearts so cold; Or how he made our sinful lives stand fast before our shameful eyes, He warned us all with heavy word, By all he ever saw and heard: 'He Sunbeams bright; be kind and just, And rise you will or fall you must Go forth, shed 'light on the wordly through You know what's right, you know what's wrong."

The little Sunbeams will long remember Father McNulty's many lessons of filial piety and devotion. At the close of the Retreat a resolution was adopted to form a Literary club for the dissemination of Catholic Literature.

Last Thursday Mother Henrietta surprised the academy with a short visit which was greatly enjoyed by who know her great interest in the work of the academy. On Saturday the Expression class gave the following program in her honor:

Song, Minims.
Reading—"Dess You Wonders Who I Am," Frances LaMar.
Reading—"Take a Tatak and Wait," Kathleen Blak.
Reading—"Daisy's Practice Hour," Helen Hylton.
Piano Solo—"Valse Caprice," Mina Wilson.
Reading—"Ma and the Auto," Philomene Daily.
Gypsy Chorus from the "Bohemian Girl," Glee club. Accompanist, Madeline Brennan.
Reading—"The White Rose," Vivian DuRay.
Reading—"What 'goin' to Do," Margaret Brennan.
Hymn—"Oh, What Could My Jesus Do More," Glee club.

Mother Henrietta left Sunday morning for Columbus, O., where she is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barnett returned Monday from New York, where Mr. Barnett has been buying for his store.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST.

The pre-Easter campaign is starting out with splendid interest. Twenty-eight more at Bible school would have broken our former highest record. Keep up the good work by making each meeting the best that has been.

Next Sunday will be "Entire Family Day." See who will be the largest family at Bible school and morning worship.

Wednesday evening at the regular mid-week meeting of the church, after the devotional period, the minister will lead the study in the book, "Training for Personal Evangelism." You will want to avail yourself of the privilege of studying this book and being in the class. You will be welcome whether you have a book or not.

On Friday evening the young people will give the play, "The Early Bird." They have been working on this for many weeks and will afford you an evening of spice and fun. The play consists of three acts and uses fourteen characters. The admission is 25 cents for children and 35c for adults. Come early and get the best seats. The orchestra will furnish music for the play.

S. J. EPLER, Minister.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The woman's foreign missionary society will meet with Mrs. E. C. Barker Wednesday afternoon.

An important meeting of the official board will be held in the church Wednesday evening at 7:30. Plans for entering the new church will be taken up.

The choir will meet at the home of Mrs. Nellie Wilson Thursday night. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Prettyman will be hostesses.

A still larger congregation was present Sunday night and listened attentively to the sermon on "The Dance of Death." The last one on "Dancing Christians," will be given next Sunday night.

M. C. SMITH, Pastor.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

"The friendly church with the friendly grip."
A poem by Wianfred Tibbits of the Baptist church:
Are you a stranger in our city,
Does the strangers seem so drear,
That you find yourself wishing
You were any place but here?
Do you long to get acquainted
With real friendly folks you know,
Then, listen, and I'll tell you
Just the very place to go.
The Baptist church, this city,
On Seventh and Laramie
That sends to you the greeting
Come, welcome, unto me.
There you'll find your troubles fading
In that friendly crowd of cheer,
And you'll go away light-hearted
Thanking God he sent you here.
When you meet the faithful pastor,
You will know you met a man,
And will find him ever eager
To do good where'er he can.
There's a jolly crowd of young folks
In their ranks there's work to do,
If you'll only come and meet them
They'll be glad to welcome you.
If your youthful days are over,
Don't dismay, you're needed too,
And there's classes there to serve you,
And a welcome that's true blue.

High points in Sunday's services. One of the largest Sunday school for some time. A packed house in the morning. Large men's Bible class.

Two fathers and a mother presenting themselves for membership into the church. Continual revival spirit in all the services. Orchestra increasing in efficiency and numbers. Best outlook for best work we have ever had. Everybody doing their best to co-operate.

B. J. MINORT, Pastor.

CAST YOUR VOTE ON THE LOCATION OF THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Fill out this coupon, mark your preference on it, and bring or mail it to The Herald office. The city council and the school board will be guided by public opinion, and if you have any preference, now is the time and this is the way to make it known.

Name _____
Street Address _____

I am in favor of placing the new high school building in the center of the street at Twelfth and Box Butte avenue, with the street closed and a roadway to the east.

I am opposed to the above location. I prefer the site to the west of the present high school, or (give location you would like to see chosen) _____

RANDOM SHOTS

Some of these days we are going to get Pere Cogswell out to one side and see if he can't get us admitted to the next state convention of the retail clothiers. Here's what the news report says happened, and it has piqued our curiosity and aroused our interest, not to say enthusiasm:

"Clothiers attending the seventh annual convention of the Nebraska Retail Clothiers' associations at the Fort-telle paid more attention to E. J. Berg, display expert for Burgess-Nash, when he was draping evening gowns and wraps on a living model, young and good looking, too, than they did to the rest of the proceedings during yesterday afternoon."

And here we've been thinking that a retail clothiers' convention had about as much kick to it as a district meeting of the Y. M. C. A.

This teachers us, brothers, that we never can tell by the looks of a frog how far he can jump.

They tell us there was a vaudeville show on the last night, and that Irene's little sister was there.

BALLADE OF SKIRTS.

(Nebraska City Press)
We didn't like the trailing kind,
We said 'twould spread disease;
We flout the ones they're wearing now—
The ones up to their knees.
We didn't like the ones with hoops;
They kept us too far off.
And when they wore the bustle kind,
Again us men did scoff.
The "slit" one we could never bear,
We said it looked queer.
And when they wore the X-ray kind
Of course we dubbed them "gay."

They've worn them long; they've worn them short;
They've worn them narrow, wide;
They've worn them loose; they've worn them full;
They've worn them tight as hide.
They've worn them thick; they've worn them thin;
They've worn them ruffled, plain.
But I'm compelled by truth to state
Each one brought down disdain.
I think they've worn them every way
That human brain could plan.
But each and every one of them
Has been condemned by man.

Maybe Paddy of Sidney furnishes the Telegraph a good bit of its legal business. Otherwise, the criticism of the Elks vaudeville show passed the bounds of decency as well as common courtesy. Of course, if a good customer with a sore head insists, the boot-licking editor usually complies.

Funny thing about it is that the Alliance folks actually wanted to do their bit toward getting an Elks lodge for Sidney. Now about the only thing they'll be willing to help that town get is a morgue.

If we were Harp, we'd take that show to Chadron and get an unbiased opinion. Chadron isn't peeved over road matters, and its citizens are all big enough to take a joke. George Snow and two or three other fellows can't be enough to take two jokes without showing the white of their teeth in a snarl.

We'll gamble that even Scottbluff wouldn't pull that sort of stuff.

A RARE INSTANCE.

(York Republican)
Judge Good was relating the experience of one of his friends who made a visit to Texas to see what prospect a republican lawyer had for setting up business in that land of the great unwashed. He made some inquiries to learn where the republican headquarters were located. The southern barrister whom he sounded out informed him that there was no such thing. "There isn't," the northerner queried "why not?" "We won't allow it, sah," was the reply. "Then where is the democratic headquarters?" pressed the visitor. "There is none," replied the southerner; "we don't need it." The inquirer was still unsatisfied. "Did you ever elect a republican to the bench down here," he asked. "Once," replied the disciple of A. Jackson, "and darned if he didn't do pretty well."

Market week in Omaha is to be featured by initiation into the mysterious rites of the "Coo-coos". There are a few good cuckoo candidates here in Alliance who need to get further instruction.

Some reflection on civilization, isn't it, when a committee for such an important affair as this market week celebration feels it incumbent to advertise that there will be no "rough stuff."

ALL IS LOST SAVE HONOR.

The editor of the Rushville Standard presents his compliments thusly to the editor of the Hay Springs News, following some discussion over the distribution of county printing:

"Well, Benny, you old walrus, you suppose you have said something. You are a sweet-scented ass to take your pen in hand and hand out to your 165 subscribers such dope as heads this column. Don't think for a moment, Schotter, that the Standard is 'weeping, wailing or gnashing its teeth' because of the loss of the printing. We have lived beyond that."

The reply, in Mr. Benschotter's most scathing style:

"The editor of the Standard can't get over it. Did you listen to his brain storm last week? He is still walling about that county printing. According to his idea no one has a right to any of it but him. He even got so silly as to call us names. He got so mad that he wet on his pencil point and gave the county commissioners a roasting. The commissioners are laughing at him, and so are we. Ha, ha, ha. He got so foolish that he intimated that the News had only 165 readers. Of course he didn't say so right out but he just coted like he would like to have the public believe it. We don't know nor don't care what the circulation of the Standard is, but we do know that if its editor is as rotten as the guess he is making as regards the circulation of the News he must smell louder than he can bray. All Rushville must be stunk out of house and home by the time. Rushville citizens sure must be proud (?) of this wind jammer and truth twister."

ANOTHER COUNTY HEARD FROM.
(Gordon Journal.)

Brother Mayea of the Rushville Standard says, "Joie of the Gordon Journal made an ass of himself over the county printing." Think how much more of an ass he would have been had the Lord had a hand in it, as he did in the case of Mr. Mayes.

TODAY'S BEST STORY.

Willie was in a bad temper. His mother had just discovered that there was not a clean nightshirt ready for him to wear.
"Never mind, Willie," she said, consolingly. "You will have to put on one of your sister's nightgowns tonight."
"What a girl's?" snorted Willie drawing himself up haughtily.
"Yes. Why not?" asked mother in surprise.
"I won't wear it!" declared the small boy. "I'd rather go to bed raw."

Hemingford is ambitious to build a town hall. A jail is greatly needed, the Ledger says, as now the cop has to bring his prisoners to Alliance or else sit up with them.

In these days, when bootleggers have lots of money, we'd think a cop would prefer to sit up with his prisoners, provided he can entice 'em to play poker. It's the chance of a lifetime.

Many Meetings Scheduled for the Baptist Church

A number of meetings are scheduled for the Baptist church this week, including the following:
Monday evening the carmen's union meets.
Tuesday at 1 p. m. the farmers' union stockholders meet in the social parlors. At 7 p. m. the choir will meet for practice upstairs and at 7:30 the boiler-makers' union downstairs.
Wednesday at 1 p. m. there will be a joint meeting of farmers and railroad men to form a permanent civic forum of some kind to keep tab of political and economic questions. In the evening there will be a George Washington birthday program of music and speaking, with several local union men as speakers. The main address of the evening will be given by Rev. H. T. Clark of Torrington, Wyo., a former pastor of one of Iowa's laboring men's churches. The public is invited.

Perhaps the time is approaching when submarines will be used exclusively for soul-harrowing escapes by cinematograph.

A doctor claims to have discovered the secret of happy marriages. If that doesn't get him a big practice nothing will.

ESSAY ON EDITORS

A little boy in a neighboring town was asked by his teacher to write an essay on "Editors" and here is the composition, as published by an exchange:

"I don't know how newspapers come to be in this world. I don't think God does, for he hain't got nothing to say about them in the Bible. I think the editor is one of the missing links you read about, and stayed in the bushes until after the flood and then came out and wrote the whole thing up, and has been ever since. I don't think he ever dies. I never heard of one getting licked. Our paper is a mighty good one; pa ain't paid his subscription since it started. I ast pa if that was whk the editor had to suck the juice out of snowballs in winter and go to bed when he washed his shirt in the summer. And then pa took me out in the wood shed and licked me awful. If the editor makes a mistake, folks say he ought to be hung, but if a doctor makes a mistake he burries them and peple dassent say nothing because doctors can read and write Latin. When the editor makes a mistake there is a law suit and a big fuss, but if the doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a yard long without knowing what it means; and if an editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for the visit, but if the editor goes, he gets a charge of buckshot. When the doctor gets drunk, its a case of being overcome by the heat, and if he dies its from heart trouble. When an editor gets drunk, its a case of too much booze, and if he dies its the jimjama. Any old college can make a doctor, a editor has to be born."
