The gist of Cardinal Manning's recent utterances on socialism is as follows: "All men are bound by natural obligations, if they can, to feed the hungry. But it may be said that granting the obligation in the giver does not prove a right to the receiver. To which answer that the obligation to feed the hungry springs from the natural right of every man to life, and to the food necessary for the sustenance of life. So strict is this natural right that it prevails over all positive laws of property. Necessity has no law, and a starving man has a natural right to his neighbor's bread."

A New York Central conductor found $400 on his train just before the holidays. Learning of its owner, he wired him to be on hand on the return trip and get the money. After the amount was handed over and found to be intact the loser took a half dollar from his pocket and handed it to the veteran of the punch. Without hesitation the latter held up his hand—to the engineer—and shouting: "All aboard! Sorry I haven't any change for that," stepped aboard the train, leaving the half-dollar in the hand that had tendered such a munificent reward for the return of $400.—Buffalo Express.

My brother also was very low with Malaria Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. An satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life." Mr. D. L. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying, "He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters." "Don Cameron says he is not a presidential aspirant, but that he will guarantee a majority of 100,000 in Pennsylvania for Senator Sherman in case that eminent statesman shall be selected as the candidate." Anti-Blaine papers all over the country are experiencing a great deal of satisfaction in publishing the above, in substance. These anti-Blaine howlers seem to have forgotten that it is only a few months since Don Cameron expressed the opinion that Blaine could carry Pennsylvania by 150,000 majority. It should be remembered that Don's conviviality sometimes leads to an exuberance of spirits which causes him to place a high estimate upon the Cameron influence in Pennsylvania. And it should be borne in mind that Don Cameron is not the old Simon Cameron, the old patriarch of Pennsylvania republicanism never peddles his estimates of republican strength in the Keystone state.—Star Post.

North Carolina is sparsely settled and it is a strange fact that although it is three times as large as Massachusetts, its largest city, Wilmington, boasts of only 20,000 inhabitants.

What am I to Do. The symptoms of Biliousness are unhappily but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, also he has an excellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events. The digestive system is wholly out of order and Bilemos or Consumption may be a symptom or the two may alternate. These are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache, acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower. It cost but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

The question of wages is the core of the tariff argument. The steel rails manufactured here stand for better paid labor than the English rails. At every stage of the complex process of converting the raw material of the mines into the finished product, higher wages have been paid to American workmen than the corresponding classes of foreign workmen receive. The tariff protects the mine, the handlers of the ore in shipment by rail or water, and every group of mechanics employed in furnace, foundry or rolling mill. At every stage labor is protected and wages are raised above the European level. The finished product represents better paid labor all the way from the mine to the road bed where the rails are laid. The tendency of Democratic legislation is to lower the standard of wages in every field of industry. Republican legislators have always protected American labor and will continue to do so.—New York Tribune.

Are There Other Habitable Worlds? Prof. Grant in Good Words: Here again we have only conjecture to guide us. With respect to the bodies constituting the solar system, which from their comparative proximity to the earth might be supposed to furnish a solution to this problem, careful observations have heretofore offered no indication whatever of the existence of life upon their surfaces. But life in some form or other may, notwithstanding, exist on those bodies. We must bear in mind that the planets are in all probability in various stages of development. It may be reasonably presumed that the planets Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune, in consequence of their enormous bulk, have cooled down more slowly than the earth and the other smaller planets of the solar system, and are therefore less advanced as abodes of animated existence than the latter are. But even in the age of the earth it must be admitted to have revolved millions before life appeared on its surface, and even after it had cooled down and become the abode of animated existence it produced, during countless millions of years more, life only in its lowest forms. The existence of man is but of yesterday. This is an instructive lesson. It teaches us that although man exists on the earth's surface it does not follow that beings of the same order of intelligence as man exist upon all the other planets or even upon any of them. Upon some of the planets life may not have yet come into existence; upon others life may exist, but in a less advanced stage than upon the earth; and the same remark is obviously applicable to the numberless bodies of the starry firmament. The state of the question then is this: We cannot pronounce positively upon the existence of life anywhere beyond the planet upon which we dwell. But reasoning from analogy, we may suppose that certain, if not all, of the other bodies of the planetary system, which in so many respects bear a strong affinity to our own planet, are in like manner the abodes of life in some form or another, and that similarly there are countless bodies in the stellar regions which may also be abodes of life. This is a question, however, upon which the noble science of astronomy, so distinguished for the exactitude of its conclusions, does not venture to pronounce a positive opinion, seeing that there exists no sure basis of facts available for its consideration. In these circumstances it is left for each individual inquirer to form his own opinion independently of any support derived from scientific authority.

The Queen Seriously Ill. This does not refer to the Queen of England, but to the queen of a household at Lincoln, Neb., where she rules by common consent. "In March last, when six months old, our baby was taken down with what the physicians called 'bronchitis' (an ordinary cold) and was very sick for two weeks; also seemed to be filled deep in the chest with phlegm which we were unable to loosen; she could not lie down at all, but had to be held upright else it caused her to cough severely; the physician did not give her any relief, although the prescriptions were changed every day and sometimes twice a day; the treatment was continued about ten days and we finally determined to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We obtained a bottle and after giving a few doses she was relieved, breathing easier and throwing off the phlegm and getting to sleep, settling well in a few days and we believe we owe her life to the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Our oldest girl is subject to croup and has had several severe attacks but the Cough Remedy has brought her out all right with but two good doses and we would not go over night without a bottle in the house.
