THE APPORTIONMENT. The several counties are entitled to representation as follows, being based on the vote cast for Hon. Samuel Maxwell, supreme judge, in 1887. giving one delegate-at-large to each county, and one for each 150 votes, and major fraction thereof

The law provides that property shall be assessed at its full value, and directs how that valuation shall be ascertained. An agreement among asssors that property shall be assessed at one-fifth or one-sixth of "actual cash value" is clearly a violation of the intent of the law, and would it not also be a violation of obligation? They are sworn perform their duties according to small grain. law. What the law contemplates by requiring the annual meeting of assessors is that they shall agree upon the value of the various classes of property to be assessed, that there may be uniformity, as near as possible, in their valuations. For instance, an average work horse may be worth $75 in the estimation of one man, while another may not consider him worth more than $40. To agree upon a fair and uniform valuation is the undoubted intention of the meeting. To agree to assess him at a certain per centage of his valuation is an error, of which we hope the assessors of this county have not been guilty.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 28-The Burlington engineers and firemen practically cut away from their leaders and their grievance com-mittees to-day, and took hold of the strike with a firm grip. The 72d year at the time of death. He reason for this action was that the was appointed chief justice of the more impulsive had become impaunsuccessful methods of Chief Arthur. They wanted to strike the nail on the head, so they appointed committees and sent them out to work. Every road running into Chicago was visited, and pledges were obtained from all the switchmen and switch engineers that under no circumstances would they move a Burlington car. Later in the day a mass meeting was held. Delegates from all of the roads were present and the pledges made to the committee were repeated. To-night the strikers claimed that an inflexible boycott against the ers Belton and Walker being pre- Burlington cars had been established, and they were positive that not a Burlington car would be moved to-morrow in Chicago except on Burlington tracks. The strikers intimated that further steps in the great struggle with the Burlington would be taken in a day or two. All this, it has been given out, has been done in defi-ance of Chief Arthur and other leaders. Such statements, however. are not generally believed. The ostensible revolt is looked upon by many as simply a covert change in the strikers' plans of campaign. The result of the new tactics may not have been seen for the present. The Burlington is not ready to exchange freight with the connecting lines. When the company is sufficiently equipped with switchmen to again offer its cars to other roads the real battle begins.
