Beginning Sunday, July 1st, the Presbyterian Sunday-school will be held at 9:45 in the morning.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give an ice cream and literary entertainment on the evening of July 4.

The ratification meeting Tuesday was a rattling affair and demonstrates that there are no flies on the North Platte Republicans.

Messrs. Keith, Ellis, Price and Randall went up to the Blackwood Saturday and returned the next day with a fine string of pike and catfish.

M. J. Cronin's horse broke loose the other day and took a lively spin, doing some damage to the buggy to which he was attached.

Two dozen single and young married people went to Burke's grove on a picnic excursion Tuesday. They all express themselves as having had a good time.

The work of laying the water mains has progressed very rapidly during the past week. With continued good weather the work will soon be completed.

A fair selling electric belts is being given at the corner south of the post office. He draws a crowd by means of two negro minstrels who are very good in their line.

Increasing business has justified Joe Morsch in adding another chair to his shop, and three first-class barbers will hereafter wait upon the waits of customers.

Sid D. Robb very kindly remembered THE TRIBUNE last Saturday by presenting a mess of new potatoes, the first we noticed brought into town from this vicinity. They were very nice.

We understand petitions have been presented for the extension of the water mains on west Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth streets and that the petitions have been favorably acted upon.

A little jaunt on the south side of the river gave the writer the information that corn, though perhaps a trifle backward, has a good color, and from this, with necessary rain, will whip 'er up lively.

The Hyannis Tribune says the Ogallala Cattle Company drove 4,000 steers through that place a few days ago enroute to the Rosebud Agency where they will be slaughtered for the use of the Indians.

P. H. McEvoy has secured the services of one of Omaha's best watch repairers and engravers, who will attend to that department at Mac's new stand. The gentleman will be here some time next week.

Harrison and Morton suit me," remarked a prominent Democrat Tuesday evening, "and they will get my vote." There are thousands of Democrats making just the same remark in different parts of the Union.

The Catholic fair closed Saturday night after five nights of pleasant and profitable work for the church, the net receipts reaching about seven hundred dollars. This sum will be applied to church debts.

H. Otten is now moving his stock of boots and shoes to the large room lately vacated by R. & S. It will make an excellent opportunity to carry a larger stock than heretofore.

There are a few schools in the county superintendent has failed to visit, but no through any fault of his. One of the points is so lame that it is impossible to drive it, and consequently his failure to call on the few schools he has not yet visited.

Messrs. Dillon, Foley, Bentley and Dyer took a trip to the head of the Irrigating ditch Tuesday. The wing dam which the company is having constructed will soon be completed and will insure a much larger flow of water in the ditch.

The R. & S. stock of clothing and furnishing goods having been sold to a firm in Emporia, Kansas, they were shipped to that point the early part of the week. Mr. Rosenfeld goes to Chicago with a view of engaging in the wholesale cigar trade.

M. H. McEvoy is the most enthusiastic Democrat in town, having sufficient faith in Grover to believe that he can carry the entire north with the exception of Pennsylvania and Nebraska. About four months hence, he will clothe himself in sack cloth and ashes.

As the soldiers were on the march Sunday forenoon, a train of cars passed while they were in the narrow passage between Stoddard's fence and the road. While most of the horses could be controlled, several of the most spirited were cut on the bars of the wire fence. Such little incidents are just fun for the soldiers.

James Hopkins, living near Dickens, this county, missed two of his horses last Saturday night and concluded they had been stolen. He came to town and informed the officers who were just in the act of offering a reward for them when news was received Wednesday that they had been found, the horses having strayed from home instead of having been stolen.

Sam'l. Hicks, of Elsie, Perkins county, a loyal and true blue Republican was in town Thursday and paid his respects to this office. He says that a Harrison and Morton case was formed in Elsie and that the town and precinct will roll up a big Republican majority. He also stated that Pearson & Henderson, both former North Platte boys, are doing exceptionally well with their general store at Elsie. It is thought that some one fired a revolver in the west end of town and the bullet went crashing through a window in the house occupied by F. E. Barry. The ball lodging in a room, the family were wakened at the time and did not know of the affair until morning, but parties living in that neighborhood say they heard a pistol shot about one o'clock Tuesday night, some one fired a revolver in the west end of town and the bullet went crashing through a window in the house occupied by F. E. Barry.

Wild Cat Sam, who is a living monument of truth, relates that while fishing along the banks of the river the other day he was suddenly overcome by dizziness and fell into the water. When he recovered consciousness he found himself lodged against a low-hanging over seventy feet below where he fell in. Sam thinks it was a remarkable narrow escape from drowning.

HARRISON AND MORTON

An Enthusiastic Ratification.

Over One Hundred Torches in the Procession.

Republicans Alive with Enthusiasm.

Scarcely had the torches flashed over the wires on Monday that Harrison had been nominated before there was a universal and eager sentiment expressed for a ratification meeting but the Vice President not being nominated until evening the meeting was necessarily postponed.

On Tuesday an immense number of badges—the Stars and Stripes the emblem of the party in this campaign—were printed at this office, bearing the names of Harrison and Morton. Every Republican is anxious to show his colors, that for Nationality and Protection to American Institutions and Homes.

Although there had been but little time for preparation, a very large crowd of the streets were thronged by large crowds anxious to take part in the demonstration. The North Platte band had been engaged, which discouraged patriotic airs at the corner of Sixth and Spruce.
