W. L. McGee has moved his stock of hardware to the room formerly occupied by the Palace Clothing Co.

The Methodist Sunday school held a picnic at Hall's grove on the north side Thursday, the school turning out in force. A pleasant time was had by the participants.

The crop of weeds along the sidewalks and street margins are now ready to be harvested. This is one instance where the harvesters' great and the laborers' few.

The premium list of the Jefferson county fair to be held Sept. 17th to 20th, is the first to reach this office. It is an artistically printed pamphlet coming from the job office of Smith & Seelye Fairbury.

Wm. Emerson has been appointed janitor at the court house and will have charge of the park. Under his energetic management much improvement will be made about the building and yard.

The Wallace Mail says that if the season continues favorable, corn in the southern part of the county will average forty to fifty bushels to the acre, and that the acreage is twice that of any preceding season.

Melons are slow in ripening this year, the soil being full of moisture and the weather cool. Fred Kade, the most successful melon raiser in the county, informs us that it will be two weeks yet before his melons are ripe.

W. H. Dudley has been appointed superintendent of construction of the Woodmont street bridge. Being interested in having a good bridge, he will require a strict compliance with the terms of the contract.

Several fields of wheat in the west part of the county south of the South Platte river, are reported to have averaged twenty-eight bushels to the acre. Western Nebraska is not out of a great corn country but a wheat country.

The annual report of County Superintendent Langford, making a pamphlet of 43 pages, was issued from this office last week. The mechanical work on the pamphlet received high praise, but not so much as the literary work. As a writer Mr. L. is versatile and fluent.

One by one the vacant business lots are being built upon and in a year or so the trade center will expand into what is now residence portions of the city. Locust street will before long be as completely built as Spruce. Neville's new building will be a good starter for both Sixth and Locust.

Our attention has been called to the peculiar phrasing of an item relative to the theft of some calves from Mr. Golvin at Fallon a short time ago. If by a contortion of words the inference is drawn that Mr. Golvin is included among the thieves, the inference is erroneous. No such intimation was thought of or intended.

You will hear the gong as it will pass your house.

Our hunting men in quest of sport should make a trip to Wallace, where game is said to be abundant. In that lagoon a short distance south of that village, there are large numbers of ducks, snipe of various kinds and other birds. One gentleman killed three large mallard ducks at one shot. A hunting party should be organized.

Talking about base ball, a very interesting game is likely to be in the near future, the men employed in land office block offering to play any nine which can be raised in the city. Dowd, Williams and Baker, three of the best players in North Platte are employed in the said block, and these with Rice, Fox, Forrest, Haley, Neville and Woods would make a strong team. The other nine would probably consist of Graves, Norton, Kehler, Mack, Burroughs, Rebusuan, Boyer, Sullivan, and well there are a number of others who play ball well. By all means let the game take place.

Albert Beck has just returned from a two months' trip on the Pacific coast, and like all Nebraskans he comes back satisfied that this is the best country that the sun shines upon. He has been in the Territory and has seen the country and the people, returning to Portland by steamship. He then looked at numerous places in that vicinity, and then went south by rail to California, inspecting the country in the vicinity of Sacramento and San Francisco. Beck is a good judge of country, and when he says a good thing he knows it; but he is satisfied that the whole country is puffed away beyond its capacity. Returning he came by way of El Paso, City, thence taking the D. & R. G. to Denver, thus seeing all of the best land of Utah and Colorado. After such a trip he is satisfied that this is a prosperous country and that the people are doing better than they are in a majority of the valleys on the Coast.

Mrs. J. Q. Thacker has a very beautiful cactus plant of the species cereus granulosus, night-blooming cactus, which she has carefully cultivated and trained for two years. On Friday afternoon it began to show indications of blooming that night—indeed for several days it had been evident from the rapid growth of the bud, that it was preparing to bloom. About six o'clock the buds commenced to open and by 10 it was fully expanded, forming a magnificent fully-white flower some seven or eight inches in diameter, the petals being about a half inch wide and six inches long. It emitted a delicate sweet fragrance, and at times filling the room. During the evening the neighbors were invited in to see the wonder, several of them staying until after 12 o'clock, an impromptu card party being organized. At midnight the flower seemed to have attained its largest expansion. The last observation was made by Mrs. Thacker at 4 o'clock, at which time it was nearly closed. At noon Saturday the whole bud and stem were limp and rapidly withering.

The surveyors of the M. R. N. P. Co. Denver road are at work in Custer county looking for a route from Arnold via Broken Bow to the eastern line of the county. After deliberation the influential men of the town concluded that the line should run through the city. The survey will soon be completed, when it is expected a proposition will be submitted. The people of Broken Bow realize the importance of the road, that it will place them on a through trunk line instead of being on a branch of the B. & M. The Missouri River North Platte and Denver road is gaining the confidence of the people every day, as they learn the character of the road and advance the price of property than any enterprise that has been inaugurated for years.

The subject of naming and numbering streets being under discussion, a gentleman suggests that the buildings in North Platte ought to be numbered. We suggest that this would be useless unless the weeds along the sidewalks are first cut.

The finances of the Modern Woodmen of America is certainly in a most gratifying condition, a circular sent out from the central office stating that no assessment for death claims would be made in August. This was also the case in July. The camp in this city has a membership of fifty and everything is in a prosperous condition.

Hugh Ralston made a trip out south during the week to take a look at a portion of his land. He returned highly pleased, as he was surprised at the change that is taking place in the character of the grass. Where but a few years ago was nothing but buffalo grass, the blue stem has almost taken complete possession. On land that he formerly thought only fit for grazing, he found fine farms, the large stacks of grain and big corn growing in the field attesting to the richness of the soil. Mr. Ralston brought out a gentleman representing a number of people and he was filled with admiration, returning with most favorable impressions. It is confidently believed that through the efforts of Mr. Ralston many settlers of means will soon be doing work below cost, a course that has sold a good portion of his land, but he still has about 100,000 acres in this and adjoining counties.

Look out for the Vienna Bakery Bread Wagon.

We have often been confronted with the statement by people doing business here but who apparently have very little desire for the development of the country, that they could get the same profit and expect other to do the same. The merchant should sell his goods at a reasonable profit. If he does otherwise, he is not only injuring himself, but ultimately his course is injurious to the general prosperity. Do business in a business way. Be willing to allow those from whom you buy to make a living profit, expecting when you sell to do the same. This makes business prosperous, and the extra profit you pay when your purchase will more than return to you in the general prosperity. It is poor policy to cripple the hand that furnishes you with sustenance.

The TRIBUNE knew what it was talking about last week when it said that the printers would defeat the lawyers in the game of ball played Thursday afternoon. The printers, however, had no such idea, and they were only by fine playing that they won the game. With the exception of three or four, the players were amateurs, and yet the score, which stood 8 to 9, was the lowest made on the city grounds this season. Among the many good features of the game were Risse's batting, Hoagland's base running and Neville's work on third base. The lawyers rightly think they can play ball and are so strong in their opinion that they have arranged to play the same game next Thursday afternoon. Dowd occupying the box for the attorneys. In the coming game bets should be made on both sides. The attorneys are not so sanguine of success, Dowd being a hard man to hit. The score by innings in Thursday's game was as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

A party of old Union Pacific land men, Judge Knox, Joe Ochs, McClivane and others, went out on Thursday. The report has been so far as Denver, going out over the Kansas Pacific. They found the country in western Kansas suffering from drought, many homesteaders being compelled to leave their land. The same condition prevailed along that line in eastern Colorado. Coming down through Nebraska, they were highly pleased to see the prosperous condition of Nebraska and were anxious to stop at this place and permit an inspection but their time would not permit. Mr. Ochs was a former large land owner here and still has considerable, not having disposed of all at the time the depression set in three years ago.

The date for the county fair this year was set some time ago, being Sept. 19 to 21st inclusive. The secretary, F. D. Nowell, is making preparations to have the premium list printed and placed in the hands of the people as soon as possible, the pamphlet may be looked for early in September. This is a glorious season and we expect the best exhibition of products ever made at any of our fairs.

Another Big Block. Wm. Neville has let the contract for a big brick block on Sixth street, sixty-six feet six inches front and eighty feet deep. The structure will consist of three large rooms for stores, two stories high. The block will front north commencing at the alley just west of the North Platte National Bank building extending west to the old Peniston residence on the corner. For substantial structure and architectural design, Mr. Neville proposes to make this block second only in North Platte to the National Bank buildings now in process of erection.

Powder 25 lbs. for $5 at McGee's. Hector Mart.

The gentleman whose name heads this article being about to leave my service and engage in business for himself, I feel it my duty to speak a few words of commendation to the public. Mr. Mart has been in the employ of the house over eight years, over six years of the time being with me. In that series of years he has been attentive and industrious, and faithful to every trust. As a gentleman worthy of patronage, I commend him to the public, with the wish that he may receive in his new business that large degree of success he so surely deserves.

Very respectfully, C. H. COPPER.

On Monday afternoon Rev. Clifton conducted the funeral services of Ella Kenison, at the residence of Mrs. W. She was born in Fairfield, Vermont, April 30, 1869, and died on Sunday last. She had resided in North Platte nearly a year.

Having secured a commodious room at a lower rental, W. L. McGee proposes to give his costumers the benefit of the saving, and will accordingly sell goods much cheaper than heretofore. When wanting good goods in the hardware line, cheap, you should call on him.

R. D. Thomson presents his business card in this issue of THE TRIBUNE. Mr. Thomson is the oldest builder in North Platte, and has erected some of the most substantial buildings here and elsewhere. His work is his best commendation.

The best powder is to be found at McGee's.

A horse belonging to Mr. Sloate and attached to a buggy got loose from his moorings Monday evening and made a lively run over the business part of town, resisting for quite awhile all attempts by the crowd to catch him. He finally became fagged out but not until the buggy had been upset and considerably damaged.

Last spring Col. Hupfer distributed among farmers a quantity of sugar beet seed received from the agricultural department. Reports are now being received, and are all highly favorable. Col. Hupfer is a man who knows something of the country and knows something of the requirements of the soil. He considers our soil superior for this purpose to any he has ever seen.

There are a number of Republicans in Lincoln county who do not take THE TRIBUNE. They are coming up and many subjects will be discussed in which they are interested and which will appear in no other paper. They should by all means take their county paper, that being the only source from which they can get the correct county news. We earnestly hope to see the names of all such enrolled on our subscription book at an early day.

The county commissioners had quite an interesting time last Wednesday on the occasion of their meeting to consider the Birdwood bridge. Bids were as follows: J. C. Whipple $4.80; T. Grant $4.75; C. F. Iddings $4.70; J. L. Means $4.32; and Geo. E. King Bridge Co., $4.00, all per lineal mile. An extra charge of $125 for each turn out. The contest was spirited, the controversy being on the plans and specifications. The law provides that bidders shall accompany their bids with plans and specifications, the supposition being that each will bid on his own plans and specifications. In this case the commissioners had decided in advance on the kind of a bridge they wanted and had invited bids on plans and specifications prepared by their order. The law does not prohibit this. Mr. Means bid on his own plans and he claimed that he was the lowest bidder under the law. After some discussion a vote was taken, resulting in giving the contract to the King Bridge Company of Des Moines. This company is a stranger in this county, although not in the State, having put up a large number of bridges of various kinds in different parts of the State. It is a responsible company and we believe the county will receive a bridge in accordance with the plans prepared. The distance across the river is 3,196 feet, and it will therefore cost $12,784. The amount voted was $14,000.

Miss Mary P. Hart of Logan, Ohio, who was elected a teacher in one of our public schools, arrived last week, accompanied by her brother, J. C. Hart, a young printer of St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Wm. Stewart, of Danville, Ill., aunt of Mrs. A. F. Streit, arrived in the city Thursday and will remain several weeks, she is accompanied by her daughter Bessie.

J. H. Johnson of Sunshine precinct was in town Saturday, being down as a witness in a final proof case. Mr. Johnson's home is within half a mile of the west line of the county on section 30, town 13, range 29. He is a member of the productive soil and fine crops, but Sunshine will not take a back seat for any district. It is in the front rank all the time.

W. W. Bowen a prominent attorney of Sandusky, Ohio, together with his family are visiting Mr. Bowen's father, W. T. Bowen of Morrow Flat. They arrived here last week and will probably remain for three or four weeks. This is Mr. B's first trip to the west and he is highly pleased with the country and its surroundings so far as he has been able to see and investigate.

If you want a good gasoline stove cheap, call at McGee's.

50,000 Bushels of Potatoes. Over fifty thousand bushels of potatoes will be raised this year along the line of the North Platte irrigation ditch. At the low price of twenty-five cents per bushel the farmers along the ditch will realize the sum of $12,500 for this crop alone. Don't try to farm in Lincoln county! And the above is believed to be an underestimate. There are over 200 acres and good judges believe they will grow 300 bushels to the acre. This is a good potato year and the uplands will run from 150 to 200 bushels, without irrigation of course. An approximate estimate of the crop in Lincoln county this year is 300,000 bushels.

A Big Field of Wheat. For several days a TRIBUNE reporter had heard reports of a fabulous yield of wheat from a field raised by Thos. Simpson on one of the ditch farms. One report had it thirty-five bushels to the acre, another forty-eight, and still another fifty-three. Concluding the best plan was to see Mr. Simpson himself, and learning that he was in town, after some search that gentleman was found.

"Mr. Simpson," said the reporter, "I understand you have raised fifty-three bushels of wheat this year on one acre of ground."

"Yes sir, better than that. From six acres lacking ten rods we threshed 320 bushels, minus measure. The question was raised that the machine measure was not correct, and a committee was appointed to determine the matter. It was found that the machine measure ran sixty-three pounds to the bushel, making the actual yield nearly fifty-four bushels to the acre. In addition to this, good judges believe that five bushels to the acre was shattered in harvesting. It was spring wheat of the Imperial variety, sown in drills and irrigated."

Mr. Simpson is prepared to substantiate the above facts by affidavits. There is another field along the line of the ditch that will equal this, and a good many that are very fine. The question of irrigation farming has one advocate. His long experience has taught him just when to put on the water and just how much water to use. This is very important.

Prices on hardware, tinware, stoves, etc. have taken a tumble at McGee's. Call on him and be convinced.

The annual reunion of old soldiers and sailors now residing in Nebraska commenced at Kearney Monday. A good many went from this county yesterday morning.

An alarm of fire during the noon hour brought the fire department out in quick order Friday. The fire proved to be in a house in the Third ward belonging to Chas. Stamp. It was soon extinguished, but the building was damaged to the extent of eighty or a hundred dollars.

Prut continues to be sold at high rates, only those with plethoric purses being able to indulge in the luxury. California peaches are sold at 13 cents per pound, or two pounds for 25 cents, $7.50 per bushel would be considered a pretty good price in some parts of the country; but we don't complain at this they have to come 3,000 miles. However 12½ for tomatoes seems a trifling exorbitant, and we are disposed to kick. By next week they will be cheaper and in a few weeks a drug in the market. All produce will soon be very cheap.

The delegates from the Baptist gathering at Leoniæ have returned and report grand progress in the work of the denomination during the past year. An association was formed of nine churches located along the line of this railroad, North Platte church being the most easterly one. Seven of these churches have been organized within a year and have an aggregate of more than 200 members. The denomination in this state has hitherto been confined to the eastern part, but it is now proposed to develop the "regions beyond." Their work in this state is making rapid strides. With more than 300 churches already, and with the home missionary society to supplement the work, surely a grand future is beginning to dawn upon the Baptists of this state. B. WICK.

Medicine Precinct. This part of the city was visited by a fine early rain last Saturday night. Corn will now make itself.

The rains damaged the railroad track some, a washout east of us causing some delay in train last Sunday.

Joseph Hawkins and family on returning from Somerset Sunday evening were caught in the rain and got a good ducking. They camped at A. H. Davis the remainder of the night.

Chas. Ross, of North Platte gave us a call last week. We were all glad to see him. We suppose he will be our next county surveyor, at least we hope so.

Dr. Smith made a flying trip to Curtis last week.

The foundation for a large store building is under way in Wallace. It will be a two story structure. H. P. Bishop will soon begin to build a residence there, as he has sold his farm and will go into the butchering business.
