the second place the treasurer's life would be in danger. A burglar would lay here for many months watching a favorable opportunity when the treasury was full to "hold him up" and march him to the safe at the point of a gun. Then if a treasurer cannot obey the strict letter of the law, and in this case he manifestly cannot, what is he to do with the money? He can't go into the loaning business; he must put the money some place where it will get into circulation as largely as possible, and the universal course is to deposit with the banks who are his bondsmen. The assertion that the banks charge usurous interest is another question. The Tribune's position that Mr. Os good has been and is a good treasurer is still unshaken. As a collector we believe he has been the best the county has ever had. Exercising forbearance, prudence and a degree of leniency consistent with duty, he has collected large sums of old delinquent personal taxes that were considered uncollectable, and many others who have not paid taxes tor years have paid in part or have promised and are making efforts to pay.
