Wallflet is rejoicing over the prospect of putting out a large quantity of sugar beets this spring.

We had quite an interesting scene here last week. Mr. Wm. Parcel and Mr. McEntire met in combat and each carried home a black eye. That is a hard way to serve the Lord.

Wm. L. Jolly of Somerset had the bad luck to fall in proving up, but on his return home was surprised to find an increase in the family in the shape of a ten pound girl. He says failing to prove up is of no consequence whatever. He is satisfied.

Nebraska News.

During the mining excitement in Keya Paha county the people of Springfield are determined not to be in the rear. A man named Tarkenton found a fine specimen of silver bearing rock in his cellar a few days ago.

Quong Lee, a Chinese laundryman of Plattsmouth, sent for his wife and children and when they arrived at San Francisco last week the custom house officials refused them admittance and he is out $195 as a consequence.

Steps are being taken looking to the sale of the York college property to the Ursuline Sisters of Peoria, Ill. If the property falls into the hands of this order, as it doubtless will, a college and a good one will be erected at once.

Tangle Hair, a prominent Cheyenne chief, accompanied by Holler-in-a-Hole-in-the-Air and others, were at Fort Robinson from Pine Ridge agency Monday, saying that they were starving and demanding more rations, which were given them.

Two boys named Brown and McMullen while herding cattle near Shelton ate what they supposed were articles, but which proved to be something of a poisonous nature, resulting in the death of Brown. McMullen received medical assistance and recovered.

The sheep at the corral are being sheared and the clip represents a nice sum of money for the owners, says the Lincoln Gazette. Say there are 8,000 sheep averaging five pounds of wool at twenty cents a pound. The profit from wool alone amounts to at least $3,000.

The Fairbury Gazette tells this: Two of William Tonnemaker's boys, who live east of town a few miles, went to school about 28,000,000, Hunt and Jackson, S. M. Barnes, George Galbraith and a number of others have also done an immense business.

Herman Ihde, who is sinking a hydraulic well for James Hunnel, northeast of this place, reports that he struck fifty feet of rock about 110 feet from the surface. He has put down a number of wells in the country north of town, but this is the first instance where rock of any importance has been encountered, though small layers are frequently found.

Red Cloud has been called to mourn the death of one of her oldest residents, having resided in Red Cloud for twenty years and supposed to be one hundred years of age, says the Superior Journal. It was a parrot owned by one Dr. Tutley. This parrot was years ago owned by Spaniards and when brought to the above city converted in Spanish altogether, Americanized and at the time of its death was quite a fluent talker of the English language and was one of the most valuable birds of that kind in America.

Mrs. Lydia E. Smith and children, of Blue Springs, were in the city Thursday night. They were on their way home from Custer county, where she had purchased a farm. Two years ago she sued the saloon keepers of that town for the loss of her husband through drink. She secured $2,000 damages. They carried it to the supreme court and tried to wear her out. The courts all decided in her favor. She now invests the money in land for the benefit of her boy, whom she says shall not live in towns under the influence of saloons.—Kearney Hub.

The troops at Fort Robinson are under orders to be ready to take the field at a moment's notice to intercept the Cheyenne Indians, who meditate leaving the Pine Ridge agency without permission. It is feared the old Indians cannot restrain the young bucks from committing depredations enroute. Chief Tangled Hair and forty-four Indians were at Fort and reported themselves in a starving condition. The commanding officer has ordered rations for them and they will be sent back to the agency. It is parties of this kind that it is feared will cause trouble.

Godlieb Kohn during the last week brought fourteen wolf scalps to the county clerk's office at Pawnee City, for which he received $50 as bounty from the county and state.

Sam Cramer, marshal of Covington, the wickedest town in Nebraska, has been arrested for robbing an old rag peddler. Cramer was held to answer to the district court. Fine marshal!

Now that mumps has run its course with the old as well as the young of Nebraska City, an epidemic of sore eyes has broken out. At present it is mostly confined to children of the public schools.

The two-year-old son of a man named Miller, living near Ansley, was bitten by a horse and all the flesh of one cheek taken out. It is thought the child will recover, but will be disfigured for life.

Some excitement prevails at Ames over the disappearance of the ten-year-old son of C. E. Harmon. He was afraid his father would punish him for some misconduct at school and concluded to flee from the wrath to come.

According to the Argus Table Rock would be a great point for a flouring mill, and a project looking toward the establishment of such an enterprise would meet the encouragement and support of all within the influence of Table Rock.

The fair to be held at Arnold this fall is assuming larger proportions than was at first thought possible and will be made to include all the features of a county fair. It is intended to hold the fair on the farm leased by Wm. Ray, which lies just east of town.

The business men of Grand Island have concluded to abandon the proposed extension to Omaha for the purpose of including in the last installment of machinery for their mammoth beet sugar factory as most of the machinery has already arrived.

A fault-finding exchange says Buffalo Bill seems to have caught the European fever. He has purchased a historical house in Naples, once owned and occupied by King Bomba. Bill had better return to his Nebraska ranch for a spell and fill up with some pure American air.

A. T. Bosley, living near Bower, in Jefferson county, is not worrying about the price of corn. Last year he sowed two acres of land onions, off of which he sold King Bomba. Bill had better return to his Nebraska ranch for a spell and fill up with some pure American air.

The Farmers' Alliance should beware of the gift-bearing Greeks who approach them in the character of Democratic politicians and free traders. Experience has fully taught that such persons are not to be trusted in any matter affecting the interests of the producing classes.—Cambridge Kaleidoscope.

We wish to impress upon our readers the importance of planting trees this spring. If each person who can do so will plant a few fruit, shade and ornamental trees, in a few years the appearance of this western country will be changed by hundreds—yes, thousands—of beautiful and useful groves, and we will have an abundance of home-grown fruit.—Elwood Record.

The Kearney Echo is no more, the sheriff assisting in the obsequies. This is the seventh newspaper that lays at rest in Kearney's newspaper graveyard, and all within nine years says the New Era. It is beginning to dawn on this community that it requires something more than manipulate check and an ability to contract to do any matter affecting the interests of the producing classes.—New Era.

Another feature in the liquor seizure case at Wayne has bobbed up and this time consternation has been carried to the official ranks. It seems that when the officials of that county destroyed the honors tag from the case, Perrine and Bursat at that time recently they neglected to destroy the stamps as required by law, and the United States marshal has been called to the scene to investigate the matter.

From military authority it is learned that Forts Niobrara and Robinson will each likely get $50,000 appropriations from the present congress for additional buildings in shape of officers' quarters, barracks, a chapel and school room, says the Valentine Republican. This will be the first time that the most complete in the west, and will give them a degree of prominence which insures their being garrisoned many years.

The case in the federal court, entitled Kit Carter Cattle Company vs. The Harlem Cattle Company, is decided. The decision read by Judge Dundy is in favor of the plaintiff, and the decree is for $92,000 and costs. The security in the chattel mortgages are based consists of herds of cattle, besides a trust deed for 6,000 acres of land included in various travel ranches. This is the first time the Nebraska federal court is concerned. The cross bills and various side issues were presented with all the force their respective advocates could command.

Kimball citizens are rejoicing. They have won a great victory, and one that will aid the growth of the town and the settlement of the country and make this a place of note. The proposition to bond the precinct for $24,500 to aid the construction of a water power and lake at Kimball was carried by a vote of 85 for to 11 against. Work will be commenced at once. It is estimated that the cost of the lake and water power plant will be nearly $60,000. The work will be done under the direction of the Kimball county water power and supply company, a company organized for that purpose.

The Forepaugh circus will go on this year under the old name, and one of the features of it will be a band of Sioux Indians, which were only secured after long diplomatic correspondence with two governments. They were secured in Canada by C. A. Davis and Major Yates. Davis is the one who secured the white elephant from Sam Baratum, and when he sets out to get a feature for a big show he "gets there." In speaking of the matter Mr. Davis said: "The application for permission to take a band of Sioux from their reservation in the United States was first preferred to General Morgan, Commissioner of Indian Affairs. He took the ground that it would be injurious to the morals and welfare of the Indians to travel with a circus, and cited the effect of travel on some of the Indians who went with Buffalo Bill in defense of his position. He prevailed on the president to refuse the request. We thought the effect would be different, because if the Indians could travel about and see the countless numbers of the white people they would conclude, as old Red Cloud did in 1868, when he came to Washington, that it was no use to fight, with a people who are as numerous as blades of grass. Red Cloud never left his reservation after he found out the extent of the white people. But General Morgan and the president remained firm, and we went over to Canada, and that required diplomatic correspondence by the yard with both governments, but we got the Indians. They insisted on written contracts, with their own signatures attached, which were made through interpreters, before they would sign a step.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS. Capt. Couch, the well known Oklahoma boomer, is dead. He died from the effects of a wound inflicted by S. C. Adams of April 4th.

Nebraska's delegation in Washington have agreed upon Hon. Robert Furnas of Brownville, Nebraska, as one of the commissioners of the Chicago Worlds Fair. No better selection could have been made.

Senator Paddock has procured a statement from the interior and treasury departments of the amounts due Nebraska on account of the sale of public lands. The most important item is that which shows there is due Nebraska $224,838, being five per cent of the sales of lands previously unaccounted for.

The supreme court of the United States has passed upon the habeas corpus case of Marshal Nagle who killed Judge Terry at Lathrop, California last year. The decision of the district court which held that Nagle simply did his duty in protecting the life of Justice Field was affirmed, and Nagle exonerated.

There is a bill before the house of representatives providing for the erection of postoffice buildings in all towns where the postal receipts amount to $5,000 per annum. While the bill would do away with a good portion of the surplus in the treasury, there is reason to believe the results would be beneficial to the general public. It would do away with the change in the location of the postoffice every time a new postmaster is appointed, at least.

The greatest corporations in the world is the association of stockholders of the world's fair. About five hundred thousand shares of stock is represented by all classes of citizens, from the day laborer to the wealthiest bondholder. At a meeting of the stockholders a few days ago forty-five representative men were selected as incorporators. The entire action will unite in one grand and harmonious effort to make this the most stupendous fair ever held in the world, even outstripping the Oriental splendor of the Paris exposition.

Uncle Sam to Buy at Home. There will be no British blankets bought for the war department or building material imported for new government quarters under the McKinley tariff bill. The present tariff act places on the list of articles that are to be produced in the United States provided the price of the same did not include the duty." This is omitted from the McKinley bill, and the effect will be to discourage government contractors who are the most patriotic of men, under the present law have an advantage over both the American producer and the honest importer. "The government," says Major McKinley in his report, "ought not to buy abroad what it can buy at home." This is very sound doctrine for people as well as government.

Moreover, the change referred to stops a peculiarly mean sort of fraud. Foreign contractors who are supplying the government under the present law take advantage of their freedom from duty to bring in an extra supply of the goods contracted for to sell in the market in competition with the products of American labor. The McKinley bill is good in what it does not as well as what it does contain.—N. Y. Press.
