CLEVELAND is making appointments with deliberateness that is actually painful to the democrats.

JEFFERSON declared the presidency to be "a splendid misery," and the democrats are likely to impress Cleveland with the bitter truth of the observation during his second term.

On Friday last the legislature of Washington adjourned with the seasonal dead-lock unbroken.

SENATOR ALLISON, whose figures are always correct, presents a statement showing that the appropriations of the last congress exceed those of its republican predecessor by $38,494,065.

A WASHINGTON correspondent to the State Journal says that Senator Padlock's pure-food bill was favored by seven-eighths of the members of the lower house of congress, and yet it failed of passage through Speaker Crisp's partisan rulings.

A NOVEL procession wended its way through the streets of Washington the other day carrying a banner which said: "Forty African democrats, none of whom want office." The Dallas (Texas) News sized them up by saying: "The general remark along the line was that they were forty liars."

The legislature has come to the relief of the supreme court, which has been overburdened with work for several years past, and passed a bill establishing a commission of three members to assist in the appointment of the supreme court, and receive a salary of $2500 each.

THE total fire losses in the United States and Canada last month were $9,919,900, or about $2,000,000 less than those of the corresponding month last year.

ISAAC P. GRAY, of Indiana, who wanted the vice-presidential nomination in the democratic convention and was beaten by Stevenson, has been appointed by Stevenson, the salary attached being $18,500. This is a much more lucrative job than that of vice-president and is also a post of honor.

JOHN HAWLEY and Louis Theodores have stated rather emphatically to THE TRIBUNE editor that they are not office seekers and did not want to be placed in that category. The correction is cheerfully made and they thus stand conspicuously before the public as two exceptions in the independent party of Lincoln county.

THE consolidation of Nevada and Utah, which will undoubtedly take place within the next two or three years, will give two senators to the democratic party for the Utah end will control the state politics. However, the republicans will not lose much by this operation, for Nevada went to the Weavers last fall on the electoral ticket, the senate and the house.

THE very talented young editor of the Era denounces as a falsehood THE TRIBUNE's account of the recent independent caucus at the Hawley House. There are men who are willing to make affidavits that men named in the article held a conference at the time stated, and as for proof of the selections for offices wait until the independent county convention next summer.

"LET no guilty man escape," were the instructions given by the immortal Grant in the investigation of Babcock and Joyce, of the St. Louis whiskey ring in 1879, and the same may be well applied to the present investigation of the state institutions. If there is anything rotten within the republican party of Nebraska let it be thrown out. The party will be better for the purging.

A GREAT many applications have been received for the Isabella souvenir coins recently granted by congress to the board of lady managers in recognition of woman's work in connection with World's Fair. The "Isabella" will be the first coin ever minted by the United States government bearing the portrait of a woman, and owing to their limited number—40,000—promises to command a large premium. Mrs. Palmer thinks they will be ready for sale May 1st.

THE Chicago Dispatch publishes a rumor that Morton has been appointed secretary of agriculture because he held a whip over Cleveland, being acquainted with an improper deal of Mr. Folsom, Mrs. Cleveland's father, made by Mr. Folsom when he was a member of the territorial legislature of Nebraska. The above paper asserts that Gov. Boyd stated: "Morton has declared time and again that he is not a member of the territorial legislature of Nebraska, helped to locate the secretary of that state at Omaha under a deal with real estate parties, by which more than half a million dollars were made, and which has since been inherited by Mr. Cleveland."

THERE are twenty applicants for the U. S. marshalship now held by Brad Slaughter, whose commission expires Saturday next.

THE republican party of Lincoln county will need no galvanizing this fall, hence THE TRIBUNE's battery will be used in the electrocution of independent candidates.

HOUSE bill No. 38, which carries with it a reduction of about twenty per cent in the freight rates, passed the house the latter part of the week and is now before the senate. It strikes THE TRIBUNE that this is an equitable reduction and the measure should pass the senate and receive the signature of the governor.

SPRINGING of the way in which the democratic caucus had looked after the populist senators in the selection of senate committees, a dispatch from Washington says the only man left out in the cold is Allen of Nebraska. He is much put out over the neglect he has experienced at the heads of the caucus committee, says the dispatch, and has poured his tale of woe into the ears of several sympathizing friends. He promised his constituents some results from his election, and now he is not even given the power to appoint a clerk or a janitor to dust his committee room.

THEASURER NEBEKER, republican, has resigned, and a count of the money in his charge will now have to be had. Eight years ago, when the republicans retired from the executive branch of the government after holding it for a quarter of a century, the count revealed a loss of just two cents out of the billions of dollars that had been handled by the republicans, but these two cents were found in a corner of one of the treasury vaults subsequently. When the democrats look over the accounts this time they will hardly find any greater "shortage."

Wallace Warblings. Wallace has some very chicken hearted young men. A handsome young lady living about nine miles in the country chanced to be in town and her company home was solicited by one of these amateur admirers. She finally consented and remained in town under his promises, which he failed to fulfill on account of the inclemency of the weather for two days he checked over to a young heryman who after traveling a few miles saw a black cloud arising and returned with the damsel, which compelled her to take the star route passage home the next day.

Yesterday the handsome waiter of the St Julien left for Omaha; an excess of admirers made life a burden for them in Wallace; and also to Mr. St Julien the genial landlord. The ladies were compelled to fire two of our prominent bachelors last Thursday night and two more on Friday night. The young men of Wallace should exercise better judgment. They should remember that biscuit shooters have a hard day's work to do every day and cannot afford to set and gamsuck a hovey of trundle bed trash every night, who lo around simply because they are treated gentlemanly.

Mrs. Palmer thinks they will be ready for sale May 1st.

THE BIBLE. [Written by W. H. Whitman, of Cold Brook, Ill., and published by request.] The first law God ever gave to man was the law of marriage: "Be fruitful, multiply and replenish the earth. There shall man beget his father and his mother and cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh." Gen. 2:24. Adam and Eve were created for life, which would have perpetuated their existence. They forfeited their right to the tree of life by disobeying this law. They were not to eat of the tree of life, for they ever had a child born. So all the race of Adam have been excluded from the tree of life by natural birth. They are not to blame. They are helpless. Jesus confirmed the law of marriage as recorded in Matt. 19:3-9. Paul also said: "Marriage is honorable in all." 1 Cor. 7:2-4. The law of marriage and a law of sacrifice continued from Adam to the flood; and were divine laws given by God to the children of men. And these laws were not abolished at the flood; but continued in the Patriarchal age. For Noah sacrificed unto the Lord on leaving the ark. Gen. 22:2. The law of marriage was renewed to Noah and his sons.—Gen. 9:1 to 7. These laws continued from the flood to the destruction of the children of men. And these laws were not abolished at the flood; but continued in the Patriarchal age. For Noah sacrificed unto the Lord on leaving the ark. Gen. 22:2.
