City Council Proceedings.

Three members of the council were somewhat dilatory Monday evening. and it was half past eight before Mayor Warner issued his usual command, "the council will now come to order." After the preliminary proceedings, councilman Dillard moved that hereafter when the police killed a dog the scalp of the animal should be shown the city clerk and that it be marked by the latter. The motion prevailed.

The ordinance committee, in whose hands the work of revising the occupation tax ordinance, handed in its report. The clerk read the ordinance, and after considerable discussion, a motion was made that it be adopted or rejected sections. The first section related to the increase of the tax on saloons and the placing of a tax of $250 on drug stores taking out a permit. Here a little wrangle took place. Herrod wanted to him vote seperately on the saloon and drug store; but the way in which the motion had been made, he could not do it. Dillard was in the same boat, hence when the call for a vote was issued these two gentlemen voted against the business trip to Fort Morgan, Colo., and adoption of the section, but it received the support of Fikes, Johnson, Schmalzdebate, and the ordinance as passed is published elsewhere. City clerk Sorenson, as instructed at the previous meeting, had prepared a nicely tabulated statement of the fiscal condition of the city, but owing to the lateness of the hour the report was not read. He did however, present to the council a statement showing that the College at Lincoln, is visiting friends in total of bills against the general fund to date amounted to $2,877,79. Presuming that the assessed valuation this year will be the same as last, and it will probably be greater, the general fund levy will produce available funds to the amount of $3,725. Deducting all the bills against the city both approved and on file, balance of $850 is left, which added to the $350 to be returned by the county treasurer makes a total of $1,200 to the credit of the general fund. The salary list, which amounts to about $2,200 is offset by the revenue derived from the occupation tax.
