

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19th, 1933.

Dr. Salisbury, the Ogalala dentist has been in town for several days.

Conductor R. R. Hine has been confined to the room for several days by rheumatism.

Next Saturday is Arbor Day and every land holder should make it a point to plant trees.

The line of Dado Wall Papers at Paul's old stand.

C. W. Brooks, ex-mayor of Gandy, has been in town for several days.

A. J. Blomberg, of Wallflet, sold his farm near that place last week to Wm. Stoddard, of Johnson county, for $1400.

John Leininger has secured the contract for doing the plumbing for the new steam laundry, which will require considerable time.

Austin, McMichael and Rogers are rushing work on Hartman's new residence, as they expect several other contracts in the near future.

Considerable street work is being done at present, and a number of places which need prompt repairing have been put in excellent condition.

Walter Peale wants to do your paper hanging this spring, and if low prices and good work out any figure he will certainly secure your work.

Conductor Stone has purchased the Warren Davis property on west Second street, the consideration being, we understand, seventeen hundred dollars.

Strawberries are retailing in this market at twenty-five cents per box. Being shipped a long distance they do not reach this point in very good condition.

W. L. Willerton, who moved to Sossument precinct just in time to be burned out by the prairie fire, has returned to town. Both his horses were burned to death.

Several of those who were burned on the 7th have already begun making preparations to rebuild. Some of the houses to be erected will be superior to those destroyed.

The building in the Episcopal church at 11 being repaired and repaired preparatory to its occupancy by the ladies guild, to which society it was dedicated some time ago.

A. E. Donaldson, of Baker precinct, lost four head of horses, including a fine stallion, in the fire which swept over that precinct on the 7th. His stallions were also burned and he places his loss at $1,500.

George Nauman has rebuilt the cooling room in his meat market and can run the temperature down to twenty-eight degrees. This will insure his meats to be in prime condition at all times.

Gus Hauser was in from Buchanan Monday. Gus is the possessor of 920 acres of land in that precinct and will raise some big crops in the future. Both he and his wife like the change from town to country life.

Spectator tickets to the B. of L. E. ball will be fifty cents, instead of twenty-five, as stated in these columns last week. The concert to be given by Monagan's orchestra prior to the dance will be well worth the price of admission.

Bishop Graves of the Platte jurisdiction, officiated at the Church of Our Saviour Sunday, and delivered two excellent sermons. In the morning the rites of baptism were administered and in the evening a class of ten was confirmed.

On Sunday morning last Dr. H. W. Allwine was attacked with congestion of the brain, and for a number of hours was in a semi-comatose condition. We are glad to learn that he is convalescing and will probably be at his office in a few days.

It would be worth while for the ladies to bear in mind that if they take a gentle course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the spring, they will have no trouble with "prickly heat," "hives," "sores," or "black heads," when summer comes. Prevention is better than cure.

The vault in the room occupied by the Star Clothing house has been torn out and quite an increased storage space is the result. It also gives the store an improved appearance, and the rustling proprietors a better chance to display their large and well selected stock.

John Albrecht died at his home in the Third ward early Saturday morning after an illness of several months. He had been a resident of the city many years, and was a soldier in the late civil war. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon under the auspices of S. A. Douglas Post.

Eighteen members of the Eastern Star accepted an invitation to visit the ladies at Lexington Friday last. The ladies went down on No. 2 and returned on a late train the same night. They were cordially received by the Lexington members and accorded very hospitable treatment.

FOR SALE OR RENT—House of four rooms, corner First and Locust streets. Good barn on premises. Apply to Mrs. C. C. NORRIS.

It happened last Friday that there was not a bushel of potatoes in the local market. This was not because the tubers are scarce, but on account of the farmers not having time to bring them to market. Quite a number of wagon loads were brought in Saturday and since then the grocery stores have received a liberal supply.

Since the excitement of the fire has died away and those who were burned out have had a chance to accurately count up their loss, it is found that the estimates first given were far below the actual loss. W. M. Hinman informs us that his loss will not fall short of eight thousand dollars, just twice the amount reported in these columns last week.

A recent Washington dispatch says: Colonel William F. Cody has succeeded in his efforts to get permission to take 100 Indians from the Sioux reservation in Nebraska and South Dakota for show purposes to the World's fair and elsewhere. Secretary Hoke Smith finally decided that the influence of Wild West combination upon the Indians were evil influences. Cody intends to invite as special guests the principal chiefs of the well known tribes of the country at the fair show.

The ladies of the Catholic church will serve supper in the room formerly occupied by Harrington & Tobin on the evening of Engineers' May party.

Next Sunday Rev. L. P. McDonald will preach at the Church of Our Saviour in the morning on "Results of the Mission." In the evening on "Scandal and Scandal Mongers." The latter is given by request.

Ernest and Henry Edler, living south of town, recently purchased a well boring outfit and we learn have already received several contracts. Their machinery is of the best and they guarantee satisfaction.

Guess I will go to the "crayon" social at Y. M. C. A. rooms Friday night. They want me there.

The North Platte Athletic Club formally opened its rooms O'Brien's on Saturday evening, quite an audience being present. The events were two or three sparring set-tees, a wrestling match and some scientific bag punching by Jim Cushing.

The steel windmills which Strickler sells for $30 go like hot cakes. Better see them if you want a mill.

Mrs. John Albrecht and daughter Rosa desire THE TRIBUNE to express their thanks to these friends and especially to the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. for the many acts of kindness during the illness and at the funeral of the late John Albrecht.

The new choir of the Episcopal church makes a fine appearance in full vestments and have done excellent service. The music, so important to the Episcopal service, was never so well rendered and Bishop Graves declares it the best in the jurisdiction of the Platte.

The literary society in Plant precinct held its closing session Saturday evening and rendered an entertaining and enjoyable program to an audience of about seventy-five. This society has been an unusually bright and active one during the past season, and the members have enjoyed the meetings and profited thereby.

"Gentleman" Jim Corbett and his company passed through the city Sunday night enroute to Denver. A North Platte bank cashier who came up from Omaha and on the same train with the noted pugilist and had an introduction to him, says the cognomen of "gentleman" was well applied to Corbett, for he is very gentlemanly and uses very good language.

I am going out of the business and have a few Plovs, Cultivators, Harrows, and Corn Planters which I will sell at cost. Come at once and make your selection. L. STRICKLER.

The world's fair rate of twenty dollars for the round trip from Omaha to Chicago is not as low as people had reason to expect, and it will probably prevent many Nebraskans from attending. The round trip rate from North Platte to Chicago should not exceed twenty dollars, but the railroads, presumably, think this is their harvest year and will reap an abundant crop of shakels as possible.

At the meeting of the fire department Saturday evening, Joseph Weeks was selected as chief and Lem B. Isenhardt assistant chief. The selections are excellent ones. Mr. Weeks served in the position of assistant chief for a year or two, and this he filled creditably. His advancement to the head of the department is merited and under his direction it will lose none of its efficiency.

Wm. A. Goodman, of this city, was married in Denver on Tuesday last week to Miss Lattala Burkett. The young couple arrived in town the following day, and after remaining here a few days will be off for Fairfield, Iowa, where she will wait for a month or so. The Tribune congratulates William on the step he has taken and wishes him and his bride every success in life.

The Kearney Hub gives a column write-up of a sparring match at that place Friday night between James Corbett Crable and "C. H. Mack, a darkey from North Platte who is sometimes called the Western Cyclone." It will probably be news to our readers to know that we have a colored pugilist. In fact no man by that name has made North Platte his habitation.

For sale—The James Edwards' property on east Fifth street, consisting of a four-room house and two lots. For particulars inquire of Alex. Adams.

The Casey & Rehnhausen stock of groceries, fixtures and book accounts were sold under chattel mortgage yesterday for $500, the Grand Island Mercantile Co. the holder of the first mortgage, being the purchaser, as well as the only bidder. We understand the stock involved about $800, but did not learn the amount of the collectible book accounts. The Grand Island company will just about play even on the deal, while the holder of the second mortgage will get nothing.

Hainline & Guptil, the firm which will open the steam laundry in the Old building on the north side, are now getting their machinery in place and will be ready to start the early part of next week. The plant which they have purchased is of the latest pattern and includes a fifteen horse-power boiler, ten horse-power engine, a machine which will wash one hundred shirts at a time, and a double coil apparatus for the dry house by use of which clothes can be dried in ten minutes. They are thus prepared to do a large business, and are confident that their work will bring them success.

Attend the "crayon" social at Y. M. C. A. rooms Friday night.

Eugene Hexco, of the south side brought a specimen of alfalfa to this office last Saturday, which shows a growth of at least four inches for the season and is in fine condition for pasture. Mr. Hexco has ten or twelve acres of alfalfa and on the 8th of April had feed for his stock that his less fortunate neighbors who depend on grass will not have for about another month. This item of early feed is of the utmost importance to profitable farming, and many other farmers ought to profit by Mr. Hexco's experiment. He has been persistent in his efforts to raise alfalfa and has succeeded. Others may do as well. —Göthenburg Star.

If you want a washing machine, sewing machine, cook or gasoline stove, you had better see Strickler and get his latest reduced prices.

Every person come to the "crayon" social at Y. M. C. A. rooms next Friday night, April 21st. Will be given by the Epworth League.

For rent, for garden purposes, a block of land on the north side just west of the Miss Dillon property. Land under high state of cultivation. For further particulars and price inquire at Ormby's grocery store.

Several farmers have informed us that the high wind ten days ago whipped off the growing rye and in some cases blew it out by the root. It is pretty hard to say just what a western Nebraska wind will do to it.

On the 13th Judge Ray issued license to wed to John G. Erickson and Jennie Crane, both of North Platte; on the 14th to Wm. Peterson and Emma Solsoum, of Walker precinct, and to-day to James B. Lane and Blanche U. Martin, both of Wallace.

John Neary, who as a forcaster of local weather hits off more than he misses, was in town Monday and gave out to the writer that we would have a rain tomorrow. It is hoped Mr. Neary is correct in this forecast, as rain is very badly needed to start grain growing in good shape.

Abel Patton, who lives near Dickens, was brought before the board of insanity Monday for investigation as to soundness of mind, but the hearing was continued until Monday in order to get evidence from additional witnesses. Patton labors under the impression that people are pursuing him with the intention of murdering him.

Emms J. Jordan, wife of W. R. Jordan, who lives in the north part of the county, died at the residence of C. B. Jordan, in the Third ward, last evening. The deceased had been brought to town a few days ago for medical treatment, but her case was beyond the skill of the physicians. The remains were shipped to Bennett, Neb., last night for interment.

On the 15th inst there was filed in the office of the county clerk an instrument petitioning the county commissioners to consolidate Hall, Cox, Maxwell, Cottonwood, Mylander and North Platte precincts Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, into one precinct to be known as Platte River precinct. The object of this consolidation is for the purpose of placing before the voters of that territory a proposition to vote bonds for the construction of two bridges across the Platte river, one at a point just east of this city, and the other at a point opposite Maxwell. The petition will be considered by the board to-day, and it is likely favorable action will be taken.

Up to date April, 1933, is the driest April ever experienced in nineteen years record, according to the weather bureau data at North Platte. It is consolation to know that a dry April has always been followed by a wet May, June, July and August. We have had no precipitation this month so far. In April, 1927, we only had .03 of an inch up to the 24th, and the total for the month was .37 of an inch. But the total for May was 3.22 inches, June 2.90, July 2.04, August 5.03 and September 4.39; all heavy rainfalls. The next driest twenty days in 77 years was in 1879, when only .06 of an inch fell. It was followed in May by 2.25 inches, June 3.31, July 8.47, which is unusual heavy for July, August 0.16 of an inch. Next in line came Apr., 1880. The total for the first twenty days was .09 of an inch. Total for the month .16 of an inch. It was followed in May by 2.28 inches, June 3.12, July 2.87, August 3.16 inches. These rainfalls were sufficient for good crops, and came at good intervals of time.

The concert given at Keith's hall last evening by Prof. Disraeli and his pupils, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Cotton the well-known Omaha singer, was worthy of much larger audience than that present. It was one of the best musical events with which we have been favored for many months, and the entire programme, though very lengthy, was well received. As a vocalist Mrs. Cotton undoubtedly stands at the head of the profession in Nebraska, and last evening was heartily endorsed on both numbers. She certainly left a very favorable opinion with the North Platte people who heard her. The selections by Prof. Disraeli were up to his usual standard, and gave additional evidence of his ability as a pianist. The people taking part were Ida, Bonnie and Bertha Von Goetz, Lizzie Burke, Jessie Holmstrom, Jessie and Lizzie Britt, Gertrude Baker Grace Langdon, Jessie O'Hare, Maude Dillon, Ida and Johnny Ostenshein, and they certainly performed in a manner that reflected great credit upon themselves as well as upon their teacher, Prof. Disraeli. Several of the selections rendered by the young ladies were worthy of more than passing notice, and evidenced that within a few years North Platte will have pianists of whom we will all feel proud.

It would seem to the average person that the action of the city council Monday evening in reducing the occupation tax of the saloons to $250 per year, and allowing a tax of a similar amount to remain on drug stores which might wish to take out permits to sell liquors for medicinal and medicinal purposes, was an unjust discrimination against the druggists as a class of business men. The charge has been frequently made in the council that some of the drug stores sell more liquor contrary to the law than any one saloon does in accordance with the law, and yet get one word of direct testimony in support of the charge has been introduced before that body. The levying of the tax is a direct inference that the druggists fracture the law, for the councilmen know that no legitimate business could stand such a tax. Being unable to detect any violations, or at least not willing for evidence by affidavit that the drug stores were violators, they seek on a tax which prohibits the latter from handling the amount of liquor needed in compounding prescriptions. The law regulates the sale of liquor by druggists, and if they obtain a permit and do not strictly conform to the statutes, then they are held liable and it is the moral duty of the person having knowledge of any violation to make complaint and if true followed by arrest of the offender. As might be expected not a druggist in the city has applied for a permit; they cannot possibly afford to pay the tax imposed. The Tribune believes that the council was hasty in its action, and unjust toward a representative class of business men.

Have you some friend who is going to be married soon? If so you will want to send them some nice gift. We have a fine assortment of silverware and fancy clocks. Goods to be sent away packed and sealed free of charge. CLINTON, THE JEWELER.

PEREGRINATING PEOPLE. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McGee were Cozad visitors Sunday.

Mrs. Adamson went to Columbus on No. 2 yesterday.

A communication from Foreman Owens of the Wild West hose company was read, asking that a certificate of service be issued to Fred Sandall, and the clerk will furnish Mr. Sandall with the required parchment.

Chief Isenhardt presented a requisition for repairs for the alarm system and for stationery. The city scribe was instructed to purchase the same.

The rules it passed the council unanimously. Judge Church appeared as counsel for the saloon men, and made a strong speech in their favor. Pending the vote on the prevailing motion orators Dillard and Johnston arose to their feet several times and spoke on the matter before the council—they also managed to sandwich in several remarks of a personal nature.

The passage of the ordinance consumed considerable time, and shortly before eleven o'clock a motion to adjourn was made. A special meeting of the council will be held next Monday evening to consider the bonds and other papers of those applying for licenses.

Married. Howard F. Jeffrey and Miss Ida Ida Stuart were married at the residence of the bride's parents on west Sixth street last evening in the presence of fifty invited guests, Rev. J. C. Irwin officiating. This ceremony binds together two very popular young people, each well fitted to be the other's life companion and they launch their matrimonial boat on the wide sea of life amid the best wishes of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The bride is a sweet, amiable and accomplished young lady, and during her residence of several years in the city she has fully deserved the friendship she enjoys. Mr. Jeffrey is a young man of sterling integrity, excellent character, and one we are sure will ever keep sacred and true the vows made at the marriage ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey will be at home after May 1st in a residence on west Front street which the groom purchased and furnished prior to the wedding. The couple were the recipients of a number of handsome presents.

The shop has been a permanent fixture for some time and we hope to see Mr. Bobbitt remain as its permanent proprietor. He served an apprenticeship in the U. S. blacksmith shop, and has made this his first business venture.

An article appeared in one of the Omaha daily papers last week working that a cigar swindle had been working in Denver. Parties claiming to be Mexicans or Cubans said they had obtained a quantity of real genuine Havana cigars that had been smuggled into the United States and that could be sold at a greatly reduced price. The article stated that these cigars were doubtless made in some of the lowest Chinese dives in San Francisco, and that we might look for an outbreak of the leprosy in Denver. To show that the game is being worked in other places, a man with a dark complexion and a foreign accent appeared in VonGoetz's store last week, and represented that he had come here to visit a brother that had worked here, and had brought a number of trinkets with him as presents. Finding his brother gone he wanted to dispose of the trinkets, especially some Havana cigars he had obtained while playing in some vessel between the United States and Cuba. Mr. VonGoetz had read the article mentioned and consequently did not want to get rich on selling cigars.
