REPUBLICAN TICKET.

STATE. For Governor—THOMAS J. MAJORS, of Nemaha. For Lieutenant-Governor—R. E. MOORE, of Lancaster. For Secretary of State—J. A. PIPER, of Harlan. For Auditor of Public Accounts—EUGENE MOORE, of Madison. For Treasurer—J. S. BARTLEY, of Holt. For Commissioner—H. C. RUSSELL, of Colfax. For Attorney-General—A. S. CHURCHILL, of Douglas. For Supt. of Public Instruction—H. R. CORBETT, of York.

CONGRESSIONAL. For Congress, 6th District—M. A. DAUGHERTY, of Keith.

LEGISLATIVE. For Senator, 30th District—W. R. AKERS, of Scotts Bluff. For Representative, 54th District—R. D. HARRIS, of Keith.

COUNTY. For Coroner—A. E. HUNTINGTON. For Commissioner, 1st District—R. D. THOMSON.

TEN populists in Kimball county in convention assembled, passed a resolution endorsing W. J. Bryan for United States senator. That settles it: Billy will be the man.

If, as the London Chronicle says, the Gorman bill will give a great impetus to English industries, how can it help but increase the number of idle manufacturing concerns in this country?

THE press in this senatorial district has many good words to say for Captain Akers, the republican candidate for senator. In fact every one acquainted with the Captain admit him to be a brainy man and a strong candidate.

JUDGE NEVILLE did not figure as prominently in the pop convention at Broken Bow as some expected. It is to be regretted that a nonentity like Kem should be chosen in preference to men like Judge Neville.

No one is better pleased with the renomination of Kem than Matt Daugherty. The latter gentleman is after the former's "hide," and he will get it with the head and tail intact—it will be a complete skin.

WHEAT, and there is very little of it, is selling in the local market at fifty-three cents a bushel. This is less than one-half what the democrats promised the farmers they would get in case Cleveland was elected.

THE republican county central committee will hold a meeting in this city next Saturday afternoon. A matter of much importance will come before the meeting and a full attendance is desired by the chairman.

ROSEWATER yells: "Save the republican party." Well, it will be saved, and that too by kicking out of its ranks such men as Rosey who for years has stood with knife in hand ready to strike candidates who were nominated in violation to his dictation. Rosewater's policy of rule or ruin has been brought to an abrupt end. The pops are welcome to this would-be dictator.

JOE BEELER has frequently intimated that he was a populist for revenue only, and the avidity with which he snapped at the nomination for county attorney is conclusive proof of his intimations. No one believes Beeler is competent to fill the office for which he is a candidate, and the ballots cast for him will come from those who would vote for the devil were he on the populist ticket.

WESTERN NEBRASKA did not receive the recognition in the republican state convention the deserved, but the disappointment will not deter republicans from pulling off their coats and working for the ticket. Populists who are predicting coolness toward the candidates by the republicans of the western counties should not allow their imagination to run riot. This is the year western Nebraska is to be everlastingly redeemed from populist misrule and demagoguery.

ANOTHER evidence of "reform" is displayed by the publication of Treasurer Buchanan's semi-annual statement, the printer's fees for which will be cool two hundred and fifty dollars. Under republican administration of county affairs the publication of the statement never cost over fifty dollars. Mr. Buchanan could have condensed his statement as is done in all the eastern counties of the state, and thus have saved the county at least two hundred dollars. Two hundred dollars, Mr. Buchanan, would have purchased a large amount of flour and coal for the destitute people of Lincoln county.

JUDGE HOLCOMB, the populist candidate for governor, may poll a strong vote in western Nebraska, but he will fall ten thousand short of defeating Tom Majors in the state. Holcomb polled a larger vote for supreme court judge than he will for governor.

Two years ago the Omaha Bee supported Crouse for governor and fought Majors for lieutenant governor, and yet the latter received 3,000 more votes than the former. This is the full measure of the "inflorence" the Bee wields in Nebraska politics. It is better to have Satan against you than for you.

THE nomination of Dr. R. D. Harris for representative is satisfactory to the republicans of the district and he will receive their united support. In addition to this he will receive democratic and populist votes on account of his popularity and fitness for the position. Dr. Harris is all right and will be a winner.

THE republican convention in Omaha last week put up a strong ticket; one that will be elected by a handsome majority. The nominations were as follows: Governor, T. J. Majors; secretary of state, J. A. Piper; lieutenant-governor, R. E. Moore; auditor, Eugene Moore; treasurer, J. S. Bartley; commissioner, H. C. Russell; superintendent public instruction, H. R. Corbett; attorney general, A. S. Churchill.

THE republican platform which was unanimously adopted at Omaha favors bimetalism and demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money. It adheres to the doctrine that all railway lines are subject to regulation and control by the state, and demands such legislation as will insure fair and reasonable rates to the producers and consumers. It denounces all combinations of capital organized in trusts or otherwise to arbitrarily control the action of trade and recognizes the rights of laborers to organize and use all honorable means for the benefitting of their condition.

THE failure of John E. Evans to receive the nomination for secretary of state is a keen disappointment to the many friends of that gentleman, and especially those of this city. Starting in with the second highest vote, victory for Mr. Evans at one time seemed to be assured, but an apparent trade between other candidates seems to have been made and there was a landslide to Piper, the successful candidate. Though defeated in the convention, there is not a "sore spot" on Mr. Evans—he is not the kind that sulks. During the many years Mr. Evans has been identified with the party in Nebraska he has been an earnest, hearty worker, and this he will continue to be during this campaign and for many years to come. He appreciates the hearty support given him from many counties and he trusts these same delegates will unite with him and all other republicans in rolling up a big plurality for the republican ticket from top to bottom.

As was predicted in these columns last week, Kem has been nominated by the populists of this congressional district. In making his campaign two years ago Kem apologized for his record in congress the preceding two years by saying that it took one term for a new member to get "onto the ropes." Assuming that this is true, we are now anxious to hear him tell his constituents what he has done since he "got onto the ropes." The fact is Kem has been nothing greater than a "seat warmer" in representative hall, and THE TRIBUNE challenges any populist paper to show wherein he has rendered any material assistance to his constituents or to the country at large. If the people of the Sixth district return Mr. Kem to congress it will be tangible evidence that a score of fool-killers are badly needed in western Nebraska.

It is generally understood that the sudden eclipse of the Gaffin gubernatorial boom in the Grand Island convention was a regular cut and dried affair. It was represented to Gaffin and his adherents that Holcomb only wanted the nomination for governor to help boost him into the senate, and that it had been determined by the pop spell binders that if they succeeded in carrying the election and getting the legislature they would elect Holcomb senator, Billy Bryan to the contrary notwithstanding, and then he, Gaffin, being lieutenant-governor, would slide into his place and rule Nebraska all the same for the next two years. Now, did the Holcombites keel-haul brother Gaffin when they gave him taffy of this sort or did they really mean to do it?

The builders have the most liberal orders from the owners of the line, and it is believed that this means the launching next year of two of the fastest passenger ships in the world. THURSTON'S PLATFORM.

In his speech before the late republican state convention, John M. Thurston outlined the kind of a platform he would frame for the republican party, and it would mean this:

The supremacy of the constitution of the United States.

The maintenance of law and order.

The suppression of anarchy and crime.

The protection of every American citizen in his right to live, to labor, and to vote.

A vigorous foreign policy.

The enforcement of the Monroe doctrine.

Safety under the stars and stripes on every sea and in every port.

The restoration of merchants-marine.

The tariff of William McKinley and the reciprocity of James G. Blaine.

American markets for American products.

The protection of the American farm, the American factory and the American mine from foreign paper competition.

Such legislation as will guarantee steady employment and good wages to the working men of this country.

A free ticket to China for any man who insists upon his rights to buy the product of human labor without paying a fair price to the brain and brawn which produces it.

The enactment of federal legislation adequate to secure a free ballot and a fair count in every voting precinct of the union.

A one-term presidency.

The election of the United States senator by direct vote of the people.

The establishment of a postal telegraph system.

The government supervision and control of transportation lines and rates.

The protection of the people from all unlawful combinations and unjust exaction of aggregated capital and corporate power.

War on the three great democratic trusts—oil, whisky and sugar.

The abolition of all sectionalism; one people; one country; one flag.

A political crop failure for calamity howlers and fusion jugglers.

A pension policy just and generous to our living heroes and the widows and orphans of their dead comrades.

The utmost expansion of our currency consistent with the maintenance of the equal purchasing and debt-paying power of every dollar.

American mints for American miners.

The free coinage of the American product of silver and gold into honest money.

An American welcome to every God-fearing liberty-loving, constitution respecting, law abiding, labor-seeking, decent man.

The deportation and exclusion of any whose birth, whose blood, whose condition, whose teachings, whose practices would menace the permanency of free institutions, endanger the safety of American society or lessen the opportunities of American labor.

An American flag for every American school house.

A deathless loyalty to American institutions and a patriotism eternal as the stars.

In an editorial presenting John M. Thurston as a candidate for United States senator, the Kearney Hub in part says: Republicans of Nebraska are overwhelming for John M. Thurston for the senate.

Even those who have not been favorably disposed toward him in the past are swinging rapidly around to his support, believing that this is a Thurston year, and feeling confident of his ability to muster a republican majority when the senate shall meet next January.

No matter what the likes, or dislikes of Mr. Thurston he has never been a sulker nor a skulker. As a republican, too, he has the courage of his convictions and the independence to defend them. His policy is never reactionary. He is far-seeing, outreaching and progressive.

In short, he represents the courageous republicanism of the west and the highest aspirations of republicanism everywhere. In his personality he rises superior to surrounding towers above cliques and factions; and is the only republican in the state who can command ninety per cent or more of the republican following with all of its loyalty and enthusiasm, and unswerving devotion to a man and a principle.

Mr. Miner, the proprietor of the town site store at Hershey, severely beat a demented boy named Nott a few days ago. The boy's parents, who reside near that village, sent for an officer to arrest Miner, but the latter got wind of his probable arrest and with his wife had skipped the country, leaving the store in charge of his clerk. It is said that Miner has been located at his former home in Belvidere and that an effort will be made to secure his arrest. The victim of his assault is about sixteen years old.

We are informed that Paxton & Hershey have rented several eighty acre tracts a mile or so north of this station to farmers from the south side sand hills, who will take possession soon. The land is wild, but it will be supplied with water free, the renters to furnish and erect their own dwellings, and to receive all the crop from the land the first season. After that time they have the first chance to rent or purchase the land.

Our school house will be thoroughly renovated this week and reseated with double seats.

W. O. Thompson and Louis Toillon each took a load of old corn to the North Platte market Saturday and received $1.25 per hundred.

Those who attended the dance at the K. O. T. M. hall at Hershey Friday evening report a very pleasant time. A few were up from the Platte and a few down from Sutherland.

Several car loads of ties were side-tracked at this station recently and have since been distributed along the line.

School in the Stoddard district will begin next Monday, and will be held in the old school house until the new one is completed.

J. B. McKee was up from the Platte the latter part of the week. We understand he has again sold his farm near here, this time to a German for $3,000.

The hay crops panning out better than at first anticipated.

On Wednesday evening of last week a light shower prevailed in this vicinity, while at Sutherland a perfect deluge was reported and northeast of there the storm partook of a cyclonic nature.

Wray Stuart who has resided with his grand mother Mrs. Brown since he was an infant, has gone to North Platte to reside with his father.

W. J. Cruzen, of North Platte, will preach here Sunday next at 11 a. m., eastern time.

Mr. Campbell and family of Gothenburg were the guests of J. W. Liles the fore part of the week. The shipment of hay from this station are not decreasing to any perceptible degree.

Oats are being rushed into market as fast as possible, for fear there might be a decline in the present good prices.

The new depot at Hershey is about completed and adds greatly to the appearance of that station.
