drouth-stricken sufferers. This method has been adopted after deliberation and correspondence with citizens of your state who have invariably expressed the wish that it be done in this way. To this end, and that the committee appointed by the Board of Trade may act intelligently, any county needing this assistance should organize for the purpose of receiving, distributing and properly handling supplies, and should designate some one railroad station as a receiving and distributing point, We address you, believing you are in a position to know the needs of your county, and that you will gladly bring this matter to the attention of your business men and all interested. We assume that such counties as desire this aid will or ganize, and request that you notify Mr. Geo. F. Stone.
