—Dr. C. M. Duncan has returned from his trip to Missouri.

—Mrs. Geo. W. Finn went east this morning, but her destination was not learned.

—Attendance at the summer normal is up to the expectation of the instructors. Country teachers are well represented.

—Many farmers in this vicinity have availed themselves of the benefit of hail insurance for their crops. This is an excellent plan for all to adopt.

CARD OF THANKS—Relatives of the late J. W. Reed wish to publicly express their thanks to the people of this city for the sympathy and assistance tendered them during the illness of the deceased, and trust that a similar affliction may be far removed from them.

Director Wolcott of the United States geological survey, in reply to a letter written to the agricultural department by the president of the Illinois Central railway company making inquiry as to the progress of the irrigation movement in the west and its possibilities in developing arid and semi-arid land, that is of very great interest to the people living west of the ninetieth meridian in Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming. From the statements of Director Wolcott the farmers of these sections must certainly draw the conclusion that there is little reason to hope for increased rainfall though a change of climate conditions, and that it is the part of wisdom to develop all the possibilities of irrigation and to utilize by storage and otherwise all the water obtainable. Twenty years ago the theory was generally held that cultivation and tree planting would cause an increase of rainfall in the semi-arid section, but the theory has not held good either there or in any other portion of the country. "The only way," says Director Wolcott, "by which the climatic changes, if any be made by the advance of cultivation or by artificial means, can be ascertained, is by comparison of long series of records kept at once place and under similar conditions as to instruments and methods. Unfortunately, we do not have in the west many such series; and even these are open to doubt, on account of questions regarding the kind of instruments used. Again it is now known that the weather changes in any one locality are so great that a series might be selected to show progressive change in one direction or another, where the whole record does not do this."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

In memory of Brother J. W. Reed. To officers and brothers of Walla Walla Lodge No. 56, I.O.O.F.: WHEREAS: Our beloved brother J. W. Reed departed this life on July 25th, 1895, be it therefore Resolved, That in the death of Brother Reed our lodge has lost a faithful and honored member; the community a generous and respected citizen; his family an unselfish brother and a kind and loving father. Our brother was cut off from us and from all earthly ties in the prime of his manhood, having only reached the forty-sixth milestone on life's journey. When the grim messenger of death came he was prepared to face him. The lessons of Odd Fellowship were indelibly impressed upon his mind and memory, and he had so lived that when the hour of death approached he felt no fear, but calmly placed his trust in Him who cures all pain, removes all sorrow and who is a father to the fatherless.

Resolved, That we hereby extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this hour of sorrow, and especially to the bereaved daughter who is now the only surviving member of a once happy family, we offer the assurance that the kind care and fatherly affection of which she has been bereft, will, in all possible measure, be extended to her by Odd Fellows.

Be it further Resolved: That our charter be draped for a period of thirty days and that the above memorial be spread upon our lodge records; that a copy of the same be forwarded to the family of our deceased brother and also be furnished for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
J. S. HINCKLEY, E. S. DAVIS, G. C. STODDARD, Com.

The water in the south river at this place is receding fast. The numerous sand bars are once more visible.

Sod corn as a general thing is looking fine throughout the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Toillon entertained a number of their neighbors and friends on last Friday evening. A social time is reported by all those present.

It has been some time since the people in this community have seen as large a growth of small grain as there is this season.

MYSTLE MIXTURE.

The rain and warm weather combined is making the corn grow very rapidly.

A number of young people from this place are attending the normal school at North Platte.

Miss Cora Combs has returned home after attending the Cotner University at Lincoln for nine months.

A few of the young people spent a very enjoyable time Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Moore. Miss Caress, of Gandy, was present.

C. A. Moore and Prof. Kyle of Grand Island started for Orleans Tuesday. Mr. Kyle is looking for students for the college and has been the guest of the Moore's for the past two weeks.

Endeavor society was held at the school house Sunday evening. The meeting was one of interest.

Schools around here have all closed for the summer vacation.

J. A. Moore is again in this vicinity.

Miss Ivy Broach, of North Platte has been visiting at the home of J. G. Crabtree for a few days.

Where are you going to spend the Fourth? is the leading question.

Japanese statistics show that the whole number of men lost in battle in the war with China was 613. Some of these days when Japan gets into another war she will likely have a chance to lose twice that number before breakfast.

The largest state building in the United States is the capitol of Texas. It is also the seventh in size among the great buildings of the world. It cost $3,500,000, about one-eighth the cost of the New York state building, which is not yet finished.

Democrats who used to wake up nights during republican good times and mourn and tear their hair over the "dangers of an enormous surplus in the treasury" are now resting, remarks an exchange, under a Cleveland-Carlisle deficit, administered in full doses, without uttering a chirp.

A recent decision of the supreme court holds that the informer, for the reward of $50, cannot bring suit in his own name against a railroad company for the engineer failing to sound the whistle or the bell at a railroad crossing. This will be a relief to some of the Second district engineers who have been closely watched for the past two years by these fellows.

Nebraska Notes.

E. Rosewater will orate at Nebraska City on the Fourth.

The death of a brother caused Miss Alice Weed of Boone to go into spasms and her recovery is doubtful.

The fields of rye in Banner county are "coming through" in fine condition. The grain stands four feet high in its stocking feet.

Dr. Barber, assistant physician at the Norfolk asylum, has made the startling discovery that several inmates of the institution are sane.

The Nebraska City celebration committee is hunting for a fool to entertain the people on the fourth by jumping from the bridge that spans the Big Muddy.

If all the grasshoppers in Nebraska were carefully herded and closely corralled, says the York Times, there would not be enough of them to eat the crop of eighty acres of York county land.

The turnfest of the Nebraska Turnbezirk will this year be held at Plattsmouth, commencing Friday, this week, and will last for three days.

A Fullerton fisherman pulled a bone out of the Loup river which he mistook for part of a human skeleton. The county coroner was called and found after strict investigation that the ossific curiosity was from the hind leg of a departed ox. No inquest.

J. A. Shannon, of Norfolk, was stricken with a suicidal mania, and would have been run over by a train but for having been discovered in time to forcibly remove him from the track. John Barleycorn is blamed for the old gentleman's temporary madness.

Sugar beets around Winside are in fine condition, says the Tribune. They give a promise of an excellent crop and are growing "fit to kill." They give employment to many who live in town who would otherwise be idle and are one of the best things that could have been thought of for this time. If the crop turns out as well as it is expected a great many beets will be planted next year and much more work be done.

In New York state the statistics for 1895 show that "the 125 savings banks had nearly $644,000,000 on deposit." The people of the land only need to feel a confidence in the stability of things to resume business. They are not yet impoverished or ready for the poorhouses.

We are told that "only $5,000,000 was lost in the whiskey trust." It is a pity that some of the other great trusts should not be made to score similar losses.

It is really pitiful to see how sorry Democratic organs are that the great meeting of republican clubs did not break up in a row—as they foretold and expected.
