RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a meeting of North Platte Camp No. 672, M. W. of A., the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The Great and Supreme Ruler of the universe has in this camp makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore be it

Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which he has exercised in the aid of our organization by service, contribution and counsel, will be held in grateful remembrance;

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this organization, and will prove a serious loss to the community and the public.

Resolved that with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased, we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be over-ruled for good by Him who doeth all things well;

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this camp, a copy furnished the local papers, and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

Mrs Robert Milligan of Bridgeport W. Va., was the mother of twenty five children before she was 48 years old. Her numerous progeny included five sets of twins.

William Blackford, of Lisbon Me., is but 17 years old, and is still growing. There's nothing extraordinary in all this but the fact that he already stands six feet eight and one-half inches in his stockings.

The Princess of Wales to the great discomfort of whoever may be acting as the maid-in-waiting, never puts herself at ease in traveling. Hour after hour she retains a bolt-upright position, and never thinks of removing her bonnet or lying down. She attributes the habit to her rigid bringing up, and in speaking of it recently said to a friend: "We were never allowed to lie down during the daytime when we were children for fear of making ourselves untidy, and I am so accustomed to the habit now that I should never dream of removing my bonnet while on a journey."

Van Tilborg returned last Friday night from Colorado, where he is traveling in the interest of the Beggs Manufacturing company, better known as the compounders of the celebrated "Little Giants." Tridle and Constable Seaton visited John at Dickens a few moments before his departure and persuaded him to settle an account which he owed the former, together with the costs of collecting the same. It would be impossible to convince John that Chicago is the most wicked place on earth.

The mayor of Omaha has voted the "curfew" ordinance, passed by the council of that city to keep children under fifteen years of age off the streets after 9 o'clock. Some years ago Grand Island council was besieged with parents asking for such an ordinance.

Many newspapers of the state have endorsed the proposition of I. A. Fort, of North Platte, to hold an industrial congress in this city. The only thing necessary to make it a sure go and a success to boot is for somebody to take the initial steps in the matter.—Kearney Hub.

While John Christner was hauling rock the other day, says the Hayes Center Times, one of his little boys fell out of the wagon, which was loaded with rock, and one wheel ran over its head and neck. Strange as it may seem the little fellow is still alive and is getting along nicely at present.

Receiver Slaughter has been compelled by reason of falling off of patronage of the Lincoln street cars to dispense with conductors and rely upon the honesty of patrons putting the nickle into the cash box. This bobtail system saves the conductors' salaries and commissions and ought to speedily place the car lines on a paying basis.

The teachers and pupils of the Gordon school presented the war drama "Down in Dixie" the proceeds to go to the purchase of a library. The result was a curious reality of war. When it came to the selection of the books the teachers wanted to do the whole business. The pupils regarded it as taxation without representation and they rebelled. There was a fist fight over the matter and the war was transferred from Dixie to Gordon. Warrants are out and the matter is in the court.

Through the efforts of the McKinley Club of this city arrangements have been made for a special train service on April 13th, for the accommodation of those delegates who have to come by the way of Grand Island to this city. A special train over the B. & M. will make connection with U. P. trains from the east and west at Grand Island, and run to Broken Bow, reaching this city at 6 o'clock p. m. on the evening of the convention. The Queen of England and the Emperor of Austria have been on throne respectively fifty-nine and forty-eight years, and yet had their first personal meeting recently. As the royal personages never expect to fight each other, they have not been profuse in marks of distinguished consideration.
