murders Italy leads the list of the Eu-

and the platform covers only that one according to the number of her population, showing that time has ameliorated the character of her people since the days of Hadrian and Agricola, and even of later periods. The generous average of homicides shown by Italy is variously accounted for, but it seems to have its root in the character of the people and to have been held up conscientiously during the entire historic period. It was maintained in the season of the Lucomoes, of Arno, and of the Bianchi and the Nevi, as in that of King Humbert and Mulberry Bend.

Professor Grafalo has recently been lecturing on the subject in Rome and attributes much of the tendency to homicide to the existence of the vensome weight, no doubt, but an ampler trades people: one is to be found in the fact that the "A certain gentleman ordered a to the locality and the social habits of himself the father of a little boy. the people, but when they emigrate "When his son was 6 years old, he these practices are sometimes interfered | remembered how his own father had orwith. MAKING CHINAWARE.

Ateresting Description of How the Work Is Done In Worcester, England. Close beside Worcester cathedral are the ugly workshops and tall chimneys of the Royal porcelain works. When we watch the thrower molding on his magic wheel the plastic clay we are filled with wonder at his skill and ask ourselves whence came the clay which takes so readily any form the potter wills. The flint bowlders found upon the plains of Brittany in France, feldspar from Cornwall and Sweden, bones from America, besides other things, all pay tribute. These unlikely constituents are calcined and then ground exceedingly fine in mills. The grinding takes from 19 hours to 6 days. It is a sight worth seeing, those powerful mills racing round deep trough (made out of stone from Derbyshire) weighted with heavy blocks, ate in a wide, open plain, with "bush" churning each material, for each is ground separately, into a thick white tance. The National Bud.

Some well meaning people are not satisfied with the national flower, whatever it is, and are suggesting the pond lily for that exalted honor. They claim that as this lily is closely related to the lotus of India and Egypt its adoption by the United States would show that we believe in the "sisterhood of states," etc. The pond lily, however, from its aqueous habit, will not do so as a symbol of this great republic, for the United States never takes water, in which example it is followed by many of its brave brigadiers and colonels. - Kansas City Journal.
