There is not a man in Nebraska that is a stronger advocate of sound money and protection to American workmen and industries than is John E. Evans, nor has Major McKinley a warmer admirer.

Interment took place in the North Platte cemetery.

—One of the good stories told at the Curtis reunion contained considerable truth and no little humor. A union veteran—a native of the Emerald Isle was asked by a young dude, in a somewhat sneering manner, the meaning of "G. A. R." Pat replied: "G stands for 'generally,' 'A' stands for 'all,' 'R' stands for 'republicans,'—generally all republicans—that's about what 'G. A. R.' means."—Wallace Tug.

—Lincoln J. Carter, the bright young American playwright, lives in Chicago, and it was in that city that his plays, "The Fast Mail," "The Tornado," and "The Defaulter," received their initial representation. "The Defaulter," Mr. Carter's latest work, was seen there for the first time on any stage, June 16th, 1895, and won the strong endorsement of the critics and the hearty approval of all who saw it. And well it might, for it is written in a forcible and intelligent manner; tells a story of uncommon interest; the dialogue is vigorous, the climaxes strong and carefully and naturally worked up; it is well acted and handsomely staged, and what is more to the point, it treats of a subject never before touched upon by dramatists. This play will be presented at Lloyd's opera house next Saturday evening.

—Flue stops 5c at The Wilcox Dept. Store.

—Senator Thurston has returned from his campaigning trip in the east, and to a reporter of the Bee said: "I regard it an absolute fact that every state east of the Mississippi and north of the Mason and Dixon line will be for McKinley. There is no longer room for doubt. The majorities will not be close, but they will be decisive enough to settle the cheap money fallacy for at least another generation to come. I think it may be said with perfect confidence that since the first ten days after the nomination of Mr. Bryan there have been no desertions from the sound money ranks but instead the tide is flowing steadily toward them. Every week from now to election will show the gain and I believe the time has come when the result is not in doubt." In speaking particularly of Illinois, Indiana and other middle western states, which the Bryan managers have placed in the doubtful column, Senator Thurston declared that they would be republished by tremendous majorities. There was no way in which they could be considered as doubtful and the democratic managers knew it.
