Iddings has received a carload of Arkansas hard coal which he will sell to those who desire to experiment with it. This coal sells for considerably less than the Pennsylvania article.

Judge Neville was overheard to remark that the demo-pops in Nebraska would be defeated and that the result would be due to the old soldiers, who are almost as a unit in support of the republican ticket. This condition undoubtedly accounts for the attempt of the populists to break up the camp-fire at the reunion last week.

The secretary and treasurer of the irrigation fair have been busy yesterday and to-day paying claims for labor and material, and have about completed that work. The premium awards will next be considered, and it is thought all premiums can be paid in full if a number of exhibitors will accept stock in the association in lieu of cash. This latter arrangement should be satisfactory to all who have the good of the fair at heart.
