THE tact that Mr. Bryan receives $1,000 per night for lecturing is evidence that the "masses" still have a dollar or two left to spend for amusement purposes.

THE mine owners who contributed $650,000 to the Bryan campaign expenses should be admitted free to Mr. Bryan's lectures. They should receive something in return for their very generous donations.

WHILE the people of the United States were enjoying their Thanksgiving feasts yesterday seventytwo million people in British India were and are still suffering from lack of food.

THERE is no good reason why the United States should pay foreign nations $120,000,000 annually for sugar when the article can be produced at home with profit to both sugar beet raiser and the manufacturer.

THE Kansas City Journal very truly remarks that the republican land-slide can restore confidence, but unfortunately it cannot prevent the treasury deficit from growing right along under a democratic administration.

WHEN a factory closes these times -and factories close even in the most prosperous times—an exultant shout goes up from the demo-pops. They, however, do not pay any attention to the hundreds of factories which have resumed since November 3d.

THEY will drop in one by one. The Florida Citizen stood by the Chicago ticket, but it now say: "The party must turn its back upon the unwise leaders who have brought disaster upon it. It must return to the safer path laid out by its founders."

THE friends of A. E. Cady, late republican candidate for congress. are suggesting that he be appointed international revenue collector for Nebraska. THE TRIBUNE knows of no one who is better qualifid for the position or who is more fully entitled to the appointment,

THE state canvassing board has decided that a majority of all the votes cast at the recent election are necessary to carry the constitutional amendments. thought that about one third the total vote was cast for the amendments.

THE business men of New York City seems to know what the election of McKinley means. The associated banks of New York for the week just closed show $5,800,000 increase in reserves $9,553000 in crease in loans and the enormous total of $21,937.8000 increase in deposits. Every city of the land shows a proportional improvement.

More than 600,000 barrels of American apples have already been shipped to Europe this fall says a New York paper, and the shipments are still in progress. Evidently the effete monarchies of the old country have discovered that American fruit, like American enterprise, is hard to beat.

GENERAL WEYLER who sallied torth with the intention of forcing Maceo to give him battle or else suppress the revolutionary forces in Pinar del Rio, has returned to Havana without accomplishing and presented the prizes to the winners of stantly. either of his objects. His return the honors at Burnly Mechanics institute, may not be indicative of defeat, yet it will prove encouraging to the Cuban patriots.

THE official count in Kansas gives McKinley 159,541 votes. Bryan and Sewall 126,154 and Bryan and Watson 45,124. The democrats boast that the democratic vote, or that cast for Bryan and Sewall is the largest ever cast in the state, and argues well for the future of the democratic party in that state. They assume that the vote for Bryan and Watson represents the populist strength.

WAYMAN McCREERY, who was lately appointed Internal Revenue Revenue Collector for St. Louis, is probably the most accomplished office-holder in the service of the government. He has held the college record for the long-distance' baseball throw, has been a champion amateur billiardist, is choirmaster of Christ Church Cathedral, is a good singer, has composed an opera, and is president of a sound money club.

NEW YORK, Nov., 24 .- A dispatch to The World from Jacksonville, Fla. says: A cipher cablegram from Havana to a Cuban leader says General Weyler has been forced to return to Havana and that the city is in great confusion. Weyler gives no excuse, it is said, except that it is too hot and unhealthy to do any fighting. It is openly asserted in Havana that Weyler became frightened because Maceo had set a price upon his head for his capture. Weyler's scouts informed him that Maceo might make an attempt on Havana, and the Spanish general retreated in hot haste to the safety of his palace. It is also stated in the cablegram that Weyler's recall is assured now, as the Spanish government is incensed against him for his dilatory tactics. ARMLESS WONDERS.

Painters Who Have Achieved Great Fame With Their Feet.

A reporter was strolling along a prominent thoroughfare on Walnut not guilty after being out but three and | Hills the other day, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, when he came upon a business room that was being OSCEOLA, Neb., Nov. 21.-The only remodeled and improved preparacreamery in the county, located here, tory to occupancy. The carpenter caught fire and is a total loss. It was | who was doing the work was a one armed man, and not only managed his hatchet and saw skillfully, but was quite intelligent in conversation. He did not appear to bemoan was thrown from a wagon and instantly | the fate that had deprived him of a good strong arm, but regarded it with the air of a philosopher. He said that he was not the only one armed carpenter in Cincinnati-that he knew of four or five others.

Another one armed man familiar to residents of the hill, whose misfortune would seem to interfere with his avocation, but does not, is been removed by Mayor Stallut and ex- the driver of one of the big oil tank quired of a man with two arms in such a position, from driving the team to measuring out the oil and delivering it to his customers.

Judging from the following instances, published in an English journal, it would seem that the absence of one or even both arms need not interfere with one earning one's bread and butter:

"One of the leading Belgian artists of the present day is a gentleman who, in default of arms, paints with his foot. His name is Fehu. He lives at Antwerp, where he has a spacious atelier in the market place. "He uses his supple feet, without any apparent effort, to open his color box, clean his brushes, set his palette and arrange his writing materials. He paints with surprising Akers and John Dodd, alleged cattle swiftness and delicacy of touch. It may be said of him, too, that he writes an excellent foot. One of his friends says his writing is as bold, free and flowing as any handwriting with which he is acquainted. He is, moreover, a man of gentle nature, courtly in manner, of highly cultivated intelligence and no less engaging in speech than in appearance. "Earlier in the present century there flourished another armless artist, a lady named Hawlin, who, besides painting very tolerable pictures, learned to do with her toes a variety of interesting and ingenious things-out out watch papers and the like. She grasped and worked her scissors in some way that has never been explained. "Miss Biffin was only a trifle less unfortunate. She was born without toes or hands, and without any more arm than was represented by a stump cut short above the elbow. Yet she managed to make for herself a comfortable living in the artistic way. "She painted miniatures with exquisite neatness and accuracy and added to this by cutting out paper profiles with the aid of her mouth, a pair of scissors and her two little stumps. The Earl of Morton employed her to paint some portraits for him and introduced her to the notice of royalty, who also patronized her and put her in the way of obtaining advanced lessons in painting from one of the foremost men of the day. He also gave her a small pension, with the aid of which she set up as a regular professional. She fell in love and married, but carried on her work and was always known under her maiden name.'

The Chinese Specter Once More. It seems very strange and ridiculous to western nations that such an ingenious, and, in their way, learned people as the Chinese should be so ignorant, not only of western nations, but of matters immediately concerning themselves and their own country. But what if some day the Chinese should, as a nation, awake to what is going on in the world? Suppose China's hundreds of millions of people were to reorwith drilled armies of millions of men, set forth on a career of conquest? That specter has more than once been conjured up by writers of fiction, but is there any great improbability about it, after all? Possibly it is a good thing for the rest your appetite is poor only precinct in Pierce county which of the world that China's peaceful and you are losing gave McKinley a majority. A verse was millions know so little of the great events and movements of modern history. Should they set out to make history also after the modern fashion some of the western nations PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Nov. 22.—The might regret that China had been cause they are not armed with speediest case of justice on record in awakened from what seems the charmed sleep of ages. - Chicago In-

The Safe Lock.

It has been satisfactorily demonstrated that in patent locks having what are known as "six steps" the number of changes and sizes is almost incredible. For example, one of these "six step" locks of a size that may be reduced twenty times may be changed nearly 87,000 times. Large sized locks may have as many as 7,000,000 changes, and small ones about 750,000 changes. The chances of finding a duplicate key, once a key is lost, are therefore, as will readily be seen, rather remote.-New York Ledger.
