ARE WE LAGGARDS?

During the past three weeks between three and four thousand farmers from the east have visited Nebraska and viewed her bountiful crops. At many of the towns in the state special provisions were made to show these visitors around through the country adjacent to these towns, and inducements offered to have them locate. The visitors were well pleased, and the result will be that next spring many of them will return to the sections of Nebraska which they visited, buy farms and become part and parcel of the people who go to make up a great and prosperous commonwealth. Did the people of North Platte and Lincoln county make any effort to have any of these eastern farmers come to this section and investigate our advantages? Was there any move made by those who have land to sell, by those who are interested in irrigation ditches, or by the business men of North Platte who would profit by an increased population?

Are we laggards?

SUTHERLAND.

Henry Coker threshed his grain the early part of the week and reports a good yield. A circus is billed for Sutherland on Tuesday of next week. Wm. Holtry has been sight-seeing in Omaha for the past two weeks. Walter Coker expects to go back to the Pine Ridge agency soon. C. Poulson had the misfortune to drop a piece of iron on one of his feet last week and now wears a slipper. John McKenzie of Madrid was in town Tuesday looking after his business interests. Fred Leach has about completed his work on the O'Fallon school house. Mrs. Shaw of Denver came in Sunday evening and drove to Wallace Monday. Quite a number from this locality will attend the state fair. Collector Jones, of the Deering Co., was registered at the hotel several days last week. A. M. Lock, of North Platte, made his semi-monthly visit to this village Sunday. E. J. Godfrey, who was kicked in the face by one of Ben Dikeman's horses a couple of weeks ago, is rapidly recovering. James Winner, of Elsie, was in town Tuesday. Work on the new drug store is progressing rapidly. C. W. Burkland was a North Platte visitor Monday. Chas. Cockle has the banner field of onions in this locality. S. A. Haultman shipped a car of cattle to South Omaha on Tuesday.

SOMERSET.

School commenced at Somerset on the 6th inst. with Miss Lizzie Rhoades as teacher. Mrs. Margaret McConnell is quite sick. Postmaster Green was at his old home place Monday to get hands to cut corn. George Turner, agent at this place was a Wellfleet visitor Monday. Cecil Tuell, our general merchant, contemplates starting to St. Joe, Mo., on the 22d to visit relatives and also buy a stock of goods. The Free Methodists will begin a camping meeting at the Medicine school house on the 16th, to continue ten days. W. R. Lemmons is helping J. H. Knowles in the shop for a few days. Wm. Smith on Monday was sitting and patting his foot, and upon inquiry it was learned that it was the eighth one and was a boy. It is easy here to know a pop when one is met by the length of his face. Cause: too much money in circulation and too much doubt as to Tim Keliher's politics. Miss Allie Heed returned some days ago from Lincoln, where she visited her sister. She is making her home at present with her sister Mrs. Rhoades of this place. D. E. Jolliff moved back to his father's place Monday and will remain until corn is ready to crib. Joe McMichael is thrashing in his neighborhood this week.

Two Millions a Year.

When people buy, try, and buy again, it means they're satisfied. The people of the United States are now buying Cascarets Candy Cathartic at the rate of two million boxes a year and it will be three million before New Year's. It means merit proved, that Cascarets are the most delightful bowel regulator for every body the year round. All druggists 10c, 25c., 50c. a box, cure guaranteed.

The wife of Black Hawk, an Indian chief of Oklahoma, heard that he was going to cast her off and get a new squaw, and she cut her throat. It was the first suicide of a squaw in the Cheyenne tribe.

STAR POINTER.

Within a year Mr. Bryan has been through three wrecks, one in Kansas, one in Florida and one that was generally distributed over the country.

A trial subscription to the Semi-Weekly State Journal from now until January 1, 1898, only costs twenty-five cents. You can send stamps.

EVENTS IN NEBRASKA.

Forty-five hundred people registered at the Columbus hotels during the month of August.

August Wiegert, a farmer who lived near Beemer, and who was impaled on a pitchfork handle, died in a Norfolk hospital.

The cotton mills are to be reopened at Kearney, and that will be another big red plum in the hat of enterprising little city.

It is said that there are 300,000 sheep now on their way to Shelton to eat Buffalo county hay and corn, and to blab and grow fat.

Prof. Gillespie, who was put out of the state asylum for the deaf and dumb at Omaha will start a private one of the same nature at Ft. Crook.

Tabitha hospital, the only one open to the public in Lincoln for emergency cases, has just suspended business. It couldn't make its two ends meet.

Farmers from one end of the state to the other are filing up their yards with cattle and sheep for winter feeding. The state will roll in riches next year.

Mrs. W. H. Strausbaug, of Kearney, who was injured some weeks since by the caving in of a cellar, and whose baby was killed by the accident, has lost her reason and has been sent to the asylum.

John Peyton, of Covington, lost his wife a few days ago. She packed up her duds and skipped, leaving a note and a vacant chair. A few years ago he was successful in everything. Finally luck was against him. Now that his wife has gone he feels that a change has come.

The Omaha Indians are trying to elect a council. A meeting for that purpose was called last week and the red men insisted on talking all the time, and Agent Mercer adjourned the election until next week. It seems their affiliation with the populist party has made them all orators and they must have a good long time in which to dispose of their surplus wind.

Between three and four thousand land seekers have been brought into Nebraska on the harvest excursions of the Burlington railroad in the last fortnight. These men have found the crops and prices so satisfactory and the cost of the land so reasonable that large numbers of them have decided to cast their lot with Nebraska. They will never have occasion to regret this decision.—Journal.

Miss Louise Pound of Lincoln is an athletic young girl after your own heart. Last week she played a match game of tennis with Miss Craven, who held many championships, and Miss Pound now holds the championship of the west. She held the Nebraska championship in 1891. She also holds several skating and bicycle championships and is a great athlete, who will be able to rule her own household with a rod of iron, when she has to.

The rich men of the United States are the most generous givers in the world. During 1893 they gave for colleges and benevolent purposes a round $29,000,000. During 1894 they increased it to $32,000,000. In 1895 they gave $32,800,000 and notwithstanding the hard times of 1896 the gifts amounted to $27,000,000. The constant whine of the ingratitudes and greediness of millionaires can be best understood by a study of such facts.

The Bryan declaimers declare "money is not plentiful," that there is a "great need of more money." And yet the banks and safety vaults are overfull of money everywhere. What is needed is to give the people confidence in the stability of things and money will be turned loose. Should there grow up a fear of Bryanism and wildcat even in 1900, it will tighten the pursestrings in every quarter of the union.

They are coming home and grumbling because the customs officer taxes their European purchases. Last week three steamships which arrived in New York had 2,000 trunks and valises which had to be overhauled. "One woman had fifty-two neckties." It was a "job" lot from a bargain counter, and she was disgusted with the cost mark stamped on the inside, discovered by the officers, which she had not before seen—it was 3 shilling 6 pence. As she had calculated on making several friends happy with costly European neckties, she was rather shocked at the discovery.
