of his Pills at

Streitz's Drug Store.

ALL REPORT A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER AND WILL PERSEVERE.

JULIUS HOBBS, M. D.

Our fellow townsman, A. F. Streitz, the Druggist, did not expect so soon to get favorable reports from applicants who procured from him free samples of Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills.

The tests made so far by the users of the free samples, show that these remarkable pills produce favorable results with a degree of quickness heretofore unknown in the treatment of Kidney, Bladder and Blood diseases, and allied ailments.

Those who have used them have been encouraged to persevere with the treatment, knowing that they could not expect the three days' treatment contained in the sample box, notwithstanding the remarkable results obtained so far, would effect a complete cure. Kidney disease is of imperceptible and insidious growth; it takes months to develop even the symptoms. Reason and experience suggest that it takes more than a few days to cure. Fortunately Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills begin their good work of cure with the first dose. The results are evident from the beginning. The delightful effects of these pills induce the patient to continue their use until cured. They are easy to take, easy to buy, easy to get, and bountiful in good results.

DIRECTOR PRESTON'S REPORT.

Production and Coinage of Gold and Silver For the Year.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The director of the mint has submitted to the secretary of the treasury his report for the fiscal year 1897. The value of the gold deposited at the mints and assay offices during the fiscal year 1897, of course omitted, was $129,105,500, of this amount $87,003,397 were original deposits and $42,102,103 redeposits.

The coinage value of silver bullion received during the year was $9,725,022; of this amount $9,470,623 were original deposits and the remainder, $254,398, redeposits.

The coin exported during the year was as follows: Gold, $71,646,705; silver dollars, $21,203,701; subsidiary silver, $3,124,086; minor, $984,509. The silver dollars coined were from silver bullion on hand, purchased under the act of July 14, 1890.

The highest quotation for silver, 92½, in the London market during the year was 21½ pence, equal to $0.6901 per ounce fine. United States money; the lowest quotation was 27½ pence, equal to $0.80,357.

The product of gold and silver in the United States for the calendar year 1896 was: Gold, $53,088,000, silver, coinage value, $56,069,235.

The stock of gold and silver in the United States on July 1, 1897, is estimated to have been: Gold, $696,270,542; silver, $634,509,781; total $1,330,780,323.

The world's product of gold and silver for the calendar year 1896 was: Gold, $204,396,000; silver (commercial value), $109,406,800.

The director of the mint, in his report, reviews the decline of silver since 1878, and attributes the decline to the great increase in production.

Review of Last Week's Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The range of wheat during the past week has been rather narrow, 2½ defining the limits. The market has stayed close to the 90 cent mark most of the time. The range was between 89½ and 92, the former figure being touched Tuesday while the high water mark for the week was reached Thursday. Yesterday's closing, 91½ to 91½, was but 11-6 below the figures of a week ago. Important factors during the week have been the breaking of the drought and the extreme weakness of corn on the one hand and enormous export engagements and a considerable falling off in northwest and local receipts on the other. The market during the early part of the week sold off. General rains over the drought infected district brought welcome relief and followed by the government crop report, which intimated a largely increased winter wheat area, provoked quite general selling. Private reports on the winter wheat condition, however, did not agree with the government's. It was claimed by many that the winter wheat crop for 1898 will not be more than two-thirds of the average.

GEO. M. PULLMAN DIES

PALACE CAR MAGNATE PASSES AWAY
VERY SUDDENLY.

Passed Away Within an Hour After He Was First Stricken—Sketch of His Active Career—Founder of Industrial Town of Pullman—Worth $30,000,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—George M. Pullman died suddenly at 5 a. m. of angina pectoris. Mr. Pullman's death occurred in his magnificent brown stone home, at the corner of Prairie avenue and Eighteenth street, where he has resided for many years. The extreme heat of last week, together with perhaps more than his usual exertion in showing some friends about Pullman, had caused him a feeling of debility, about which he spoke to one or two friends. After leaving his office at 3 p. m., he remained at his residence all evening. About 4:30 this morning he awoke and called his body servant to his bedside and spoke of again feeling uncomfortable. Finally he requested that the family physician, Dr. Billings, be sent for. In the meantime, hearing through the servants of Mr. Pullman's indisposition, Rev. Dr. Charles N. Eaton of New York, an intimate friend of the Pullman family, and who was visiting at the sick man's bedchamber. Mr. Pullman rapidly grew worse and a second message was sent to Dr. Billings, but before the doctor could reach the house Mr. Pullman had died. Mrs. Pullman, who was in New York, was immediately telegraphed for and is now on her way to Chicago.

Mr. Pullman's wealth is variously estimated at from $12,000,000 to $30,000,000. His financial interests were confined to a few corporations, the bulk of the holdings being stock in the Pullman Palace Car company, of which he owned about one-fifth. Some stock was also held in Diamond Match and New York Biscuit. These securities were somewhat affected by the news of Mr. Pullman's death, but the declines were quickly recovered.

Sketch of His Career.

George Mortimer Pullman was born in Chautauque county, New York, March 3, 1831. At 14 he began life as a clerk in a country store, later associating himself with an older brother in the cabinet-making business at Albion. He came to Chicago in 1859, and at first engaged in the business of raising buildings, elevating entire blocks a number of feet to bring them up to new street grades. While riding in an old-fashioned sleeping car from Buffalo to Westfield, N. Y., it occurred to him that there was a field for building comfortable sleeping coaches. From 1859 to 1863 he made a series of experiments on the Chicago and Alton and Galena roads. From these experiments he worked out detailed plans. A workshop was rented, skilled mechanics employed and Mr. Pullman threw himself into the task with the ardor of a man who moves from settled convictions. The first car, the Pioneer, was completed in 1865 and immediately took rank as the most perfect railway vehicle the world had ever seen. This was the beginning of the Pullman system, which has grown to the present enormous proportions. Mr. Pullman was identified with almost every public enterprise in Chicago. The industrial town of Pullman, within the city limits of Chicago, now contains 11,000 inhabitants. Mr. Pullman was a brother of the Rev. Dr. J. M. Pullman of New York, former editor of the Christian Leader.

DEATH OF A FAMOUS EDITOR.

Charles A. Dana, One of the Greatest of American Journalists, is Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, died at 1:20 Sunday afternoon at his home in Glencoe. The extreme heat of Saturday and Friday had much to do with hastening his death. Mr. Dana showed signs of distress and every thing possible was done to relieve him. He had been weakened by his long illness, and several times thought to be on the verge of a fatal collapse but rallied. He did not improve much with the cooler weather and the sinking spells became more frequent.

On Friday, Mr. Dana was able to take only the lightest nourishment and this condition continued. Paul Dana and his sisters, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Underhill and Mrs. Brann were at his home on Saturday morning and were warned to remain there. They were at the bedside when death came.

The cause of Mr. Dana's death was cirrhosis of the liver. On June 9, he was at his office apparently strong and healthy. The next day he was taken ill and he never afterward visited New York. He was 78 years old. Preparations for the burial have not yet been completed.

George William Curtis used to say that if there had been no such thing as journalism in existence Charles A. Dana would have created the business of gathering news and selling it and commenting on it in such a manner as to attract attention. Of all the men who have gained fame and fortune by newspaper work, Mr. Curtis believed that Mr. Dana was the best equipped for such enterprise both by native ability and acquired endowments.

Twenty Cents For a Kiss.

At the Cobourg (Ont.) assizes the other day J. F. Hendricks, white haired and 76, was tried by a jury for kissing his niece, Mrs. Effie Pilkey, a school-teacher. She asked her uncle to drive her to her mother's house. The journey was made at midnight. The old man kissed her on the way. She asked for $2,000 damages. The judge said the old man evidently had no improper intentions. An old man had a right to kiss female relatives without having his character suspected. The jury awarded the plaintiff 20 cents.

Hot Fighting in Prospect.

Simla, Oct. 21.—Official advices from Fort Lockhart say that after the fighting on Monday last between the British troops and the insurgent tribesmen from Chagru, on the Samana range, the British force returned to Ahinwari and the tribesmen, greatly reinforced, reoccupied in force the heights west of Chagru. The Third brigade expects to have a lively time in clearing the heights.

Earnest Fight.

"You men are too cold blooded and mercenary," said a young woman with a mission, according to the Indianapolis Journal. "You cannot make an earnest fight for principle as women do." "Ah," replied the man with a gift for epigram, "then I am to infer that it is principle that makes you scap so earnestly at the Largin counter."

ESCAPE OF MISS CISNEROS.

Came Aboard the Regular Steamer at Havana Dressed as a Man.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The escape of Evangelina Cisneros from Havana on the steamer Seneca was one of the most daring feats ever attempted and successfully carried out. While she was still in prison her friends secured a passport for one "Juan Sola" and stateroom No. 3 on the Seneca was held in the same name. This was three days before the boat sailed. On Saturday, when the Seneca was to leave Havana, detectives watched his gangways with extra caution. Their vigilance would probably have prevented the departure of Miss Cisneros from Cuba had it not been for a little refreshment which was served them by friends of Miss Cisneros who were aboard the Seneca. The refreshment included wine. The chief of police of Havana came aboard while the refreshment part of the plot was in progress, and it is alleged that he, too, fell a victim of the wiles of the Cisneros faction.

A few minutes before the Seneca was ready to pull out from the dock a slim young fellow came running across the wharf and walked quickly up the gangplank. The detectives stopped him. "My name is Juan Sola," he said, and he showed his passport. Everything was satisfactory, so the senior was allowed to go aboard. It is said that if it had not been for the wine the strange treble and rather curious figure of Senor Sola might have excited the suspicions of the Spanish detectives. Miss Cisneros' friends, when they disembarked and watched the ship pull slowly out under the frowning Spanish guns, carrying the fugitive to safety under the stars and stripes.

JURISTS PAY RESPECTS TO FIELD.

Members of the Supreme Court Call in a Body on Their Respective Constituents.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—It was announced at the supreme court today that Justice Stephen J. Field of California had notified President McKinley of his intention to retire as a member of the court and had informed his colleagues of this fact. The members of the court, after adjournment, called in a body on the retiring justice to pay their respects. It is expected that his successor will be nominated by the president immediately after the convening of congress in December, and that Attorney General McKenna, also of California, will be named for the office.

Yellow Jack's Record.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—Yellow Jack seems to have made a good start this morning and the total number of deaths since the fever began is now close to 100. However, the number of recoveries continues to be large, and several hundred people who have had the fever are well and considered to be immune.

Lynchers Are Felled.

LIBERTY, Mo., Oct. 21.—A mob of about 100 masked and armed men attempted to enter the county jail here shortly after midnight for the purpose of lynching William Foley and Frank Wade, two murderers held here awaiting trial. The sheriff assembled a few deputies, and with a show of arms compelled the mob to desist from its purpose and disperse. Several shots were fired, but nobody was hit. Foley, who killed his mother and sister, was tried last July, but the jury disagreed.

Blue Earth City, Minn., Oct. 21.

At about 7 o'clock this morning George Young, a farmer residing two miles south of this city, shot and killed his wife, his two boys, aged 2 and 4, and himself. All died instantly, and were found weltering in blood when the hired man, the only other person on the place, came in. Business and domestic trouble form the only explanation for the deed.

NO AGREEMENT YET.

LUETGERT'S FATE NOW RESTS IN THE HANDS OF TWELVE MEN.

Makes a Great Effort to Put on a Bold Front—No Prospect of an Agreement. Put in Another Long Night—One Juror Hangs Out for Acquittal.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Last night Judge Tuthill went home early and the jurors who have Luetgert's fate in their hands spent the third night of their deliberations in sleep, and awoke this morning of the same opinion still.

Most of the jurors slept 12 hours. They lost no time in seeking the coats that had been provided for them after the crowd was sent out of the building at 6 o'clock last evening. The breakfast served this morning was received with less complaint than was heard yesterday morning. But after it had been disposed of there did not seem to be any desire upon the part of the jurors to resume the struggle with the problem of life or death for Adolph Luetgert.

"They stand just as they did all day yesterday," said Bailiff Walcott this morning. "There are no prospects of an agreement at this hour, and I do not believe the jurors will ever agree. They stand eight for conviction and four for acquittal."

Luetgert was astir early again this morning, and as usual, ate a hearty breakfast. The suspense concerning his fate does not affect the appetite of the big sausage maker. He was confident of acquittal this morning and in the best of humor as he exercised in the corridor before his cell. "I will be acquitted, I am sure of it," exclaimed Luetgert, smiling. The next time I am called to the courtroom I will leave it a free man. Yes, sir, the sweetest music I shall ever hear will be that of not guilty. It will be a just verdict, too."

Judge Tuthill called the jury into court at 10:30 a. m. Luetgert was sent for and came into court cool and smiling. Then the jury was brought in. It was apparent at once who had been holding the jury. Judge Tuthill inquired if the jury had any communication to make. Juror Harley was on his feet in a jiffy and began asking questions. He desired instructions on how if it was possible to leave out certain evidence altogether—exclude it entirely and then consider the other evidence and make up a verdict from that. This query excited the laughter of those who were opposed to Harley, and it was noticeable that nine of the jurors laughed. Judge Tuthill said that the question was an improper one for him to answer. Before he left the building, Judge Tuthill intimated that he might return this evening and call the jury before him to ask if there was any indication or possibility of a verdict being reached.

The courtroom of Judge Tuthill is the scene of vandalism that has no parallel in the annals of sensational trials. Certain of the spectators took advantage of the absence of the bailiffs and Clerk Knoch, and seized on every portable article of stationery. Sections of the improvised desks used by the newspaper reporters during the tedious ordeal were even carried off by the marauding crowd. Evidence that the relic hunters would grow desperate and demolish the fixtures a policeman was detailed inside the bar. Visitors to the courtroom were closely watched by the bailiffs and special guard behind the rail of the court's bench. The top of that piece of furniture was as bare as if a hurricane had swept across the room.

Judge Tuthill, in the course of his frequent communications with the courtroom by telephone, inquired after his gavel and inkstand. He said he was particularly anxious to keep both as mementoes for his wife. When he was told that all the small articles were gone he expressed himself in vigorous language.

Gave Back My Health.

There is no reason for being despondent and considering diseases of the blood incurable, simply because the treatment of physicians and many so-called blood remedies fail to effect a cure. Though it is naturally disheartening to the sufferer who faithfully takes the prescribed treatment of the physicians, often at the expense of hundreds of dollars, to find himself no better as time goes by, still a cure will result from the right remedy, S.S.S., no matter what other treatment has failed.

The reason that S.S.S. (Swift's Specific) has so successfully cured even the worst cases after other treatment had been tried in vain is that it is the only remedy which forces the poison from the blood and permanently eliminates it from the system, which is the only correct principle of curing the disease. Mercurial remedies bottle up the poison and tear down the system, while S.S.S. forces out the poison and builds up and adds strength and vigor to the entire system. It is nature's remedy, and contains no harmful ingredient.

Mr. Charles Glenn, of 1565 Dudley St., Cincinnati, is one of the many who constantly praise S.S.S. for giving him back his health. He says: "From childhood I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, and have taken almost every blood remedy on the market, but my case was decapitated, and one by one they failed. The large, red blotches increased in size and number, and soon covered my entire body. My parents had me treated by a number of physicians, but after their treatment no relief was over. I found myself growing steadily worse. Thus I grew into manhood, handicapped by a terrible disease and having tried so many remedies without relief, when a friend urged me to take S.S.S. I had little faith in any medicine. I was happy to find, however, that I had at last got the right remedy, for one bottle of S.S.S. did me so much good that I soon had hopes of being cured. I continued the remedy, and was cured completely, the unsightly spots soon disappeared, leaving my skin perfectly clear. My general health was also built up, and I am robust and strong. I believe S.S.S. will cure the worst case of blood poison in the world."

S.S.S. is a real blood remedy, and will cure the most obstinate cases of Cancer, Eczema, Catarrh, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, old sores, or any disease caused by impure blood.

Purely Vegetable and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain not a particle of mercury, potash, arsenic or other mineral. S.S.S. is sold by all druggists.

Valuable books and on blood and skin diseases will be mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.
