Sunday night along about the hour of twelve a weary willie gained access to the refrigerator in Judge Baldwin's house and proceeded to regale himself with fried chicken and other delicacies. It was evident that his only desire was to appease the pangs of hunger because he made no attempt to explore the house beyond the vicinity of the refrigerator.

PROGRESS AND POVERTY....

Is the name of a great work of a very great recently dead social reformer, only the progress which we refer to is that achieved by the onward and upward strides made by the art of fine tailoring through THE STAR'S BLUE LABEL CLOTHING, which aforesaid efforts have made it possible for men to discard the plea of poverty as a reason for not wearing better clothes, for The Star's clothes, though as good as the best of merchant tailors' productions, cost but little.
