"That fellow"

is a stunning dresser, though I wonder how he can do it on his small salary."

How frequently one hears that remark about town. No doubt, if the truth were known, the person referred to instead of going to a merchant tailor and paying $20, $25 or $30 for his suit of clothes, buys one of The Star's wholesale tailored kind, for which we have made to order and knowing and studying your wants, are perfect in every detail.

These suits are as well made, as well trimmed and in nine cases out ten better fitting than those which the tailor makes to order and charges—well, any price he pleases, or he thinks you will pay.
