The receipts of the local postoffice show an increase over those of preceding years of about $500. The office is slowly but surely climbing toward the grade of second class. As a postoffice is usually a very good criterion by which to judge of the degree of prosperity which the community in which it is enjoying the increase in receipts here this year shows that prosperity is increasing.

Mrs. E. C. Eves, of Buchanan, was in town yesterday proving up on her timber claim and called to subscribe for THE TRIBUNE. Her husband is farming extensively this year, having put in ninety acres of wheat and will plant 160 acres of corn. Wheat in that section is coming on very rapidly.

Hans Westgaard, the western traveling agent of the International Navigation Co. spent yesterday in town interviewing the local agents of the company. He says that they have had no difficulty in obtaining out-bound first and second cabin passengers, in fact for the month of June every berth in both cabins is already reserved on all of their steamers sailing from Philadelphia. He is of the opinion that the cost of a trip to Europe will be but little more expensive now than is usually the case at this time of year but that the beaten line of travel will be crowded with tourists.

Splendid pasture 640 acres under fence, bottom land, high grass, water all year. Price $100.00. First man applies gets the land. M. C. HARRINGTON.

Patrons of the local postoffice can now obtain their stamps put up in little books with a leaf of waxed paper between the leaves of stamps to keep them from adhering to one another. On the cover of the book are printed the foreign and domestic postage rules, money order fees, and rules governing registered letters. The books are of a very convenient size and their cost is only one cent more than the value of the stamps which they contain. So far Postmaster Hill has only received two sizes of books, one containing twelve two cent stamps and which is sold for twenty-five cents and the other containing forty-eight two cent stamps and which is sold for ninety-seven cents.

Death of Robert Arundale.

Robt. Arundale died in Denver Tuesday morning of pneumonia complicated by asthma. He had been ill for two week but when he was first taken sick he thought that it was simply a cold which had aggravated the asthma from which he had suffered for a good many years and did not send any word to his family for several days. He contracted the cold while out collecting during the stormy weather. The remains were brought to North Platte and were buried from the Church of Our Saviour Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Arundale was born in Walton, Yorkshire, England, Oct. 8, 1845. In 1870 he married Miss Self. They had one child, a daughter who is now Mrs. H. Gilfoyle. In 1878 the family moved to the United States and located near Des Moines. From there in 1882 they moved to the vicinity of Lincoln where they resided until 1886 when they moved to the north-eastern part of Lincoln county. They lived there until the daughter was married when they moved to North Platte. A few months ago a very good opening in the shape of a partnership with G. R. Golvin, an old friend of his, in the commission business in Denver appeared and Mr. Arundale took advantage of it. At the time of his death the business was exceedingly prosperous. He was an honest, upright man and although somewhat radical in his opinions they were the result of his conscientious belief. He had scores of friends to whom his death causes much genuine grief.
