The North Platte visitors at Cheyenne last Saturday lost no opportunity to advertise the street fair. In this connection the Daily Tribune of that city says: "A large number of buttons have been distributed around the streets and may be seen on the lapels of many coats bearing the inscription: 'Come to the North Platte Street Fair Sept. 4th to 8th.' The visitors now in the city from North Platte say the fair is to be on a grand scale and without a doubt a large number of Cheyenne visitors will be present."

Sheriff Keliher has succeeded in fathoming the mystery of the daylight robbery at Pizer's about ten days ago. For some time he has thought that a man named Fezler, who has been loafing around town for several days was connected with it and Friday he secured evidence which proved that his theory was correct. When arrested Fezler very readily told the whole story. The goods were stolen by Jas. Slack, a tramp who came in here from the west and resided at the Hotel Keliher twice. Unfortunately for him he was drilled out of town before he was able to dispose of the goods which he had hidden in the coal box in the alley between Longley's drug store and Marti's. Meeting Fezler and another tramp named Carnot he told them where the goods were and agreed to give them half if they would sell the goods, which they did. Carnot was arrested shortly afterwards for insulting some women and is now reposing in the jail. He will be tried on this charge as soon as his present term expires.

Among those who attended the ball game at Cheyenne were Atorneys Muldoon, Ridgley and Davis, Wm. Whitlock, John Keith, Jerry Dwyer, O. A. Bacon, Will Landgraf, Tom O'Neil, Leo Hart, Leo Sullivan Chas. Pass, T. M. Cohagen, R. L. Graves, Chas. Hendy, O. K. Peck, Will Richards, Claude Delaney and Leo Sullivan. They all well performed their duties as "rooters."

While in Cheyenne Saturday the writer met a number of former North Platte residents, among them John Treacy, Jas. and Dick Grace, John McCabe, George Austin, Charley Blood, Charley Martini, and Frank Herrod. The boys seem to be getting along nicely and are thoroughly in love with Cheyenne as a place in which to live. They have promised to visit North Platte during the street fair. We also met Frank Keeshan, the former conductor, who is now day yardmaster for the Union Pacific at that place. The boys showed us the attractions of Cheyenne and after seeing its neat streets and alleys, its fine parks, substantial buildings and well kept lawns, we were not surprised that the boys think it a nice place to live. Our friend Treacy informed us that while he was a democrat he was strongly opposed to free silver and four years ago lost no opportunity to show the silverites the error of their way. John says that the results of the past four years convince him that he was right in his fight and he sees no reason why he should not continue to oppose free silver.
