THE EUREKA STOCK FOOD

The Eureka Stock Food has no superior on the market. All kinds of stock like it. It is compounded on scientific principles from the best, purest and most nutritious ingredients. It is the very essence of stock foods. One-third the quantity accomplishes equal or better results than any other stock food on the market. It helps digestion, makes fat, bone and muscle, prevents diseases and cures them.

For Horses, Colts, Milch Cows or other Cattle, Hogs or Sheep, Eureka Stock Food has no superior. It keeps them in a thriving healthy condition when fed according to directions. Testimonials are coming in daily from parties using it praising its medicinal, nutritious, fattening and curative qualities.

It is the best Stock Food on the market and a faithful test will verify our statement. If your druggist or grocer does not have a supply of Eureka Stock Food on hand, write or wire the manufacturers.

Try it and be convinced, price only 25 cents a package; 5 pounds to one ton lots proportionately cheaper.

Brown's in Town.

"BROWN'S IN TOWN," will be the attraction at Lloyd's opera house next Friday evening, September 7th. It has for its story a theme that is entirely new. It is woven around eleven characters, each one of which has a distinct reason for being there. Abel Preston and his son Dick are not of the same opinion concerning the subject of marriage. Abel contends that a man is infinitely better off in a state of single blessedness while his son demonstrates his position by marrying. This action on the part of Dick means disinheritance and the situations and complications that arise for the older Preston are too farcical for explanation. Brown is an assumed name, and there are no less than three women figuring as Mrs. Brown. These complications arise from a call of the elder Preston upon the scene of the son's honeymoon. Humorous attractions are brought about by the son's anxiety to hide his marriage from his father. Its ingenious construction and witty dialogues, together with the swiftness of its action bring many surprises. The music and songs incidental to the farce are all original and do not mar the action of the play. The company includes such capable people as Chas. Horn, Geo. T. Welch, Emmet Whitney, Geo. Ebner, Jessie Mae Hall, Maude Knowlton, Fanny Midgeley, Edith Weil and others.

A Letter From Chas. Samelson.

Will Rowland is in receipt of a letter from Chas. Samelson, Co. C, Ninth Regiment, written at Tien Tsin, July 23d, ten days after the fight. In speaking of the battle he says: "I thought my time had come sure; not a man had any hope of getting out alive. We were completely hemmed in and retreat was impossible. If you stuck your hat over the trenches it would immediately be pierced full of bullet holes. Many of the boys of the Ninth were killed while peeping over the embankments. Some of the officers said the day reminded them of the Custer massacre and that it would be a repeater of it. The Chinamen, or at least some of them, are as fine sharpshooters as there are in the world, and can pick off a man on the run every time. I saw this occur a number of times during the fight; the man who attempted to run from one cover to another seldom made a success of it. Many deeds of daring were done by men of different nations and two men of my company have been recommended for medals of honor.

The water we drink is from Pei Ho river and is always muddy, and besides there are hundreds of bodies of dead Chinamen floating around in it. The entire country around here smells like a dirty slaughter house, and it is really strange that we do not have more sick men. At inspection yesterday there were twelve men in the company. Our company had three killed and twelve wounded in battle. The climate is hotter than it was in the Philippines and we are quartered in store houses where we get but little fresh air. Our quarters are worse than those of any other nationality.

To-morrow our company takes its turn at guard in the walled city. The city is divided into four sections, one of which is controlled by the United States. It is the section containing the arsenal and mint. The silver is in bricks and an attempt will be made to have it turned into prize money and divided among the boys who were in the fight. Some of our boys helped themselves to the silver bricks when they were hauling it to a safe place, some of them getting as high as six hundred dollars worth. I was sick that day and didn't get a hand in the "pie." The arsenal is a sight to see. There are thousands of guns and millions of rounds of ammunition. There are guns of all sizes and shapes from the kind which were made before Christ came upon earth down to the most modern make. In this arsenal there are guns enough to arm the whole United States, so you see the heathen Chinese is not short on fighting material, and worst of all know how to use it.

At the time Samelson wrote the letter the advance on Pekin was being made ready and he expected a "hot time." Events have since proven that his expectations were, fortunately, not realized.
