Enormous Poultry Business. Two hundred and ninety millions of dollars for poultry, the proceeds of one year, compared with $186,000,000 for hogs for the same time, tells with emphasis the enormous magnitude of the poultry business.

Ancient Fountain in Athens. The Athens correspondent of the London Daily Mail says: "The excavators of the American school have discovered the only fountain mentioned by Pausanias in the Agora. It is absolutely intact. The bronze lions' heads, through which flowed the water are still in their places in the wall."

Cardboard for Cellars. The Norwegians are exporting asphalted cardboard, which can be used for walls and cellars and many other purposes. It is composed of several layers of compressed paper coated with asphalt. It is cheaper than wood, but just as strong and will not rot or crack.

An Irish Bull. Senator Chandler perpetrated an Irish bull during the debate on the naval bill one day recently by asking Senator Tillman to name an officer of the navy "who had never set foot on the ocean," but he struck it out of the record.

Cards of Fashionables. The invitations which have been received in this city for a fashionable wedding which is to be celebrated out of town consist of enough cards to puzzle the average recipient. They even include a card to show to the ticket-chopper at the ferry and one which entitles the holder to transportation on the train which is to be run for the wedding guests.—New York Sun.

Lightning Magnetizes Tools. An extraordinary freak was played by lightning during a heavy thunder storm in Coventry. The lightning struck the chimney stack of a house occupied by a watchmaker and split it to the basement, magnetizing all the tools and watches in the workshop. Every particle of steel received a charge of the electric current. It is thought it may be possible to demagnetize the smaller articles and parts of watches, but the larger tools are so thoroughly impregnated as to be completely spoiled.—Foreign Letter.

Damage by Flood. A Wiesbaden landlord brought an action in the Oberlandesgericht (the Court of Appeals), for damages caused to his property by seas, alleged to have been introduced into the building by the tenant's Newfoundland dog. No less an expert was called by the court than Prof. Teschenberg, of the University of Halle. He said that it was impossible at that late date (the German court had been too long in calling up the case) to determine what kind of a sea had invaded the premises, and therefore it could not be proved that the dog was the cause of the nuisance.

Cummings as an Orator. Amos J. Cummings is the most vehement orator in Congress.—Ben Tillman not excepted—and flies all to slanders before he completes his first sentence. Not even Joe Sibley himself can assume more ungraceful attitudes, and not even the late Dick Bland looked more like a farmer. Cummings writes up his speeches, including those of less than fifty words. If you see him at his desk writing like a race horse, watch him a few minutes, and the first thing you know he will have the floor and be hurling arguments at the other side.—Washington Letter.

Glasgow Exhibition. The guarantee fund for the approaching Glasgow exhibition now amounts to about £500,000. The buildings are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible, the industrial and machinery halls being nearly completed. The material for the big concert hall is all on the ground, and the contractor expects to start almost immediately with the grand avenue and the big bridges over the streets and the Kilwin. The new art galleries are nearing completion, at a cost of £250,000. They will contain pictures, objects of art and other articles showing the progress of art during the century. The women's section is to be a speciality, as it will show what women have done and are doing in all walks of the community. No space will be allotted after the end of this month, so as to allow the council to get everything in order before the opening day.

RHEUMATISM

Is due to an acid poison which gains access to the blood through failure of the proper organs to carry off and keep the system clear of all morbid, effete matter. This poison through the general circulation is deposited in the joints, muscles and nerves, causing the most intense pain. Rheumatism may attack with such suddenness and severity as to make within a few days a healthy, active person helpless and bed-ridden, with distorted limbs and shattered nerves; or it may be slow in developing, with slight wandering pains, just severe enough to make one feel uncomfortable; the tendency in such cases is to grow worse, and finally become chronic.

Like other blood diseases, Rheumatism is often inherited, and exposure to damp or cold, want of proper food, insufficient clothing, or anything calculated to impair the health, will frequently cause it to develop in early life, but more often not until middle age or later. In whatever form, whether acute or chronic, acquired or inherited, and no liniment or other external treatment can reach the trouble. Neither do the preparations of potash and mercury, and the various mineral salts, which the doctors always prescribe, cure Rheumatism, but ruin the digestion and break down the constitution.

A remedy which builds up the general health and at the same time rids the system of the poison is the only safe and certain cure for Rheumatism. S. S. S., made of roots, herbs and barks of wonderful power, attacks the disease in the right way, and in the right place—the blood—and quickly neutralizes the acid and dissolves all poisonous deposits, stimulates and reinforces the overworked, worn-out organs, and clears the system of all unhealthy accumulations. S. S. S. cures permanently and thoroughly, and keeps the blood in a pure, healthy state.

Mr. J. O. Malley, 123 W. 15th Street, Indianapolis, Ind., for eighteen months was so terribly afflicted with Rheumatism he was unable to feed or dress himself. Doctors said his case was hopeless. He had tried fifty-two prescriptions that friends had given him, without the slightest relief. A few bottles of S. S. S. cured him permanently, and he has never had a rheumatic pain since. This was five years ago.

We will send free our special book on Rheumatism, which should be in the hands of every sufferer from this torturing disease. Our physicians have made blood and skin diseases a life study, and will give you any information or advice wanted, so write them fully and freely about your case. We make no charge whatever for this service. Address, SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Cooperative Town in Kansas. The little town of Moorehead, Kan., has a co-operative hotel, laundry, hall, creamery and cannery factory, and a co-operative dining hall, with several co-operative farms near by.

Hill-Climbing Bicycle Competitions. A curious feature of cycling, which seems to be confined practically to the northern midlands of Great Britain, is the hill-climbing competition.

Mexican Cotton Seed Oil. The average annual production of cotton seed oil in Mexico during the last few years has been about 3,300,000 pounds, and the consumption in 1899 was 31,000,000 pounds. The price averaged about 12 cents per pound.

Big Wood Pulp Plant. Senator Proctor, of Vermont, and other American capitalists, have completed arrangements for the construction of a $7,000,000 wood pulp plant at Grand Falls, N. B., which is located in a great timber region.

Immigration Is Large. Immigration to the United States is unusually large at the present time. The figures for every month of the current year show an increase over those for the corresponding periods in any previous year with one or two exceptions. The total immigration for the month of May is given as 56,812, and the figure for the present month is sure to be much larger.

A Remarkable Greenland Paper. Greenland boasts of a monthly journal called "Kalorikmit." It consists of a single sheet of paper printed in three columns in the Esquimo language, and is published at Godthaab, on the west coast of Greenland. The payments for the paper are peculiar. For three months the subscription is two ducks; while a sable skin will pay for the paper for a whole year. Single copies are to be had for one fowl each.

Dog Monument Cost $200. The memory of Caesar, a Great Dane that belonged to Mrs. T. B. M. Cardeza, of Germantown, Pa., but which died recently, is to be kept green by a monument costing $200. Caesar was 9 years old and three feet tall and was a great pet among Cardeza's large collection of animals. The dog was buried in a fine coffin, with real silk lining and silver handles. On the monument, which is now being constructed, will be inscribed the following: "Erected to an old and faithful friend."

War Draws Faddist Audiences. Modern warfare draws large audiences. From all over the world men and women of wealth and leisure flock to the scenes of military operations as they would to a new play or opera. One of General Otis' tasks in the Philippines has been to keep sightseers from coming to Manila. A wall has gone up from South Africa, where the influx of tourists has been so great that it has hampered military operations.

Origin of "Hobson's Choice." "Hobson's choice" has been a by-word for so long that many have forgotten its origin. As the story goes, Tobias Hobson was a carrier and innkeeper at Cambridge, England. He kept a stable of forty good horses, always ready and fit for traveling, but when a man came for a horse he was led into the stable where there was a great choice, but was obliged to take the horse which stood nearest to the stable door, so that every customer was alike well served according to his ability, and every horse ridden with the same justice.

Dreams of Wealth Came True. St. Joseph (Mich.) Cor. Chicago Record: Miss Lulu Anguire of Muskegon, formerly of this city, a few nights ago dreamed she had fallen heir to a large sum of money. She has since received word from relatives in California that an uncle has died, leaving her and her sister $150,000, to be divided equally between them. The uncle was John Marti of San Jose, Cal. Miss Anguire is an orphan, and for the last two years has picked berries here for a living.

Porto Rico Issues Population. Our new island of Porto Rico, according to Mr. Mark W. Harrington, is "the most densely populated rural community proper in America." It has about 220 inhabitants to the square mile. When the Spaniards first occupied it, it was as densely populated as it is now. Before Columbus discovered America two successive races had occupied the island; one seems to have been of northern origin and the other was of Carib stock. Every third part of the land has been cultivated again and again.
