> Thanksgiving Day was fully observed in the city yesterday. The shops and banks were closed all day, and after dinner but few of the business houses were open. Services were held at two of the churches, and a number were sufficiently thoughtful to tender thanks to the Almighty for the many blessings enjoyed. In nearly every household the plamp turkey proved the piece de resistence of the dinner table and good cheer prevailed. Nearly all the counties ant superintendent of the Union Pacific at this point for the past six months, has been transferred to Omaha, and Chas. Ware, who has been acting assistant superintendent at the latter place, succeeds Mr. Keyes.

> This is simply a transfer of the wo officials, and it is understood that the change is made upon the solicitation of Mr. Keyes. The reason assigned for Mr. Keyes desire to return to Omaha is that his wife is an invalid and that be desires to have her in that city in order that she may receive medical attention from her physician; also that Mr. Keyes owns a home there.

The order making this transfer becomes effective tomorrow. During his stay here Mr. Keyes has proven a popular official, and his transfer is regretted by the road men: Mr. Ware is a comparative stranger to North Platte employes, but is said to be a No. 1 railroad
