Cuban Itch at Grand Island.

A special from Grand Island to the Bee dated Dec. 2d says: As a result of a meeting of the physicians of the city in conjunction with the Board of Health the physicians visited the Occidental hotel, a $1-a-day house in this city, and examined the cases of what is commonly termed an itch. The physicians, or rather ten of them, over their signatures reported to the mayor "that we find the patients suffering slightly from a contagious eruptive disease which simulates small-pox in some degree, but in our opinion the symptoms are not characteristic of this disease. At the present time we do not believe it dangerous to life and it is not of so serious a nature as to confine many patients to their rooms. Yet on account of its contagious nature and a possibility of a more serious condition developing in the future we recommend a careful isolation of all cases that may hereafter be discovered. But we do not believe an absolute quarantine necessary." One physician makes a minority report to the effect that the disease is simply the chicken-pox.

A Warm, Dry Year.

The year 1900, eleven months of which have now passed, has been a particularly warm and dry one. The records of the local weather bureau shows that the accumulated excess of temperature since January 1st has been 1,147 degrees, as compared with the average for twenty-seven years past. The precipitation during the eleven months has been very light, the deficiency since January 1st being 4.78 inches as compared with the average for the period above given. Last month the precipitation was but nine one-hundredths of an inch, which with the exception of 1894 and 1884, is the lightest of any November since the establishment of the station in 1874.

The Deadly Corn Stalks.

Cattle in the vicinity of Callaway are reported as dying in great numbers from the effects of eating cornstalks. A ranchman a few miles east of that place hauled two loads of shock fodder to his cattle and in less than an hour twenty-five of them were lying dead in the corral. Paul Syerson, a prosperous farmer living a few miles west of Callaway, lost fourteen head in one day by turning them into a stalk field. Others report losses of from three to seven head from the same cause. A few horses have died. There appears to be nothing that will cure the animals when they are once taken with the disease.

Two Antelope With one Shot.

Ed Brott, of Trognitz precinct, was out hunting antelope the latter part of last week and broke the record in Cheyenne county by killing two antelope with one shot. The two animals were running side by side and the rifle bullet which was 38-calibre, struck the first one in the neck, going clear through and striking its companion in such a way that it cut its throat. Both animals fell within a short distance of each other. If there are any sportsmen in the county that can beat this we would like to hear from them.—Sidney Telegraph.

Mortgage Record.

The mortgage record in the county clerk's office show the following transactions for the month of November:
Farm mortgages filed $3,464.13, satisfied $8,963.11.
City mortgages filed $5,924.15, satisfied $11,738.45.
Chattel mortgages filed $84,695.01, satisfied $13,165.28.
During the month ten of the chattel mortgages filed represented $53,000 and were given to secure money loaned on cattle.

E. A. Calling, a well known resident of Brady, was married last Wednesday to Agnes C. Sholund of Gothenburg, the ceremony taking place in Omaha.

Gus West, of Brady, had his foot badly squeezed last week by getting it caught in a hay press.

BETWEEN THE RIVERS.

The country schools up this way have all resumed after a few days lay-off for Thanksgiving.

J. L. Strickler recently shipped a car load of various articles from Hershey to his new location in Adams county.

A gentleman by the name of Ireland, from Moorefield, was purchasing horses up this way last week when he could get them cheap.

W. L. Brownfield lost a fine work horse the other day from pink-eye.

J. V. Robinson has been erecting new stables for his stock lately.

J. B. Toillion, Jr., is attending to the Nichols creamery during Mr. Gyger's absence.

W. R. Brooks lost a fine brood mare with inflammation of the bowels one day last week.

Steve Albro who has rented the Ferguson farm for the coming year will take possession of the same March 1st.

Al Beckett shelled several hundred bushels of corn for J. B. Toillion, jr., last week.

A new street lamp now adorns the south side of the Hershey depot.

W. T. Wilcox of the county seat, was a Hershey visitor on business last Friday evening.

Mias Jennie Ware returned to North Platte Sunday where she resumed her duties as teacher. Oscar Goodwin left Saturday night for a visit with friends in Grand Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Hollingsworth are rejoicing over the advent of a new daughter at their home at Nichols.

Rev. Evans of Hershey, is having a siege of the grip at this time.

Al. Tift and crew are loading hay from the south side at Nichols.

A. A. Leister is slowly recovering from his recent accident.

Mrs. Emma Ross has returned to her home in Winterset, Iowa, after a short visit with relatives in the valley.

Merchant G. W. Brown of Hershey, ate Thanksgiving dinner with his son Walter and family at Alliance.

The section crews up this way have been reduced to one man in addition to the foreman.

At a special meeting of the Loyal Mystic Legion, held at Hershey last Friday night, fourteen parties were elected to join that order at the next regular meeting, which will make seventeen new members to join at that time.

Everett Ware was initiated into the secrets of the M. W. A. order at Hershey Saturday evening.

Seeberger & Co. have been putting some much needed repairs on their stables at Hershey.

Mrs. E. C. McCord and daughter Mabel went over to Elsie the last of the week with a load of onions.

J. C. Gyger, of the Nichols creamery, and H. E. Lindstrom went to Julesburg Saturday. They will return this week with a herd of cows belonging to Mr. Gyger.

Another change has been made in night operators at Hershey.

Congressman Wm. Neville, who is in high spirits because, by the skin of his teeth, he barely escaped being politically buried by the avalanche of republican votes in the Sixth district, seeks to console his fusion friends by assuring them that next year all the western counties that went republican this year will slide back into the fusion camp, and give them all the county offices, as they have been doing the past ten years. Such truck may have the desired effect upon the drooping spirits of the fusionists for the time being, but if we do not miss our guess, they will learn to their sorrow, after the votes are counted next November, that Neville is no better prophet than was their William Jennings Bryan, whose prophecies helped to augment their defeat in nearly every county and state in the union north of Mason and Dixon's line. The facts are the part of the people who have been fooled so long by professional reformers have regained their senses, and will not soon be caught by any more of their false pretenses.—Custer Co. Republican.

A. L. DAVIS, The Hardware man that no one owes.

While going over a high grade with a traction engine last week near Sargent, Phil Sargent got too near the edge of a canyon, and the earth slipped from under the wheels and sent the engine head first to the bottom. The engineer and conductor jumped off, but the machine was badly wrecked.—Callaway Courier.

The story of the two Omaha people who have discovered that they are heirs to some millions of dollars now tied up in the English royal treasury has a very familiar sound. Indeed, it is so familiar that one may reasonably doubt if they would be able to negotiate a $2 loan on the strength of their expectations.—Chicago Post.

Although the present high value of government bonds is due to the demand for them to be used as security for bank circulation, it is, nevertheless, a circumstance that stirs the pride of American citizens to see their national securities sell far and away above those of any other nation. A 2 per cent United States bond is worth 105 1/2 cents on the dollar, while a British consol that pays 2 1/2 per cent annual interest, may be bought for less than par. The credit of the United States before the world stands so high today that no other nation can be mentioned in the same class.—Kansas City Star.

October's commercial record outshines that of any month in completed calendars, reaching an export total of over $163,000,000. If that rate were kept up for the year it would aggregate pretty nearly $2,000,000,000, and it affords one among many other reasons why Bryan's tale of woe about the calamities of the country, produced so little effect on his hearers.—New York Tribune.

It is reported that the Northern Pacific road will substitute the telephone for the telegraph in the operation of its business. The result of this change will probably be closely watched by other roads.

St. Luke's Military Academy KEARNEY, NEB.

This school has recently been re-organized and placed in charge of Archdeacon Atmore whose scholastic attainments are well and favorably known in many portions of the United States. Here is the opportunity for parents to procure for their children a good, wholesome, sound and all around education.

Terms reasonable. The next term commences January 17th, 1901, and arrangements can be made by which pupils may enter at once, or at any time. For further information address, wants to put out a fire she doesn't heap on oil and wood. She throws on water knowing that water quenches fire. When a woman wants to get well from diseases peculiar to her sex, she should not add fuel to the fire already burning her life away. She should not take worthless drugs and potions composed of harmful narcotics and opiates. They do not check the disease—they do not cure it—they simply add fuel to the fire.

If a Woman

Bradfield's Female Regulator should be taken by every woman or girl who has the slightest suspicion of any of the ailments which afflict women. They will simply be wasting time until they take it. The Regulator is a purifying, strengthening tonic, which gets at the roots of the disease and cures the cause. It does not drug the pain, it eradicates it. It stops falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, inflammation and periodical suffering, irregular, scanty or painful menstruation; and by doing all this drives away the hundred and one aches and pains which drain health and beauty, happiness and good temper from many a woman's life. It is the one remedy above all others which every woman should know about and use.

$1.00 per bottle at any drug store.
