Gentry is Coming.
The society editor will probably overlook the arrival in this city of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, but society itself will not be so careless. True Mr. Snyder does not pretend to be a gentleman, nor can Mrs. S. boast the proud title of lady. Notwithstanding this handicap the couple are very popular in North Platte. They are charming entertainers, graceful dancers, elegant dressers, popular everywhere, and never gossip about their "nabors." Neither was ever known to speak harshly and their nature is at all times manifest. They have both traveled extensively, but never bore one by long drawn out descriptions of the many sights they have seen. The children love them and they love the children. In fact every fond mother wishes her children to spend an afternoon or evening with Mr. and Mrs. Snyder. She knows they will enjoy themselves immensely because this pair are only two of the beautiful little animals among the 300 comprising Gentry Brothers' famous trained animal exhibition which will make this city a visit for one day next Monday. July 1, afternoon and night.

BETWEEN THE RIVERS.

The late annual school meeting at Hershey passed off quietly. D. B. White succeeded himself as director. We understand that they will have eight months school in each of the two rooms the coming year. Miss Annie Schwaiger of North Platte who taught there last season and Miss Bessie Echleman of that place will be the teachers.

James Wilson and J. V. Robinson were elected directors at the late annual school meeting in the Platte valley district.

C. F. Scharmann and wife and Capt. Andrews and daughter were visitors at the Scharmann ranch Wednesday.

Steve Albro, on the Ferguson farm, has three acres of sugar beets which promise a fine yield.

Fall grain is in the milk and maturing rapidly.

W. H. Sullivan has been cutting hay on the Calhoun place this week. Several from this locality will attend the Gentry show at the county seat.

O. H. Eyerly has laid a large acreage of corn by, owing to its large growth. It is fully five feet in height at the present time.

Unless it rains within a few days several farmers will irrigate their small grain lightly as the top of the earth is getting quite dry in many places.

A Miss Jeffers of North Platte has been engaged to teach the school at Nichols for the coming school year.
