is prevented by vaccination before the germ of the disease has entered the system. The success of vaccination depends upon proper dosage. Too large a dose will produce the disease while too small a dose will not render the animal immune. This problem is solved by Parke, Davis & Co. in their new vaccine in pill form which is injected through the skin. No mixing, filtering or time wasted and you don't have to spend a fortune to vaccinate your cattle. P. D. Co. book, "Blackleg and its Treatment," free

A WORLD BEATER.

E. F. Seeberger received a card Wednesday from Dr. Ferrar of the American Beet Sugar Co. stating that a car of sugar beets, grown and shipped by J. F. Carpenter of Hershey had averaged 19.4 per cent sugar and 86.4 per cent purity and that Mr. Carpenter would receive $5.35 per ton for the beets.

This a wonderful test in percentage of both sugar and purity. At the Buffalo exposition the highest percentage of sugar obtained from the many samples submitted was sixteen, and upon this percentage—which came from Nebraska beets—a medal was awarded. The percentage obtained from the Carpenter beets was not from a few selected beets but the average applied to the entire load and is three and four-tenths greater than that for which the Buffalo medal was awarded.

No stronger proof of the adaptability of the soil of the Platte valley in Lincoln county for the successful growing of sugar beets is necessary than the results attained by Mr. Carpenter, who planted twenty-five acres this season and has had excellent success with the entire acreage.

THE PROFIT IN BEETS.

Last spring Saml. Funkhouser of Hershey planted four and one-half acres—actual measurement—of sugar beets. During the season he kept an accurate account of the cost of beet seed, planting, weeding and harvesting the beets, including his own time and a rental cost of three dollars per acre for the land.

On this four and one-half acres he raised seventy-six and one-quarter tons of beets for which he received $342.00 on the cars at Hershey. The actual cost of raising the beets was $109.57, leaving a net profit of $232.43. The cost per acre for raising and harvesting the beets was $23.35 and the net profit per acre was $51.63.

A man, though a fool, can easily see that the farmer in the valley who in the future raises sugar beets is the one who will have a pléthoric bank account.

According to the Washington dispatches, Admiral Schley, at the conclusion of the famous court of inquiry, finds himself a poor man. He has been compelled to expend every cent of his private fortune defending himself against the infamous accusations preferred against him by the naval clique which hoped to drive him from the service in disgrace. A few weeks ago the admiral believed he could leave his family $20,000. Now he finds that he is practically bankrupt. But he does not regret this fact. If the verdict of the court is in his favor, as there is every reason to believe it will be, he will be satisfied.

The Industrial commission has issued a report on railway labor in the United States. It shows that railway employes in this country constitute an army of nearly 1,000,000 people with probably nearly 5,000,000 dependent on the wages paid by railroads. The report says that for years to come the railroads will absorb an increasing number of employes.
