The Tree Blight.

A horticultural expert was sent vestigate the blight which has killed so many fruit trees in the valley.

The gentleman made a careful examination of fruit trees in the vicinity of North Platte and also in the valley and reports that too rapid growth of the trees is the cause of the trouble. He advised that the orchards be seeded down, as this would retard the growth of the trees and that all branches afflicted with the blight should be cut off and removed immediately from the orchard. Again, he recommends that care be taken in the selection of hardier fruit trees as more especially adopted to the climatic condition of this section of Nebraska.
