Nebraska wins out both in corn and wheat this year. The agricultural department at Washington marks her average yield of winter wheat at thirty-two 13.8 bushels. Missouri comes 9.00 p.m. to 12:00 m., 2:00 p.m. to next with 18.2 bushels. Kansas Consultation and Examination Free.

The Semi - Wrekly Tribune, lacked in moisture at the critical season and shows up this year with only 8.7 bushels per acre. In corn, Nebraska will also take the cake, her improvements in condition during the past month amounting to eleven points. Pennsylvania comes next with an improvement of ten points. In spring wheat, Nebraska has fallen back nine points, but her average is better than the average of the last ten years, so she will have more than ordinary yield of that grain. In oats also, though the conditions have been unfavorable during the past month, Nebraska promises to exceed the average yield. In her hay crop probably Nebraska will, exceed all former records .-State Journal.
